Update: The Biden administration on Thursday extended the deadline for federal contractors to comply with the vaccine mandate, a day after this story was initially posted. Contractors now have until Jan. 4, the same deadline that private sector companies have under new requirements from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

This story was updated on Thursday, Nov. 4, 2021 at 9:10 a.m. to reflect the new deadline.

Federal contractors now have two months to comply for their employees to comply with the presidentâ€™s recent executive order requiring COVID-19 vaccines.

So far, government vendors and other stakeholders have reacted to the federal vaccine mandate in a variety of ways.

Insight by Tanium: In this exclusive executive briefing, executives will discuss their approach to building a flexible and dynamic zero trust network.

Some states have sued.

Republicans on the House Oversight and Reform Committee are looking for more information. They wrote to the Defense Department, General Services Administration and Office of Management and Budget on Wednesday seeking a variety of documents that explain the administrationâ€™s decision making process for the mandate.

Government contracts attorneys and professional services organizations say many of their clients are complying with the federal vaccine mandate, or at least theyâ€™re trying to.

All- Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PJR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHAâ€™s points, and weâ€™d rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AAI, and Doolittle). Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow: https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-23643/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-temporary-standard [federalregister.gov]

Probably the best course is to file the PJR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) â€" Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we donâ€™t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better. Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. For contractors, guidance on ever-evolving federal vaccine mandate makes compliance difficult

Update: The Biden administration on Thursday extended the deadline for federal contractors to comply with the vaccine mandate, a day after this story was initially posted. Contractors now have until Jan. 4, the same deadline that private sector companies have under new requirements from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

This story was updated on Thursday, Nov. 4, 2021 at 9:10 a.m. to reflect the new deadline.

Federal contractors now have two months to comply for their employees to comply with the presidentâ€™s recent executive order requiring COVID-19 vaccines.

So far, government vendors and other stakeholders have reacted to the federal vaccine mandate in a variety of ways.

Insight by Tanium: In this exclusive executive briefing, executives will discuss their approach to building a flexible and dynamic zero trust network.

Some states have sued.

Republicans on the House Oversight and Reform Committee are looking for more information. They wrote to the Defense Department, General Services Administration and Office of Management and Budget on Wednesday seeking a variety of documents that explain the administrationâ€™s decision making process for the mandate.

Government contracts attorneys and professional services organizations say many of their clients are complying with the federal vaccine mandate, or at least theyâ€™re trying to.

All- Attached are the final PDFs of the Petition for Review and Exhibit A that we filed this morning. We received electronic confirmation that the filing fee was processed, but it appears that we will not get file-stamped versions until the clerks come into the office this morning. We are working to update the motion to stay and will get you the updated draft asap. Thanks a lot, John

All- Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PJR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHAâ€™s points, and weâ€™d rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AAI, and Doolittle). Thanks, John

Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow: https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-23643/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-temporary-standard [federalregister.gov]

Probably the best course is to file the PJR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) â€" Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we donâ€™t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better. Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, "Iowa," could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a â€œstate-plan Stateâ€? Subject: RE Deadline Extension

For contractors, guidance on ever-evolving federal vaccine mandate makes compliance difficult

8 min read

Update: The Biden administration on Thursday extended the deadline for federal contractors to comply with the vaccine mandate, a day after this story was initially posted. Contractors now have until Jan. 4, the same deadline that private sector companies have under new requirements from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

This story was updated on Thursday, Nov. 4, 2021 at 9:10 a.m. to reflect the new deadline.

Federal contractors now have two months to comply for their employees to comply with the presidentâ€™s recent executive order requiring COVID-19 vaccines.

So far, government vendors and other stakeholders have reacted to the federal vaccine mandate in a variety of ways.

Insight by Tanium: In this exclusive executive briefing, executives will discuss their approach to building a flexible and dynamic zero trust network.

Some states have sued.

Republicans on the House Oversight and Reform Committee are looking for more information. They wrote to the Defense Department, General Services Administration and Office of Management and Budget on Wednesday seeking a variety of documents that explain the administrationâ€™s decision making process for the mandate.

Government contracts attorneys and professional services organizations say many of their clients are complying with the federal vaccine mandate, or at least theyâ€™re trying to.

All- Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PJR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHAâ€™s points, and weâ€™d rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AAI, and Doolittle). Thanks, John

Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow: https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-23643/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-temporary-standard [federalregister.gov]

Probably the best course is to file the PJR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) â€" Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we donâ€™t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better. Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. Subject: RE Deadline Extension

8 min read

Update: The Biden administration on Thursday extended the deadline for federal contractors to comply with the vaccine mandate, a day after this story was initially posted. Contractors now have until Jan. 4, the same deadline that private sector companies have under new requirements from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

This story was updated on Thursday, Nov. 4, 2021 at 9:10 a.m. to reflect the new deadline.

Federal contractors now have two months to comply for their employees to comply with the presidentâ€™s recent executive order requiring COVID-19 vaccines.

So far, government vendors and other stakeholders have reacted to the federal vaccine mandate in a variety of ways.

Insight by Tanium: In this exclusive executive briefing, executives will discuss their approach to building a flexible and dynamic zero trust network.

Some states have sued.

Republicans on the House Oversight and Reform Committee are looking for more information. They wrote to the Defense Department, General Services Administration and Office of Management and Budget on Wednesday seeking a variety of documents that explain the administrationâ€™s decision making process for the mandate.

Government contracts attorneys and professional services organizations say many of their clients are complying with the federal vaccine mandate, or at least theyâ€™re trying to.

These rumors may or may not be accurate, but we would like to be prepared to file the Petition for Review immediately after the ETS is published, and follow up with the stay motion within one business day. Attached are updated circulation drafts of the Petition for Review and Stay Motion. I think I have received confirmation of joining from all potentially interested States except South Dakota. If you have joined but I am still missing your signature block (Arizona, Montana, Arkansas, Iowa, Alaska), please send it asap this morning so that we can be poised to file the Petition right away if necessary. Also, if you are still working on state or employer declarations, please work on finalizing them promptly, as we expect a one-day turnaround between the ETSâ€™s publication and filing the stay motion. By joining, you are designating me and the Missouri AGO to jointly represent your State for the sole purpose of this case in the Eighth Circuit (and SCOTUS, if necessary). This will avoid the need to file multiple briefs for each co-petitioner. Thanks a lot for your support in this project! The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we donâ€™t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better. Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, Iowa, could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a â€œstate-plan Stateâ€? Subject: RE: 301.12 - Health - Trauma Care - Emergency Health - General Counsel

Good Morning!

I spoke with Chris Price this morning regarding this bill. If this passes, this bill would meet the requirements of the EMS Compact.

The next step would be getting it assigned by Legislative Council – it looks like it would be assigned as NDCC 12-60-24(2)(fff). Once assigned, I forward the statute to the FBI for their review. The FBI will let me know whether or not they approve the Department of Health to run the federal record checks. We may not hear whether it's approved for several months since the FBI has a large backlog.

If approved, I will reach out to Chris and we can begin the record check process. Until we receive that approval, BCI will not be able to do a federal record check for this purpose.

Chris guesstimated that it would entail about 200-300 record checks per year. BCI will be able to handle the extra record checks with their current staff.

If I can answer any other questions, please let me know.

Do not click links or open attachments unless you know they are safe.  Rep Porter- Attached is the legislation, drafted by AAG Allyson Hicks, that we discussed. It is needed for the Department of Health to conduct FBI compliant background checks on applicants seeking initial EMS licensure. The background checks are necessary for us to remain in the EMS Compact after September of 2022, therefore waiting until next session isn't ideal. Thanks for your help with this. Let me know if you have any questions. Also, I cc'd Chris Price on this email as he should be able to answer any questions I cannot. Thanks again, R. Can you please ask your ND AG contacts to check with their liaison and, if they would like, to please email my contact in Texas (Rachel.Obaldo@oag.texas.gov) and she can send them the email and letter so that they can pass it along to be sure that it is reviewed and considered by Attorney General Stenehjem? Attorney General,

You may have already received notice of this, but below is an e-mail we received from Jim Lodoen requesting your support for pending federal bankruptcy venue reform bills H.R. 4193 and S. 2827. Jim is the Special AG who has been assisting the state with various bankruptcy cases (namely, Whiting Petroleum). If you recall from the September Special Land Board meeting, Jim pointed out the fact that certain federal bankruptcy courts have been seeing a disproportionate volume of cases due to the reputation of those courts for being debtor-friendly. Jim asked that I forward you the below e-mail and recently indicated that today may be the deadline to sign on. I have not had the opportunity to review the bills myself, but would be happy to answer any questions that I can.

Thank You,

On Thursday, the ND Delegation introduced our Federal Bill – NORTH DAKOTA TRUST LANDS COMPLETION ACT – which will authorize the State of North Dakota to relinquish state-owned lands and minerals contained within Tribal Reservations and the Little Missouri National Grasslands to the U.S. Department of the Interior and, in exchange, receive federal land and minerals of equal value within North Dakota.

The below news release was sent out yesterday morning.

I will place this as an agenda item on the next Land Board Agenda.

ND DELEGATION INTRODUCES LEGISLATION TO IMPROVE ACCESS TO STATE-OWNED MINERALS, GENERATE REVENUE FOR STATE
Legislation Would Also Complete Tribal & Federal Ownership of Lands & Minerals within Reservations & National Grasslands

WASHINGTON – Senators John Hoeven and Kevin Cramer and Congressman Kelly Armstrong this week introduced the North Dakota Trust Lands Completion Act, bicameral legislation to authorize the State of North Dakota to relinquish state-owned lands and minerals contained within Tribal Reservations and the Little Missouri National Grasslands to the U.S. Department of the Interior and, in exchange, receive federal land and

Body	minerals of equal value within North Dakota. Currently, North Dakota holds more than 130,000 acres of minerals and over 31,000 surface acres within Tribal Reservations alone, which are largely unavailable for development. At the same time, existing federal laws do not adequately allow for the state and federal government to exchange land and minerals. This leaves surface and mineral rights within the National Grasslands and Tribal Reservations fragmented, while limiting the state's ability to generate revenue from the land and minerals it owns. The North Dakota Lands Trust Completion Act would resolve this issue by allowing equal value transactions between North Dakota and the Interior Department to exchange land and mineral rights, thereby: • Enabling North Dakota to access the lands and minerals that were promised upon statehood to fund education and other public purposes. • Providing tribes greater ownership over the lands within their reservation boundaries. • Helping ensure future conservation of the National Grasslands. "Federal, state and tribal land and mineral rights have long been intermixed. This has created duplicative layers of regulation, prevented North Dakota from developing the energy resources it owns and limited the state's ability to generate revenue for education and other purposes," said Senator Hoeven. "Our legislation helps ensure North Dakota can access the full land and mineral rights it was promised, while restoring tribal ownership over lands and minerals within reservations and enhancing conservation efforts on the National Grasslands." "The federal government's ownership of small tracts of land and minerals throughout North Dakota makes our energy development challenging. We are changing this with our bill, which authorizes land transfers and therefore eliminates unnecessary levels of regulation," said Senator Cramer. "Our legislation ensures North Dakota can better access our natural resources, helps industry permitting efficiency, and increases revenues to the state and its education trust funds, while restoring tribal ownership and conservation of lands we have no intent to develop." "The comingling of federal, state, and tribal lands has long prevented North Dakota's resources from being fully utilized," said Congressman Armstrong. "Our bill will give the state of North Dakota and the tribes more control over lands within their jurisdiction, which will reduce the amount of duplicative regulations and benefit people across our state." "The North Dakota Board of University and School Lands is grateful to the North Dakota delegation for their support of our effort to pass an act that will authorize the State of North Dakota to relinquish land grant parcels located within the reservations and the Little Missouri National Grasslands and to select other Federal land or minerals in lieu of those parcels the State of North Dakota attained at statehood. This effort will provide the Tribes greater Tribal sovereignty and control of land and minerals within the reservations. Additionally, this act will provide for greater conservation and preservation of the Little Missouri National Grasslands. This effort is a win-win solution for the State of North Dakota, the Tribes, and conservationist groups," said Jodi Smith, North Dakota Department of Trust Lands Commissioner. "We were glad to help shape how the draft bill would restore some Reservation land previously taken from us," said Mark Fox, Chairman of the Mandan, Hidatsa, and Arikara Nation. "We support its introduction and look forward to working closely with our congressional delegation and the Congress to ensure the preservation of our treaty rights to land and minerals on the Fort Berthold Indian Reservation." Valuations conducted under this legislation would be determined by Uniform Appraisal Standards for Federal Land Acquisitions and the Uniform Standards for Professional Appraisal Practice. Valid existing rights will be respected in these transactions and there will be no impact on any Indian treaty rights. The full text and a summary of the legislation can be found here and here, respectively. A statement in support of the legislation from Spirit Lake Chairman Douglas Yankton can be found here. -###-

Body	Thanks for sending this. With the special session of the legislature convening, I will have some time crunch of my own to contend with. I have a hearing on a budget request at 8:30, and hope I will be done by the 9 am convening of the meeting. I'll know more this morning. Steve, the Billings County Commissioners moved their regularly scheduled meeting to a special meeting to consider some important issues concerning our residents. However, the new meeting times conflict with Pardon Board meeting. I have spoken to the Commissioners and they are willing to back-load the discussions where it is imperative I attend. I will attend Pardon Board and will interview witnesses assigned to me, but I would appreciate it if we could visit Monday about the matter. A $100,000 Powerball with Power Play ticket for Saturday night's draw won by matching four white balls and the Powerball. The winning numbers were 8, 30, 48, 57, 64 and the Powerball was 9. The Power Play multiplier was 2. The lucky ticket was sold at Cash Wise Fuel, 4907 Timber Parkway South, in Fargo. All,

Shalyn in Colorado provided me the draft (attached). As I updated her, the request in the letter was achieved an hour ago when the Senate Judiciary Committee voted the nomination favorably to the floor. All but three members of the committee (Sens. Lee, Hawley, Blackburn) voted in favor of her nomination.

Thank you so much for the update Ryan! AG Weiser would still like to send a letter – a tweak of the current version – encouraging a quick floor vote. I am in process of updating the letter and will recirculate soon.

All,

Shalyn in Colorado provided me the draft (attached). As I updated her, the request in the letter was achieved an hour ago when the Senate Judiciary Committee voted the nomination favorably to the floor. All but three members of the committee (Sens. Lee, Hawley, Blackburn) voted in favor of her nomination.

PNC Bank has reached out to BND to gauge our interest in participating in a revolving line of credit to NACC. BND has not previously participated in this deal however due to an exit by a prior lender due to the nature of the borrower's industries (coal), BND has been approached to participate. BND has been requested to be a direct signer on the credit agreement rather than a participant in PNC's share. The proposed terms are as follows: 1. $150,000,000 revolving line of credit (RLOC) 1. 4 year term (pretty standard for this type of facility) 2. PNC will hold $55,000,000 3. KeyBank $40,000,000 4. PNC Bank has reached out to BND to gauge our interest in participating in a revolving line of credit to NACC. BND has not previously participated in this deal however due to an exit by a prior lender due to the nature of the borrower's industries (coal), BND has been approached to participate. He was charged yesterday with Criminal Vehicular Homicide and Reckless Driving after an accident on Saturday that killed a woman and her 7-year-old daughter. Mr. Bearce is alleged to have been drinking and driving. Apparently there is a staff member in the Williams County SAO that is related to the defendant and the victim was a social worker with Williams County. The Highway Patrol is investigating the accident so our case should be in good hands. Just wanted to keep you in the loop. *Britta K. Body	Glad we're stepping up on this case. Terrible incident. Wayne From: Demello Rice, Britta K. <bkdemellorice@nd.gov> Sent: Tuesday, November 9, 2021 4:04 PM To: Stenehjem, Wayne K. <wstenehjem@nd.gov>; Seibel, Troy T. <tseibel@nd.gov> Subject: FYI - new case Boss, Upon request of the William's County State's Attorney, we agreed to take over the prosecution of Mark Bearce today. He was charged yesterday with Criminal Vehicular Homicide and Reckless Driving after an accident on Saturday that killed a woman and her 7-year-old daughter. Mr. Bearce is alleged to have been drinking and driving. Apparently there is a staff member in the Williams County SAO that is related to the defendant and the victim was a social worker with Williams County. The Highway Patrol is investigating the accident so our case should be in good hands. Just wanted to keep you in the loop. Britta K. Demello Rice Assistant Attorney General Criminal & Regulatory Division 600 E Boulevard Ave, Dept 125 Bismarck, ND 58505 701-328-2210

The Fifth Circuit has extended its stay of the OSHA mandate in a 22-page opinion, see attached. This should give a lot of support for our reply brief due Monday.

Subject: RE: ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT - CONFIDENTIAL - Draft Eighth Circuit Challenge to OSHA Vaccine Mandate

All-

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength â€œcombinedâ€ response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2600 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all â€" I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John
P.S. â€œOSH Actâ€ is short for â€œOccupational Safety and Health Act,â€ but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHAâ€™s brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitionersâ€™ reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuitâ€™s order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitionersâ€™ stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT â€" PRIVILEGED â€" CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel-

We have heard rumors that the OSHA ETS mandating vaccines for employers with 100+ employees may be published today. These rumors may or may not be accurate, but we would like to be prepared to file the Petition for Review immediately after the ETS is published, and follow up with the stay motion within one business day. Attached are updated circulation drafts of the Petition for Review and Stay Motion. I think I have received confirmation of joining from all potentially interested States except South Dakota. If you have joined but I am still missing your signature block (Arizona, Montana, Arkansas, Iowa, Alaska), please send it asap this morning so that we can be poised to file the Petition right away if necessary. Also, if you are still working on state or employer declarations, please work on finalizing them promptly, as we expect a one-day turnaround between the ETSâ€™s publication and filing the stay motion.

By joining, you are designating me and the Missouri AGO to jointly represent your State for the sole purpose of this case in the Eighth Circuit (and SCOTUS, if necessary). This will avoid the need to file multiple briefs for each co-petitioner.

Thanks a lot for your support in this project!

Thanks, John Sauer

PRIVILEGED â€" ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT â€" JOINT DEFENSE PRIVILEGE â€" CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel-

As I have discussed with many of you, Missouri, Arizona, Montana, and Nebraska are planning to file a legal challenge in the Eighth Circuit to OSHAâ€™s anticipated vaccine mandate for employers with 100 or more employees. The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we donâ€™t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better.

Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, "Iowa," could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a â€œstate-plan Stateâ€?

Thanks a lot,
John Sauer

Thanks to all â€“ I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John
P.S. â€œOSH Actâ€ is short for â€œOccupational Safety and Health Act,â€ but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHAâ€™s brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitionersâ€™ reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuitâ€™s order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitionersâ€™ stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

Good with us too. One additional typo: on first line of the argument section on page 2, granted should be grant.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

Dear Counsel-

We have heard rumors that the OSHA ETS mandating vaccines for employers with 100+ employees may be published today. These rumors may or may not be accurate, but we would like to be prepared to file the Petition for Review immediately after the ETS is published, and follow up with the stay motion within one business day. Attached are updated circulation drafts of the Petition for Review and Stay Motion. I think I have received confirmation of joining from all potentially interested States except South Dakota. If you have joined but I am still missing your signature block (Arizona, Montana, Arkansas, Iowa, Alaska), please send it asap this morning so that we can be poised to file the Petition right away if necessary. Also, if you are still working on state or employer declarations, please work on finalizing them promptly, as we expect a one-day turnaround between the ETSâ€™s publication and filing the stay motion.

By joining, you are designating me and the Missouri AGO to jointly represent your State for the sole purpose of this case in the Eighth Circuit (and SCOTUS, if necessary). This will avoid the need to file multiple briefs for each co-petitioner.

Thanks a lot for your support in this project!

Thanks, John Sauer

PRIVILEGED â€" ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT â€" JOINT DEFENSE PRIVILEGE â€" CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel-

As I have discussed with many of you, Missouri, Arizona, Montana, and Nebraska are planning to file a legal challenge in the Eighth Circuit to OSHAâ€™s anticipated vaccine mandate for employers with 100 or more employees. The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we donâ€™t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better.

Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, "Iowa," could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a â€œstate-plan Stateâ€?

Thanks a lot,
John Sauer

All-

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength â€œcombinedâ€ response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2600 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all â€“ I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John P.S. â€œOSH Actâ€ is short for â€œOccupational Safety and Health Act,â€ but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHAâ€™s brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitionersâ€™ reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuitâ€™s order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitionersâ€™ stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

Good with us too. One additional typo: on first line of the argument section on page 2, granted should be grant.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

Dear Counsel-

We have heard rumors that the OSHA ETS mandating vaccines for employers with 100+ employees may be published today. These rumors may or may not be accurate, but we would like to be prepared to file the Petition for Review immediately after the ETS is published, and follow up with the stay motion within one business day. Attached are updated circulation drafts of the Petition for Review and Stay Motion. I think I have received confirmation of joining from all potentially interested States except South Dakota. If you have joined but I am still missing your signature block (Arizona, Montana, Arkansas, Iowa, Alaska), please send it asap this morning so that we can be poised to file the Petition right away if necessary. Also, if you are still working on state or employer declarations, please work on finalizing them promptly, as we expect a one-day turnaround between the ETSâ€™s publication and filing the stay motion.

By joining, you are designating me and the Missouri AGO to jointly represent your State for the sole purpose of this case in the Eighth Circuit (and SCOTUS, if necessary). This will avoid the need to file multiple briefs for each co-petitioner.

Thanks a lot for your support in this project!

Thanks, John Sauer

PRIVILEGED â€" ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT â€" JOINT DEFENSE PRIVILEGE â€" CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel-

As I have discussed with many of you, Missouri, Arizona, Montana, and Nebraska are planning to file a legal challenge in the Eighth Circuit to OSHAâ€™s anticipated vaccine mandate for employers with 100 or more employees. The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we donâ€™t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better.

Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, "Iowa," could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a â€œstate-plan Stateâ€?

Thanks a lot,
John Sauer

All-

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength â€œcombinedâ€ response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2600 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all â€“ I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John P.S. â€œOSH Actâ€ is short for â€œOccupational Safety and Health Act,â€ but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHAâ€™s brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitionersâ€™ reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuitâ€™s order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitionersâ€™ stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

Good with us too. One additional typo: on first line of the argument section on page 2, granted should be grant.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

Dear Counsel-

We have heard rumors that the OSHA ETS mandating vaccines for employers with 100+ employees may be published today. These rumors may or may not be accurate, but we would like to be prepared to file the Petition for Review immediately after the ETS is published, and follow up with the stay motion within one business day. Attached are updated circulation drafts of the Petition for Review and Stay Motion. I think I have received confirmation of joining from all potentially interested States except South Dakota. If you have joined but I am still missing your signature block (Arizona, Montana, Arkansas, Iowa, Alaska), please send it asap this morning so that we can be poised to file the Petition right away if necessary. Also, if you are still working on state or employer declarations, please work on finalizing them promptly, as we expect a one-day turnaround between the ETSâ€™s publication and filing the stay motion.

By joining, you are designating me and the Missouri AGO to jointly represent your State for the sole purpose of this case in the Eighth Circuit (and SCOTUS, if necessary). This will avoid the need to file multiple briefs for each co-petitioner.

Thanks a lot for your support in this project!

Thanks, John Sauer

PRIVILEGED â€" ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT â€" JOINT DEFENSE PRIVILEGE â€" CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel-

As I have discussed with many of you, Missouri, Arizona, Montana, and Nebraska are planning to file a legal challenge in the Eighth Circuit to OSHAâ€™s anticipated vaccine mandate for employers with 100 or more employees. The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we donâ€™t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better.

Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, "Iowa," could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a â€œstate-plan Stateâ€?

Thanks a lot,
John Sauer

All-

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength â€œcombinedâ€ response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2600 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all â€" I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John
P.S. â€œOSH Actâ€ is short for â€œOccupational Safety and Health Act,â€ but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHAâ€™s brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitionersâ€™ reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuitâ€™s order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitionersâ€™ stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

Good with us too. One additional typo: on first line of the argument section on page 2, granted should be grant.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHAâ€™s points, and weâ€™d rather take the extra business day to get it right. ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT â€" PRIVILEGED â€" CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel-

We have heard rumors that the OSHA ETS mandating vaccines for employers with 100+ employees may be published today. These rumors may or may not be accurate, but we would like to be prepared to file the Petition for Review immediately after the ETS is published, and follow up with the stay motion within one business day. Attached are updated circulation drafts of the Petition for Review and Stay Motion. I think I have received confirmation of joining from all potentially interested States except South Dakota. If you have joined but I am still missing your signature block (Arizona, Montana, Arkansas, Iowa, Alaska), please send it asap this morning so that we can be poised to file the Petition right away if necessary. Also, if you are still working on state or employer declarations, please work on finalizing them promptly, as we expect a one-day turnaround between the ETSâ€™s publication and filing the stay motion.

By joining, you are designating me and the Missouri AGO to jointly represent your State for the sole purpose of this case in the Eighth Circuit (and SCOTUS, if necessary). This will avoid the need to file multiple briefs for each co-petitioner.

Thanks a lot for your support in this project!

Thanks, John Sauer

PRIVILEGED â€" ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT â€" JOINT DEFENSE PRIVILEGE â€" CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel-

As I have discussed with many of you, Missouri, Arizona, Montana, and Nebraska are planning to file a legal challenge in the Eighth Circuit to OSHAâ€™s anticipated vaccine mandate for employers with 100 or more employees. The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we donâ€™t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better.

Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, "Iowa," could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a â€œstate-plan Stateâ€?

Thanks a lot,
John Sauer

All-

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength â€œcombinedâ€ response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2600 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all â€" I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John
P.S. â€œOSH Actâ€ is short for â€œOccupational Safety and Health Act,â€ but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHAâ€™s brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitionersâ€™ reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuitâ€™s order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitionersâ€™ stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

Good with us too. One additional typo: on first line of the argument section on page 2, granted should be grant.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

All- Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PJR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHAâ€™s points, and weâ€™d rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AAI, and Doolittle). Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow: https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-23643/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-temporary-standard [federalregister.gov]

Probably the best course is to file the PJR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) â€" Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

All-

We are anticipating that the OSHA mandate will be announced this morning at 7:45 am Central. We would like to file the Petition for Judicial Review as soon as possible after it is announced. Attached is the near-final Petition for Judicial Review, which is virtually the same as the one I circulated last week, with minor formatting changes. There are still highlighted blanks for the Fed. Reg. cites, but otherwise it should be final. I understand that Missouri still has full authority from each of you to file this in the Eighth Circuit on your behalf, and we will pull the trigger as soon as we can. If anyone has last-minute changes or objections, please let me know before 7:30 am Central.

Once we have the mandate, we will also plan to update the stay motion and circulate it for review as soon as possible as well. I would like to have it on file by tomorrow morning if possible.

Thanks a lot for your support in this important project!!

ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT â€" PRIVILEGED â€" CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel-

We have heard rumors that the OSHA ETS mandating vaccines for employers with 100+ employees may be published today. These rumors may or may not be accurate, but we would like to be prepared to file the Petition for Review immediately after the ETS is published, and follow up with the stay motion within one business day. Attached are updated circulation drafts of the Petition for Review and Stay Motion. I think I have received confirmation of joining from all potentially interested States except South Dakota. If you have joined but I am still missing your signature block (Arizona, Montana, Arkansas, Iowa, Alaska), please send it asap this morning so that we can be poised to file the Petition right away if necessary. Also, if you are still working on state or employer declarations, please work on finalizing them promptly, as we expect a one-day turnaround between the ETSâ€™s publication and filing the stay motion.

By joining, you are designating me and the Missouri AGO to jointly represent your State for the sole purpose of this case in the Eighth Circuit (and SCOTUS, if necessary). This will avoid the need to file multiple briefs for each co-petitioner.

Thanks a lot for your support in this project!

Thanks, John Sauer

PRIVILEGED â€" ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT â€" JOINT DEFENSE PRIVILEGE â€" CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel-

As I have discussed with many of you, Missouri, Arizona, Montana, and Nebraska are planning to file a legal challenge in the Eighth Circuit to OSHAâ€™s anticipated vaccine mandate for employers with 100 or more employees. The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we donâ€™t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better.

Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, "Iowa," could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a â€œstate-plan Stateâ€?

Thanks a lot,
John Sauer

All-

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength â€œcombinedâ€ response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2600 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all â€" I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John
P.S. â€œOSH Actâ€ is short for â€œOccupational Safety and Health Act,â€ but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHAâ€™s brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitionersâ€™ reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuitâ€™s order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitionersâ€™ stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

Good with us too. One additional typo: on first line of the argument section on page 2, granted should be grant.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

All- As you may have seen, the Fifth Circuit granted a temporary stay and ordered expedited briefing on the Texas Policy Foundationâ€™s stay motion this afternoon. In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

All- Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PJR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHAâ€™s points, and weâ€™d rather take the extra

Dear Counsel-

We have heard rumors that the OSHA ETS mandating vaccines for employers with 100+ employees may be published today. These rumors may or may not be accurate, but we would like to be prepared to file the Petition for Review immediately after the ETS is published, and follow up with the stay motion within one business day. Attached are updated circulation drafts of the Petition for Review and Stay Motion. I think I have received confirmation of joining from all potentially interested States except South Dakota. If you have joined but I am still missing your signature block (Arizona, Montana, Arkansas, Iowa, Alaska), please send it asap this morning so that we can be poised to file the Petition right away if necessary. Also, if you are still working on state or employer declarations, please work on finalizing them promptly, as we expect a one-day turnaround between the ETSâ€™s publication and filing the stay motion.

By joining, you are designating me and the Missouri AGO to jointly represent your State for the sole purpose of this case in the Eighth Circuit (and SCOTUS, if necessary). This will avoid the need to file multiple briefs for each co-petitioner.

Thanks a lot for your support in this project!

Thanks, John Sauer

PRIVILEGED â€" ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT â€" JOINT DEFENSE PRIVILEGE â€" CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel-

As I have discussed with many of you, Missouri, Arizona, Montana, and Nebraska are planning to file a legal challenge in the Eighth Circuit to OSHAâ€™s anticipated vaccine mandate for employers with 100 or more employees. The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we donâ€™t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better.

Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, Iowa, could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a â€œstate-plan Stateâ€?

Thanks a lot,
John Sauer

All-

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength â€œcombinedâ€ response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2600 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all â€" I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John P.S. â€œOSH Actâ€ is short for â€œOccupational Safety and Health Act,â€ but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHAâ€™s brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitionersâ€™ reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuitâ€™s order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitionersâ€™ stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

All- As you may have seen, the Fifth Circuit granted a temporary stay and ordered expedited briefing on the Texas Policy Foundationâ€™s stay motion this afternoon. In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

Probably the best course is to file the PJR tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) â€" Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

All-

We are anticipating that the OSHA mandate will be announced this morning at 7:45 am Central. We would like to file the Petition for Judicial Review as soon as possible after it is announced. Attached is the near-final Petition for Judicial Review, which is virtually the same as the one I circulated last week, with minor formatting changes. There are still highlighted blanks for the Fed. Reg. cites, but otherwise it should be final. I understand that Missouri still has full authority from each of you to file this in the Eighth Circuit on your behalf, and we will pull the trigger as soon as we can. If anyone has last-minute changes or objections, please let me know before 7:30 am Central.

Once we have the mandate, we will also plan to update the stay motion and circulate it for review as soon as possible as well. I would like to have it on file by tomorrow morning if possible.

Thanks a lot for your support in this important project!!

Thanks a lot, John

ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT â€" PRIVILEGED â€" CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel-

We have heard rumors that the OSHA ETS mandating vaccines for employers with 100+ employees may be published today. These rumors may or may not be accurate, but we would like to be prepared to file the Petition for Review immediately after the ETS is published, and follow up with the stay motion within one business day. Attached are updated circulation drafts of the Petition for Review and Stay Motion. I think I have received confirmation of joining from all potentially interested States except South Dakota. If you have joined but I am still missing your signature block (Arizona, Montana, Arkansas, Iowa, Alaska), please send it asap this morning so that we can be poised to file the Petition right away if necessary. Also, if you are still working on state or employer declarations, please work on finalizing them promptly, as we expect a one-day turnaround between the ETSâ€™s publication and filing the stay motion.

By joining, you are designating me and the Missouri AGO to jointly represent your State for the sole purpose of this case in the Eighth Circuit (and SCOTUS, if necessary). This will avoid the need to file multiple briefs for each co-petitioner.

Thanks a lot for your support in this project!

Thanks, John Sauer

Subject: ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT - CONFIDENTIAL - Draft Eighth Circuit Challenge to OSHA Vaccine Mandate

PRIVILEGED â€" ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT â€" JOINT DEFENSE PRIVILEGE â€" CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel-

As I have discussed with many of you, Missouri, Arizona, Montana, and Nebraska are planning to file a legal challenge in the Eighth Circuit to OSHAâ€™s anticipated vaccine mandate for employers with 100 or more employees. The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we donâ€™t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better.

Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, Iowa, could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a â€œstate-plan Stateâ€?

Thanks a lot,
John Sauer

The skills, organization, and work ethic Liz has exhibited since the retirement of our two long-term administrative assistants (whose jobs have now been split into three different positions) have served to allow this office to continue operating fairly smoothly while being completely understaffed and without personnel knowledgeable in the required tasks for any of the positions. As you know, we are "in flux" with the administrative staff for not only State & Local Division, but also the Criminal & Regulatory Division as well as the Human Resources division. Two of the three positions are still vacant and the one position that has been hired is being trained. All three of these administrative positions have a very steep learning curve in order to effectively, accurately, and efficiently do the jobs assigned to them, as we found out by the loss of not one but two new administrative staff who left shortly after being hired. Throughout this time, Liz has not only stepped in to write painstakingly detailed instructions on how to do the tasks that need completing, making sure they are kept in a place central to all affected personnel, and clear enough for anyone to be able to complete the tasks, but she has done the vast majority of the training for the State & Local position that is already hired. It is very likely that she will also handle the training for the administrative assistant position hired for the Criminal & Regulatory Division as well. Liz has done this while handling all the administrative work for the Criminal & Regulatory Division, training me to handle the Crim & Reg work while she is gone, answering the numerous questions and continued training requirements for State & Local, as well as handling her own job duties! Lastly, Liz has also written detailed instructions and been training me to cover her job duties while she is out of the office, including the processes required for Attorney General Opinions and News Releases. Properly handling these are no small task in that you must follow specific formatting to prepare the finals, publish them to our website, and disseminate that information in the proper forms to media, staff and whomever else is necessary for Attorney General Opinions and News Releases. I don't know of many other individuals who could take on all that Liz has been, and still is, doing with the poise and grace she has exhibited. *Alice M. ISO Arkansas's SAFE Act - joins due Fri., Nov. 19 by 1pm CT  CAUTION: This email originated from an outside source. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know they are safe.  Hi friends, Alabama plans to file an amicus brief in support of Arkansas as it challenges the district court's preliminary injunction enjoining enforcement of the state's "Save Adolescents from Experimentation (SAFE) Act." The Act generally prohibits healthcare professionals from using hormones and surgery to treat gender dysphoria in children. Our brief makes two main points. First, gender transition for minors is an area fraught with medical uncertainty that can lead to particularly tragic results. Here, the brief recounts a number of surveys of the medical literature by hospital systems in the UK, Finland, and Sweden that caused those countries to take a far more measured approach to treatment than the "gender-affirming care" model that the district court said the Constitution requires. Second, the brief contends that States have broad authority to regulate the medical profession, particularly in areas fraught with medical and scientific uncertainties such as this one. It also explains that the amici that the district court relied on—such as the American Medical Association and the American Academy of Pediatrics—are not the neutral arbiters of science they purport to be. We filed a similar brief in the district court in July, where we were joined by Alaska, Arizona, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, and Texas. That brief is also attached, as is the district court's preliminary injunction order and Arkansas's opening brief in the Eighth Circuit. The brief is due this Friday, so we are asking for sign-ons by 1 pm CT on Friday, November 19. Apologies for the quick turnaround. Please let Eddie and me know if you have questions or suggestions. Hi all, As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.) Sincerely, Drew

Hi all, As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.) Sincerely, Drew

ISO Arkansas's SAFE Act - joins due Fri., Nov. 19 by 1pm CT Hi friends, Alabama plans to file an amicus brief in support of Arkansas as it challenges the district court's preliminary injunction enjoining enforcement of the state's "Save Adolescents from Experimentation (SAFE) Act." The Act generally prohibits healthcare professionals from using hormones and surgery to treat gender dysphoria in children. Our brief makes two main points. First, gender transition for minors is an area fraught with medical uncertainty that can lead to particularly tragic results. Here, the brief recounts a number of surveys of the medical literature by hospital systems in the UK, Finland, and Sweden that caused those countries to take a far more measured approach to treatment than the "gender-affirming care" model that the district court said the Constitution requires. Second, the brief contends that States have broad authority to regulate the medical profession, particularly in areas fraught with medical and scientific uncertainties such as this one. It also explains that the amici that the district court relied on—such as the American Medical Association and the American Academy of Pediatrics—are not the neutral arbiters of science they purport to be. We filed a similar brief in the district court in July, where we were joined by Alaska, Arizona, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, and Texas. That brief is also attached, as is the district court's preliminary injunction order and Arkansas's opening brief in the Eighth Circuit. The brief is due this Friday, so we are asking for sign-ons by 1 pm CT on Friday, November 19. Apologies for the quick turnaround. Please let Eddie and me know if you have questions or suggestions. Thanks very much, Barrett Barrett Bowdre Deputy Solicitor General Office of the Attorney General State of Alabama 501 Washington Avenue Post Office Box 300152 Montgomery, AL 36130 334.353.8892 Office 334.353.8400 Fax Confidentiality Notice: The information contained in this email and the documents attached hereto contain confidential information intended only for the use of the intended recipients. ISO Arkansas's SAFE Act - joins due Fri., Nov. 19 by 1pm CT Hi friends, Alabama plans to file an amicus brief in support of Arkansas as it challenges the district court's preliminary injunction enjoining enforcement of the state's "Save Adolescents from Experimentation (SAFE) Act." The Act generally prohibits healthcare professionals from using hormones and surgery to treat gender dysphoria in children. Our brief makes two main points. First, gender transition for minors is an area fraught with medical uncertainty that can lead to particularly tragic results. Here, the brief recounts a number of surveys of the medical literature by hospital systems in the UK, Finland, and Sweden that caused those countries to take a far more measured approach to treatment than the "gender-affirming care" model that the district court said the Constitution requires. Second, the brief contends that States have broad authority to regulate the medical profession, particularly in areas fraught with medical and scientific uncertainties such as this one. It also explains that the amici that the district court relied on—such as the American Medical Association and the American Academy of Pediatrics—are not the neutral arbiters of science they purport to be. We filed a similar brief in the district court in July, where we were joined by Alaska, Arizona, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, and Texas. That brief is also attached, as is the district court's preliminary injunction order and Arkansas's opening brief in the Eighth Circuit. The brief is due this Friday, so we are asking for sign-ons by 1 pm CT on Friday, November 19. Apologies for the quick turnaround. Please let Eddie and me know if you have questions or suggestions. All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

Body	First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CA5's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay. If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route. --- From: Murrill, Elizabeth <Murrille@ag.louisiana.gov> Sent: Wednesday, November 17, 2021 7:48 AM To: Ensign, Drew <Drew.Ensign@azag.gov> Cc: Henry Whitaker <Henry.Whitaker@myfloridalegal.com>; Bowdre, Barrett <Barrett.Bowdre@alabamaag.gov>; cori.mills@alaska.gov <cori.mills@alaska.gov>; jessie.alloway@alaska.gov <jessie.alloway@alaska.gov>; ninia.dizon@alaska.gov <ninia.dizon@alaska.gov>; Roysden, Beau <Beau.Roysden@azag.gov>; Daniel Bell <Daniel.Bell@myfloridalegal.com>; James Percival <James.Percival@myfloridalegal.com>; Jeffrey DeSousa <Jeffrey.DeSousa@myfloridalegal.com>; Drew Waldbeser <DWaldbeser@law.ga.gov>; Ross Bergethon <RBergethon@law.ga.gov>; brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov <brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov>; tom.fisher@atg.in.gov <tom.fisher@atg.in.gov>; kian.hudson@atg.in.gov <kian.hudson@atg.in.gov>; jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov <jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov>; Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov <Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov>; Chad.Meredith@ky.gov <Chad.Meredith@ky.gov>; Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov <Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov>; St. John, Joseph <StJohnJ@ag.louisiana.gov>; Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov <Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov>; Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov <Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov>; Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov <Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov>; john.sauer@ago.mo.gov <john.sauer@ago.mo.gov>; Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov <Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov>; David.Dewhirst@mt.gov <David.Dewhirst@mt.gov>; Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov <Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov>; Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov <Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov>; Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov <Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov>; wstenehjem@nd.gov <wstenehjem@nd.gov>; masagsve@nd.gov <masagsve@nd.gov>; tseibel@nd.gov <tseibel@nd.gov>; Benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov <Benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov>; May.Davis@ohioago.gov <May.Davis@ohioago.gov>; mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov <mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov>; zach.west@oag.ok.gov <zach.west@oag.ok.gov>; Emory Smith <ESmith@scag.gov>; HKirkland@scag.gov <HKirkland@scag.gov>; BCook@scag.gov <BCook@scag.gov>; ThomasHydrick@scag.gov <ThomasHydrick@scag.gov>; steven.blair@state.sd.us <steven.blair@state.sd.us>; Sherri.Wald@state.sd.us <Sherri.Wald@state.sd.us>; Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us <Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us>; Sarah K. Do not click links or open attachments unless you recognize the sender and know the content is safe. Hi all, As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

Subject: Re: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

Body	First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CA5's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay. If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route. From: Murrill, Elizabeth <MurrillE@ag.louisiana.gov> Sent: Wednesday, November 17, 2021 7:48 AM To: Ensign, Drew <Drew.Ensign@azag.gov> Cc: Henry Whitaker <Henry.Whitaker@myfloridalegal.com>; Bowdre, Barrett <Barrett.Bowdre@alabamaag.gov>; cori.mills@alaska.gov <cori.mills@alaska.gov>; jessie.alloway@alaska.gov <jessie.alloway@alaska.gov>; ninia.dizon@alaska.gov <ninia.dizon@alaska.gov>; Roysden, Beau <Beau.Roysden@azag.gov>; Daniel Bell <Daniel.Bell@myfloridalegal.com>; James Percival <James.Percival@myfloridalegal.com>; Jeffrey DeSousa <Jeffrey.DeSousa@myfloridalegal.com>; Drew Waldbeser <DWaldbeser@law.ga.gov>; Ross Bergethon <RBergethon@law.ga.gov>; brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov <brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov>; tom.fisher@atg.in.gov <tom.fisher@atg.in.gov>; kian.hudson@atg.in.gov <kian.hudson@atg.in.gov>; jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov <jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov>; Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov <Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov>; Chad.Meredith@ky.gov <Chad.Meredith@ky.gov>; Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov <Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov>; St. John, Joseph <StJohnJ@ag.louisiana.gov>; Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov <Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov>; Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov <Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov>; Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov <Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov>; john.sauer@ago.mo.gov <john.sauer@ago.mo.gov>; Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov <Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov>; David.Dewhirst@mt.gov <David.Dewhirst@mt.gov>; Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov <Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov>; Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov <Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov>; Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov <Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov>; wstenehjem@nd.gov <wstenehjem@nd.gov>; masagsve@nd.gov <masagsve@nd.gov>; tseibel@nd.gov <tseibel@nd.gov>; Benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov <Benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov>; May.Davis@ohioago.gov <May.Davis@ohioago.gov>; mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov <mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov>; zach.west@oag.ok.gov <zach.west@oag.ok.gov>; Emory Smith <ESmith@scag.gov>; HKirkland@scag.gov <HKirkland@scag.gov>; BCook@scag.gov <BCook@scag.gov>; ThomasHydrick@scag.gov <ThomasHydrick@scag.gov>; steven.blair@state.sd.us <steven.blair@state.sd.us>; Sherri.Wald@state.sd.us <Sherri.Wald@state.sd.us>; Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us <Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us>; Sarah K. Hi all, As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. UNDER PRESS EMBARGO

Dear Social Media Platform Multistate Investigation Working Group:

As discussed during our last working group call on November 5th, the AG Steering Committee (AsG of NE, VT, MA, CA, TN, FL, NJ, and KY) authorized the commencement of this investigation, and asked that staff of the lead states kick it off with a CID from each of their offices to Meta (f/k/a Facebook) investigating potential state consumer protection act claims relating to Meta's promotion and operation of Instagram to younger users. A draft of that CID is currently under review for final approval by the Steering Committee. We expect to issue that CID at some point later this week and we will update the group once we have done so.

In addition, the AG Steering Committee determined to make a brief press announcement about the investigation. The press teams of MA and NE have prepared a template press announcement, which is below. As you can see, it was just circulated to the press personnel in each of your offices. My understanding is that it is up to each state whether to issue any press statement on this, but that this template is the preferred messaging should a state decide to do so. This announcement is embargoed until further notice. We anticipate the embargo will be lifted late this week. We will keep you posted.

Please let either Phil Carlson, Chris Curtis, or myself know of any major problems that you are not able to work out through your own press persons.

Thank you everyone,

UNDER PRESS EMBARGO

Dear Social Media Platform Multistate Investigation Working Group:

As discussed during our last working group call on November 5th, the AG Steering Committee (AsG of NE, VT, MA, CA, TN, FL, NJ, and KY) authorized the commencement of this investigation, and asked that staff of the lead states kick it off with a CID from each of their offices to Meta (f/k/a Facebook) investigating potential state consumer protection act claims relating to Meta's promotion and operation of Instagram to younger users. A draft of that CID is currently under review for final approval by the Steering Committee. We expect to issue that CID at some point later this week and we will update the group once we have done so.

In addition, the AG Steering Committee determined to make a brief press announcement about the investigation. The press teams of MA and NE have prepared a template press announcement, which is below. As you can see, it was just circulated to the press personnel in each of your offices. My understanding is that it is up to each state whether to issue any press statement on this, but that this template is the preferred messaging should a state decide to do so. This announcement is embargoed until further notice. We anticipate the embargo will be lifted late this week. We will keep you posted.

Please let either Phil Carlson, Chris Curtis, or myself know of any major problems that you are not able to work out through your own press persons.

Thank you everyone,

Do not click links or open attachments unless you know they are safe.  Dear Friends, I am excited to share with you and the other members of the CSG Leadership Council and Executive Committee an advance copy of the proposed three-year strategic plan for The Council of State Governments. Under the leadership of the 2020 and 2021 National Chair, Wisconsin Senator Joan Ballweg, and with the active engagement of the members of the Strategic Planning Task Force, a number of new, ambitious objectives were crafted with the goal of moving CSG forward. Since 1933, CSG has evolved to meet the changing needs of state officials. In this time of transition and transformation, when so much is changing, CSG must also change. But for nearly 90 years, our values have remained unchanged. This plan reaffirms our commitment to those values and sets CSG on a path for even greater success. I commend the members of the task force for both the quality of their work and the inclusive process they used in creating the plan. The plan represents the collective thinking of a broad cross section of state officials. At the upcoming CSG National Conference in Santa Fe, New Mexico, on Dec. 1-4, Chair Ballweg will present the strategic plan to the CSG Leadership Council and Executive Committee for approval. I wanted to make sure you had a chance to review an advance copy. Chair Ballweg also asked that I invite you to learn more about the plan and get your questions answered before we convene in Santa Fe. To that end, we have scheduled a briefing for you and other CSG leaders on Monday, November 22, at 2 p.m. EST via Zoom. (https://csg-org.zoom.us/j/84973785161?pwd=eTFpOXdVbERYN1Voci9tV3plVkdPUT09). This information will also be sent in a Microsoft Outlook invitation. Please let us know if you plan to attend by emailing a response to Jessica Clay at jclay@csg.org. Your feedback is important to us, and we welcome hearing from you even if you can't attend the Zoom briefing. Thank you for your leadership and your support of CSG. I value your role in the governance of our organization. With your help and guidance, I am confident the best days for CSG are yet to come. All the best, David Adkins CSG Executive Director/CEO

Marstiller, No. 20-1263 -- sign on request  CAUTION: This email originated from an outside source. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know they are safe.  Hi everyone, The attached amicus brief by Utah and Ohio supports respondent Florida Agency for Healthcare Administration in Gallardo v Marstiller, No. 20-1263. The Medicaid Act requires a state Medicaid program to obtain a beneficiary's right to "payment for medical care from any third party." 42 U.S.C. § 1396k(a)(1)(A). In this case, Medicaid paid $862,688.77 of petitioner's medical costs and she obtained an $800,000 settlement from a tortfeasor for her injuries. Petitioner contends that Medicaid is entitled to reimbursement of only $35,367.52 from that settlement because only that amount represents payment for past medical care. The question presented is whether Medicaid may also seek reimbursement of its medical-assistance payments from the portion of petitioner's settlement representing payment for future medical care. The amicus argues that (1) the Medicaid statute requires the State to seek reimbursement from payments for "medical care," and it does so without distinguishing between past and future medical care; and (2) in resolving this case, the Court should not suggest that the petitioners in this case had a valid cause of action. Florida's respondent brief is also attached. We will be filing on Monday Nov. 22. If your state would like to join the amicus, please email me at melissaholyoak@agutah.gov by 5:00 pm MT on November 19, 2021. Thanks! Melissa A. I don't know if this is real but there is a call out to the people to contact their Attorney General to get involved. Your picture and contact information is on the email. I am assuming that you will get the request to join soon. You will most likely get a lot of emails asking you to join the suit. Thanks for joining in on the other two lawsuits. I feel like you're representing us well. I see the one about OSHA is stayed ? Thanks again and Good Lords Blessings. Sincerely, Jeff Magrum  CAUTION: This email originated from an outside source. Great outcome all around—and it certainly vindicates our decision to concede on the three provisions that we did under Part D. I think we earned a ton of credibility with the panel. Howard and I drafted up a press release for the Attorney General. A copy is attached. As you know, PCMA has 14 days from yesterday to petition for rehearing. We cannot respond unless ordered to do so by the Court. After the period for rehearing expires, or if rehearing is denied, the Court will issue its mandate, returning jurisdiction to the district court. At that point, we'll have to see if the district court wants advice on the language of the final judgment. Separately, PCMA will have 90 days from the opinion or the denial of rehearing, whichever is later, to petition the Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari. That petition would not affect whatever judgment is issued by the district court—unless PCMA moves to stay the mandate. We would be surprised if PCMA sought such a stay though, which are not the norm. As a result, the State should be in a position to start enforcing the law as soon as the mandate issues, because that will formally set aside the district court's prior judgment. Rob Robert T. Body	I wouldn't worry about it. It seems to me that the Judge may have taken a judicious approach to the attorney's fees. He's not denying them for all time, and I agree with him that we may want to save what few resources that will remain for some meager restitution for the consumers. We can afford it more than most of them. Besides, we got the real relief we wanted. Good job, all in all. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know they are safe.  Friends, Alabama plans to submit comments on two related proposed rules concerning the Endangered Species Act. The first, issued by the Fish and Wildlife Service and the National Marine Fisheries Service, proposes rescinding the Services' final rule defining the term "habitat" for purposes of designating "critical habitat." The second, published only by the FWS, proposes rescinding the Service's implementing regulation detailing how and when it will conduct an analysis to exclude areas from critical habitat designation. Our main concern with both proposed rules is that they seek to increase agency discretion by limiting transparency and predictability. Additionally, the final rules they seek to rescind were promulgated to comply with the Supreme Court's teaching in Weyerhaeuser Co. v. U.S. Fish & Wildlife Serv., 139 S. Ct. 361 (2018), that (1) "critical habitat" must actually be "habitat" for a species, and (2) the Secretary's discretionary decision not to exclude critical habitat is subject to review under the APA. The new proposed rules seek to revert to pre-Weyerhaeuser regulations. I have attached our draft comment letter (which combines the comments for both proposed rules), as well as the proposed rules and the final rules they seek to rescind. Comments are due next Friday, November 26, 2021—the day after Thanksgiving. We can accept joins until 12 pm CT that day. If joining, please send a digital signature of the AG. My husband was arrested in Jamestown unfortunately. It was documented that he refused piss test for DUI which when you can't piss its not fair or right for officer to put refusal especially when there is other means of doing a DUI test . Courts found him not quilty yet the state will not remove the suspension of his licenses. So it is double jeropdy. It puts us in a bind all our vehicles are marked as suspension driver from Minnesota and North Dakota and we need these vehicles for medical reasons. My husband needs double lung transplant which means driving to Mayo clinic many trips which is 5 hours away from where we live. And we cannot afford another vehicle to be put under my name. With my husband on oxygen 24/7 we have to have our van for sake of hauling oxygen tanks with us to his appointments. I need to go to Mayo myself i been doctoring there for last 2 years now everything is screwed up...we do not have anyone to haul us around or can not afford a taxi especially since my husband can not work. Also while in custody at Stutsman county jail. They flushed my husband's dentures and wedding ring down sewer. When they could of put gloves on and picked the stuff up and put in baggie and put in with his property. I don't care about his behavior cause he has mental health issues and that causes his behavior so they should of taken it consideration when I told them he has mental health issues. So that place needs to learn more about Mental health behavior.. so we would like his black hills gold wedding ring replaced and his dentures.. My husband's name is James Allen Jones We live in Dilworth, Minnesota. THIS IS DOUBLE JEROPDY IF COURTS FIND A PERSON NOT QUILTY THATS WHAT IT SHOULD BE. My husband was arrested in Jamestown unfortunately. It was documented that he refused piss test for DUI which when you can't piss its not fair or right for officer to put refusal especially when there is other means of doing a DUI test . Courts found him not quilty yet the state will not remove the suspension of his licenses. So it is double jeropdy. It puts us in a bind all our vehicles are marked as suspension driver from Minnesota and North Dakota and we need these vehicles for medical reasons. My husband needs double lung transplant which means driving to Mayo clinic many trips which is 5 hours away from where we live. And we cannot afford another vehicle to be put under my name. With my husband on oxygen 24/7 we have to have our van for sake of hauling oxygen tanks with us to his appointments. I need to go to Mayo myself i been doctoring there for last 2 years now everything is screwed up...we do not have anyone to haul us around or can not afford a taxi especially since my husband can not work. Also while in custody at Stutsman county jail. They flushed my husband's dentures and wedding ring down sewer. When they could of put gloves on and picked the stuff up and put in baggie and put in with his property. I don't care about his behavior cause he has mental health issues and that causes his behavior so they should of taken it consideration when I told them he has mental health issues. So that place needs to learn more about Mental health behavior.. so we would like his black hills gold wedding ring replaced and his dentures.. All,

Two updates:

1. So far, Florida, Alabama, and South Carolina have all signed on.
2. Based on (convincing) feedback we've received, we will cut this line: "So, if hearing this case en banc is the only way to decide it correctly, then the Court has no choice but to hear it en banc."

All,

The attached version of the petition for rehearing en banc corrects a nit and replaces an inadvertent omission. (Specifically, it now includes this sentence: "First, the Vaccine Mandate is a regulation of public health, plain and simple; its purpose and its effect is to regulate private healthcare decisions by making life harder for citizens who refuse to care for themselves in the federally approved manner.")

All, The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday. We now recommend seeking initial en banc review—it will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I'm told it cannot do that.

Body	The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday. One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the "support of The States of ____, all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel." Body	The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside. A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition. Body	I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts. First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CA5's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay. If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route. _____ From: Murrill, Elizabeth <MurrillE@ag.louisiana.gov<mailto:MurrillE@ag.louisiana.gov>> Sent: Wednesday, November 17, 2021 7:48 AM To: Ensign, Drew <Drew.Ensign@azag.gov<mailto:Drew.Ensign@azag.gov>> Cc: Henry Whitaker <Henry.Whitaker@myfloridalegal.com<mailto:Henry.Whitaker@myfloridalegal.com>>; Bowdre, Barrett <Barrett.Bowdre@alabamaag.gov<mailto:Barrett.Bowdre@alabamaag.gov>>; cori.mills@alaska.gov<mailto:cori.mills@alaska.gov> <cori.mills@alaska.gov<mailto:cori.mills@alaska.gov>>; jessie.alloway@alaska.gov<mailto:jessie.alloway@alaska.gov> <jessie.alloway@alaska.gov<mailto:jessie.alloway@alaska.gov>>; ninia.dizon@alaska.gov<mailto:ninia.dizon@alaska.gov> <ninia.dizon@alaska.gov<mailto:ninia.dizon@alaska.gov>>; Roysden, Beau <Beau.Roysden@azag.gov<mailto:Beau.Roysden@azag.gov>>; Daniel Bell <Daniel.Bell@myfloridalegal.com<mailto:Daniel.Bell@myfloridalegal.com>>; James Percival <James.Percival@myfloridalegal.com<mailto:James.Percival@myfloridalegal.com>>; Jeffrey DeSousa <Jeffrey.DeSousa@myfloridalegal.com<mailto:Jeffrey.DeSousa@myfloridalegal.com>>; Drew Waldbeser <DWaldbeser@law.ga.gov<mailto:DWaldbeser@law.ga.gov>>; Ross Bergethon <RBergethon@law.ga.gov<mailto:RBergethon@law.ga.gov>>; brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov<mailto:brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov> <brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov<mailto:brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov>>; tom.fisher@atg.in.gov<mailto:tom.fisher@atg.in.gov> <tom.fisher@atg.in.gov<mailto:tom.fisher@atg.in.gov>>; kian.hudson@atg.in.gov<mailto:kian.hudson@atg.in.gov> <kian.hudson@atg.in.gov<mailto:kian.hudson@atg.in.gov>>; jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov<mailto:jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov> <jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov<mailto:jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov>>; Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov<mailto:Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov> <Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov<mailto:Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov>>; Chad.Meredith@ky.gov<mailto:Chad.Meredith@ky.gov> <Chad.Meredith@ky.gov<mailto:Chad.Meredith@ky.gov>>; Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov< mailto:Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov> <Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov<mailto:Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov>>; St. John, Joseph <StJohnJ@ag.louisiana.gov<mailto:StJohnJ@ag.louisiana.gov>>; Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov<mailto:Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov> <Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov<mailto:Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov>>; Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov<mailto:Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov> <Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov<mailto:Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov>>; Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov<mailto:Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov> <Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov<mailto:Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov>>; john.sauer@ago.mo.gov<mailto:john.sauer@ago.mo.gov> <john.sauer@ago.mo.gov<mailto:john.sauer@ago.mo.gov>>; Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov<mailto:Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov> <Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov<mailto:Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov>>; David.Dewhirst@mt.gov<mailto:David.Dewhirst@mt.gov> <David.Dewhirst@mt.gov<mailto:David.Dewhirst@mt.gov>>; Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov<mailto:Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov> <Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov<mailto:Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov>>; Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov<mailto:Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov> <Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov<mailto:Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov>>; Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov<mailto:Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov> <Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov<mailto:Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov>>; wstenehjem@nd.gov< mailto:wstenehjem@nd.gov> <wstenehjem@nd.gov<mailto:wstenehjem@nd.gov>>; masagsve@nd.gov<mailto:masagsve@nd.gov> <masagsve@nd.gov<mailto:masagsve@nd.gov>>; tseibel@nd.gov<mailto:tseibel@nd.gov> <tseibel@nd.gov<mailto:tseibel@nd.gov>>; Benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov<mailto:Benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov> <Benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov<mailto:Benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov>>; May.Davis@ohioago.gov<mailto:May.Davis@ohioago.gov> <May.Davis@ohioago.gov<mailto:May.Davis@ohioago.gov>>; mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov<mailto:mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov> <mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov<mailto:mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov>>; zach.west@oag.ok.gov<mailto:zach.west@oag.ok.gov> <zach.west@oag.ok.gov<mailto:zach.west@oag.ok.gov>>; Emory Smith <ESmith@scag.gov<mailto:ESmith@scag.gov>>; HKirkland@scag.gov<mailto:HKirkland@scag.gov> <HKirkland@scag.gov<mailto:HKirkland@scag.gov>>; BCook@scag.gov<mailto:BCook@scag.gov> <BCook@scag.gov<mailto:BCook@scag.gov>>; ThomasHydrick@scag.gov<mailto:ThomasHydrick@scag.gov> <ThomasHydrick@scag.gov<mailto:ThomasHydrick@scag.gov>>; steven.blair@state.sd.us<mailto:steven.blair@state.sd.us> <steven.blair@state.sd.us<mailto:steven.blair@state.sd.us>>; Sherri.Wald@state.sd.us<mailto:Sherri.Wald@state.sd.us> <Sherri.Wald@state.sd.us<mailto:Sherri.Wald@state.sd.us>>; Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us<mailto:Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us> <Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us<mailto:Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us>>; Sarah K. Hi all, As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! All,

Two updates:

1. So far, Florida, Alabama, and South Carolina have all signed on.
2. Based on (convincing) feedback we've received, we will cut this line: "So, if hearing this case en banc is the only way to decide it correctly, then the Court has no choice but to hear it en banc."

All,

The attached version of the petition for rehearing en banc corrects a nit and replaces an inadvertent omission. (Specifically, it now includes this sentence: "First, the Vaccine Mandate is a regulation of public health, plain and simple; its purpose and its effect is to regulate private healthcare decisions by making life harder for citizens who refuse to care for themselves in the federally approved manner.")

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

All,

The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

We now recommend seeking initial en banc review—it will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I'm told it cannot do that.

Body	The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday. One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the "support of The States of ____, all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel." All,

Body	The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside. A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition. Body	I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts. First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CA5's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay. If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route. _____ From: Murrill, Elizabeth <MurrillE@ag.louisiana.gov<mailto:MurrillE@ag.louisiana.gov>> Sent: Wednesday, November 17, 2021 7:48 AM To: Ensign, Drew <Drew.Ensign@azag.gov<mailto:Drew.Ensign@azag.gov>> Cc: Henry Whitaker <Henry.Whitaker@myfloridalegal.com<mailto:Henry.Whitaker@myfloridalegal.com>>; Bowdre, Barrett <Barrett.Bowdre@alabamaag.gov<mailto:Barrett.Bowdre@alabamaag.gov>>; cori.mills@alaska.gov<mailto:cori.mills@alaska.gov> <cori.mills@alaska.gov<mailto:cori.mills@alaska.gov>>; jessie.alloway@alaska.gov<mailto:jessie.alloway@alaska.gov> <jessie.alloway@alaska.gov<mailto:jessie.alloway@alaska.gov>>; ninia.dizon@alaska.gov<mailto:ninia.dizon@alaska.gov> <ninia.dizon@alaska.gov<mailto:ninia.dizon@alaska.gov>>; Roysden, Beau <Beau.Roysden@azag.gov<mailto:Beau.Roysden@azag.gov>>; Daniel Bell <Daniel.Bell@myfloridalegal.com<mailto:Daniel.Bell@myfloridalegal.com>>; James Percival <James.Percival@myfloridalegal.com<mailto:James.Percival@myfloridalegal.com>>; Jeffrey DeSousa <Jeffrey.DeSousa@myfloridalegal.com<mailto:Jeffrey.DeSousa@myfloridalegal.com>>; Drew Waldbeser <DWaldbeser@law.ga.gov<mailto:DWaldbeser@law.ga.gov>>; Ross Bergethon <RBergethon@law.ga.gov<mailto:RBergethon@law.ga.gov>>; brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov<mailto:brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov> <brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov<mailto:brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov>>; tom.fisher@atg.in.gov<mailto:tom.fisher@atg.in.gov> <tom.fisher@atg.in.gov<mailto:tom.fisher@atg.in.gov>>; kian.hudson@atg.in.gov<mailto:kian.hudson@atg.in.gov> <kian.hudson@atg.in.gov<mailto:kian.hudson@atg.in.gov>>; jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov<mailto:jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov> <jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov<mailto:jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov>>; Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov<mailto:Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov> <Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov<mailto:Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov>>; Chad.Meredith@ky.gov<mailto:Chad.Meredith@ky.gov> <Chad.Meredith@ky.gov<mailto:Chad.Meredith@ky.gov>>; Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov< mailto:Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov> <Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov<mailto:Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov>>; St. John, Joseph <StJohnJ@ag.louisiana.gov<mailto:StJohnJ@ag.louisiana.gov>>; Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov<mailto:Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov> <Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov<mailto:Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov>>; Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov<mailto:Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov> <Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov<mailto:Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov>>; Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov<mailto:Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov> <Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov<mailto:Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov>>; john.sauer@ago.mo.gov<mailto:john.sauer@ago.mo.gov> <john.sauer@ago.mo.gov<mailto:john.sauer@ago.mo.gov>>; Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov<mailto:Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov> <Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov<mailto:Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov>>; David.Dewhirst@mt.gov<mailto:David.Dewhirst@mt.gov> <David.Dewhirst@mt.gov<mailto:David.Dewhirst@mt.gov>>; Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov<mailto:Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov> <Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov<mailto:Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov>>; Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov<mailto:Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov> <Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov<mailto:Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov>>; Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov<mailto:Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov> <Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov<mailto:Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov>>; wstenehjem@nd.gov< mailto:wstenehjem@nd.gov> <wstenehjem@nd.gov<mailto:wstenehjem@nd.gov>>; masagsve@nd.gov<mailto:masagsve@nd.gov> <masagsve@nd.gov<mailto:masagsve@nd.gov>>; tseibel@nd.gov<mailto:tseibel@nd.gov> <tseibel@nd.gov<mailto:tseibel@nd.gov>>; Benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov<mailto:Benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov> <Benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov<mailto:Benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov>>; May.Davis@ohioago.gov<mailto:May.Davis@ohioago.gov> <May.Davis@ohioago.gov<mailto:May.Davis@ohioago.gov>>; mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov<mailto:mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov> <mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov<mailto:mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov>>; zach.west@oag.ok.gov<mailto:zach.west@oag.ok.gov> <zach.west@oag.ok.gov<mailto:zach.west@oag.ok.gov>>; Emory Smith <ESmith@scag.gov<mailto:ESmith@scag.gov>>; HKirkland@scag.gov<mailto:HKirkland@scag.gov> <HKirkland@scag.gov<mailto:HKirkland@scag.gov>>; BCook@scag.gov<mailto:BCook@scag.gov> <BCook@scag.gov<mailto:BCook@scag.gov>>; ThomasHydrick@scag.gov<mailto:ThomasHydrick@scag.gov> <ThomasHydrick@scag.gov<mailto:ThomasHydrick@scag.gov>>; steven.blair@state.sd.us<mailto:steven.blair@state.sd.us> <steven.blair@state.sd.us<mailto:steven.blair@state.sd.us>>; Sherri.Wald@state.sd.us<mailto:Sherri.Wald@state.sd.us> <Sherri.Wald@state.sd.us<mailto:Sherri.Wald@state.sd.us>>; Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us<mailto:Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us> <Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us<mailto:Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us>>; Sarah K. Do not click links or open attachments unless you recognize the sender and know the content is safe. Hi all, As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.) Sincerely, Drew The information contained in this transmission may contain privileged and confidential information. One more update. According to the attached scheduling order, all petitions for initial en banc review are due Wednesday. (No problem there, as we'll file tomorrow.) It also tells us to make all filings in the filer's case plus in the consolidated case. I don't take that to bar us from filing a consolidated petition—we'll just file in the Sixth Circuit case plus in the consolidated lead case, listing all other cases at the top. And the Sixth Circuit is usually pretty reasonable about these things. To the extent there is an issue, I would think we could resolve it by having each coalition filing a me-too letter.

All,

Two updates:

1. So far, Florida, Alabama, and South Carolina have all signed on.
2. Based on (convincing) feedback we've received, we will cut this line: "So, if hearing this case en banc is the only way to decide it correctly, then the Court has no choice but to hear it en banc."

Subject: RE: OSHA - Petn for Initial En Banc Review

All,

The attached version of the petition for rehearing en banc corrects a nit and replaces an inadvertent omission. (Specifically, it now includes this sentence: "First, the Vaccine Mandate is a regulation of public health, plain and simple; its purpose and its effect is to regulate private healthcare decisions by making life harder for citizens who refuse to care for themselves in the federally approved manner.")

All, The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

Body	We now recommend seeking initial en banc review—it will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I'm told it cannot do that. The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday. One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the "support of The States of ____, all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel." Body

All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

Body	<Christopher.Baum@myfloridalegal.com<mailto:Christopher.Baum@myfloridalegal.com>> Subject: Re: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc? I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts. First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CAS's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay. If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route. Do not click links or open attachments unless you recognize the sender and know the content is safe. Hi all, As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.) Sincerely, Drew The information contained in this transmission may contain privileged and confidential information. (No problem there, as we'll file tomorrow.) It also tells us to make all filings in the filer's case plus in the consolidated case. I don't take that to bar us from filing a consolidated petition—we'll just file in the Sixth Circuit case plus in the consolidated lead case, listing all other cases at the top. And the Sixth Circuit is usually pretty reasonable about these things. To the extent there is an issue, I would think we could resolve it by having each coalition filing a me-too letter. Subject: OSHA - Petn for Initial En Banc Review

All,

Here is a proposed petition for initial en banc review. We have done our best to write it in a way that will appeal to those judges we most need to convince. We plan to file Monday at noon, so please send any joinder by Monday, November 22, at 10 AM Eastern.

Important: To be sure we do not miss you, please copy Josh Richardson in our office, who will keep a copy of all sign-ons. With all the emails I'm getting, I'm afraid I may miss one if you send it just to me.

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

All,

The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

Body	We now recommend seeking initial en banc review—it will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I'm told it cannot do that. The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday. One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the "support of The States of ____, all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel." Body

All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

Body	<Christopher.Baum@myfloridalegal.com<mailto:Christopher.Baum@myfloridalegal.com>> Subject: Re: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc? I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts. First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CAS's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay. If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route. Do not click links or open attachments unless you recognize the sender and know the content is safe. Hi all, As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.) Sincerely, Drew The information contained in this transmission may contain privileged and confidential information. One more update. According to the attached scheduling order, all petitions for initial en banc review are due Wednesday. (No problem there, as we'll file tomorrow.) It also tells us to make all filings in the filer's case plus in the consolidated case. I don't take that to bar us from filing a consolidated petitionâ€"we'll just file in the Sixth Circuit case plus in the consolidated lead case, listing all other cases at the top. And the Sixth Circuit is usually pretty reasonable about these things. To the extent there is an issue, I would think we could resolve it by having each coalition filing a me-too letter.

Subject: OSHA - Petn for Initial En Banc Review

All,

Here is a proposed petition for initial en banc review. We have done our best to write it in a way that will appeal to those judges we most need to convince. We plan to file Monday at noon, so please send any joinder by Monday, November 22, at 10 AM Eastern.

Important: To be sure we do not miss you, please copy Josh Richardson in our office, who will keep a copy of all sign-ons. With all the emails Iâ€™m getting, Iâ€™m afraid I may miss one if you send it just to me. Joshâ€™s email address is Joshua.Richardson@OhioAGO.gov<mailto:Joshua.Richardson@OhioAGO.gov>

All, The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeyeâ€™s petition. The response is due on Tuesday. We now recommend seeking initial en banc reviewâ€”it will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeyeâ€™s request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and Iâ€™m told it cannot do that. The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we arenâ€™t opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday. One wrinkle: I donâ€™t think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if thereâ€™s no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the â€œsupport of The States of ____, all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel.â€ Ben Flowers Ohio Solicitor General Office of Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost Office number: (614) 728-7511 Cell phone: (614) 736-4938 benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov<mailto:benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov> Confidentiality Notice: This message is intended for use only by the individual or entity to whom or which it is addressed and may contain sensitive data and information that is privileged, confidential and/or otherwise exempt from disclosure under applicable law. All, The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that weâ€™re reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isnâ€™t going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside. A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeyeâ€™s petition. Subject: Re: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CAS's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

Hi all, As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! One more update. According to the attached scheduling order, all petitions for initial en banc review are due Wednesday. (No problem there, as we'll file tomorrow.) It also tells us to make all filings in the filer's case plus in the consolidated case. I don't take that to bar us from filing a consolidated petitionâ€"we'll just file in the Sixth Circuit case plus in the consolidated lead case, listing all other cases at the top. And the Sixth Circuit is usually pretty reasonable about these things. To the extent there is an issue, I would think we could resolve it by having each coalition filing a me-too letter.

Subject: OSHA - Petn for Initial En Banc Review

All,

Here is a proposed petition for initial en banc review. We have done our best to write it in a way that will appeal to those judges we most need to convince. We plan to file Monday at noon, so please send any joinder by Monday, November 22, at 10 AM Eastern.

Important: To be sure we do not miss you, please copy Josh Richardson in our office, who will keep a copy of all sign-ons. With all the emails Iâ€™m getting, Iâ€™m afraid I may miss one if you send it just to me. Joshâ€™s email address is Joshua.Richardson@OhioAGO.gov<mailto:Joshua.Richardson@OhioAGO.gov>

All, The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeyeâ€™s petition. The response is due on Tuesday. We now recommend seeking initial en banc reviewâ€”it will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeyeâ€™s request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and Iâ€™m told it cannot do that. The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we arenâ€™t opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday. One wrinkle: I donâ€™t think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if thereâ€™s no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the â€œsupport of The States of ____, all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel.â€ Ben Flowers Ohio Solicitor General Office of Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost Office number: (614) 728-7511 Cell phone: (614) 736-4938 benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov<mailto:benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov> Confidentiality Notice: This message is intended for use only by the individual or entity to whom or which it is addressed and may contain sensitive data and information that is privileged, confidential and/or otherwise exempt from disclosure under applicable law. All, The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that weâ€™re reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isnâ€™t going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside. A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeyeâ€™s petition. Subject: Re: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CASâ€™s stay remains in place and itâ€™s up CA6 as to whether to lift it. Iâ€™d want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, thereâ€™s 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I donâ€™t think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went awayâ€”Iâ€™d agree entirely that we shouldnâ€™t leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when weâ€™re assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

Louisiana agrees too! Sent from my iPhone On Nov 16, 2021, at 8:55 PM, Ensign, Drew <Drew.Ensign@azag.gov<mailto:Drew.Ensign@azag.gov>> wrote: CAUTION: This email originated outside of Louisiana Department of Justice. Do not click links or open attachments unless you recognize the sender and know the content is safe. Hi all, As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.) Sincerely, Drew The information contained in this transmission may contain privileged and confidential information. (The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important nots: 1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed. 2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text: > This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. (The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important nots: 1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed. 2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text: > This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. Subject: Hope For the Holidays Event

Hello everyone,

I am excited to announce that we will once again be participating in the Hope For the Holidays event this year for the Abused Adult Resource Center. We adopted 2 small families and the individuals within the family are located below. These lists are to give ideas of what you may purchase for them, if you wish, and you may purchase whatever you would like for them as well.

PLEASE NOTE: When purchasing toys for children please be aware that due to the fact that a weapon may have been used during a violent incident, we request that no toy guns or weapons be purchased.

Please make sure the items are new and are wrapped or in gift bags and PLEASE make sure the client ID number is clearly marked on each package. Each individual has a number and letter(s) to identify them.

(The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important nots: 1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed. 2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text: > This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. (The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important nots: 1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed. 2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text: > This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. All-

Attached please find a working draft of the Reply brief in support of our stay motion, which is due today at 3:00 pm Central. Because the Circuit lottery may be as soon as tomorrow, I would like to file this earlier than 3:00 pm if possible, to give the Eighth Circuit maximum opportunity to consider our arguments if it plans to issue a decision in the next 24 hours. So please provide any thoughts or comments as promptly as possible. (I am sorry for the quick turnaround.) Also, the current draft is at about 3060 words, without introduction. The word limit is 2600 and DOJ has consented in advance to 3500. I would like to get this as close as possible to the actual word limit, because the Court does not like word-limit extensions, so if you think there are good areas to cut, please let us know.

Thanks a lot, John

All-

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength â€œcombinedâ€ response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 5200 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP 27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2600 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all â€" I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John

P.S. â€œOSH Actâ€ is short for â€œOccupational Safety and Health Act,â€ but since several of you flagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHAâ€™s brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitionersâ€™ reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuitâ€™s order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitionersâ€™ stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

All- As you may have seen, the Fifth Circuit granted a temporary stay and ordered expedited briefing on the Texas Policy Foundation's stay motion this afternoon. In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks, John

All- Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PJR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHAâ€™s points, and weâ€™d rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AAI, and Doolittle). All-

We are anticipating that the OSHA mandate will be announced this morning at 7:45 am Central. We would like to file the Petition for Judicial Review as soon as possible after it is announced. Attached is the near-final Petition for Judicial Review, which is virtually the same as the one I circulated last week, with minor formatting changes. There are still highlighted blanks for the Fed. Reg. cites, but otherwise it should be final. I understand that Missouri still has full authority from each of you to file this in the Eighth Circuit on your behalf, and we will pull the trigger as soon as we can. If anyone has last-minute changes or objections, please let me know before 7:30 am Central.

Once we have the mandate, we will also plan to update the stay motion and circulate it for review as soon as possible as well. I would like to have it on file by tomorrow morning if possible.

Thanks a lot for your support in this important project!!

Thanks a lot, John

ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT â€" PRIVILEGED â€" CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel-

We have heard rumors that the OSHA ETS mandating vaccines for employers with 100+ employees may be published today. These rumors may or may not be accurate, but we would like to be prepared to file the Petition for Review immediately after the ETS is published, and follow up with the stay motion within one business day. Attached are updated circulation drafts of the Petition for Review and Stay Motion. I think I have received confirmation of joining from all potentially interested States except South Dakota. If you have joined but I am still missing your signature block (Arizona, Montana, Arkansas, Iowa, Alaska), please send it asap this morning so that we can be poised to file the Petition right away if necessary. Also, if you are still working on state or employer declarations, please work on finalizing them promptly, as we expect a one-day turnaround between the ETSâ€™s publication and filing the stay motion.

By joining, you are designating me and the Missouri AGO to jointly represent your State for the sole purpose of this

The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we donâ€™t have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better. Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, "Iowa," could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a â€œstate-plan Stateâ€? Good morning, all,

For those needing to get someone admitted to the Sixth Circuit for the OSHA challenge, here are some instructions. I'm happy to help coordinate this process and help answer questions as best I can. The general instructions are here.

1. First, Complete this form and oath. It requires someone already admitted to sign.
2. If you need someone admitted in the 6th to sign your form, fill out the rest of the form and email it to me. I will print, sign, and email it back to you.
3. Obtain a method of payment for the $238 fee (paid electronically or via check)
4. The best way to submit both the form and the fee is electronically via the CM/ECF system – which will allow you to simply attach the admission form as a pdf.
5. However, you must register for a Sixth Circuit CM/ECF account to pay fees and submit the form. (let me know if you're unsure how to do this)
6. The bar admission link is found under the "Utilities" tab within the Sixth Circuit's CM/ECF.
7. Alternatively, you can mail in your form and payment via snail mail.

Please let me know if you have questions.
Best,
Brandon

The Sixth Circuit has asked me to file a statement saying I had permission from all the other States to file. I will plan to do that, even though I strongly believe it is unnecessary.

(The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important nots: 1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed. 2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text: > This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. I plan to reach out to the employer, but want to make sure I have my facts straight. From my perspective, there is currently no federal mandate, as the OSHA rule was stayed by the circuit court. In that event, the employer should follow state law, specifically HB 1511 as recently passed. So they should allow proof of antibodies, regular testing and philosophical/moral exemptions as an option instead of taking the vaccine. Am I off base here? Thank you! The Sixth Circuit has asked me to file a statement saying I had permission from all the other States to file. I will plan to do that, even though I strongly believe it is unnecessary.

(The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important nots: 1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed. 2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text: > This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. An order is imminent, but to summarize: the district court indicated that it will consolidate the preliminary injunction with a hearing on the merits for at least the legal issues (i.e., the non-arbitrary and capricious claims) and possibly the entire case and appears willing to rule before December 8. The court directed the parties to work to file a statement of stipulated facts by December 6. I hope everyone has a happy Thanksgiving. It is my understanding that even though we passed HB 1514 during the special session, a physician in Jamestown, ND was dismissed. Carved out of 1514, much to my dismay, was the requirement for hospitals to administer Off-label FDA approved drugs to treat COVID when a patient or family member requested the right-to-try. I would appreciate any help you can lend to this dire situation. Representative Bill Tveit, District 33

It is my understanding that even though we passed HB 1514 during the special session, a physician in Jamestown, ND was dismissed. Carved out of 1514, much to my dismay, was the requirement for hospitals to administer Off-label FDA approved drugs to treat COVID when a patient or family member requested the right-to-try. I would appreciate any help you can lend to this dire situation. Representative Bill Tveit, District 33

Hello everyone,

I am excited to announce that we will once again be participating in the Hope For the Holidays event this year for the Abused Adult Resource Center. We adopted 2 small families and the individuals within the family are located below. These lists are to give ideas of what you may purchase for them, if you wish, and you may purchase whatever you would like for them as well.

PLEASE NOTE: When purchasing toys for children please be aware that due to the fact that a weapon may have been used during a violent incident, we request that no toy guns or weapons be purchased.

Please make sure the items are new and are wrapped or in gift bags and PLEASE make sure the client ID number is clearly marked on each package. Each individual has a number and letter(s) to identify them.

We plan on dropping off the gifts around the 7th of December, so please make your purchases accordingly. You can bring the gifts and place them under the reception area Christmas tree or you can keep them with you until we get closer to the drop off time. There is an envelope on the tree to place gift cards in should you choose to purchase those for any of the family members. This list will be printed out and in the 1st floor copy room so please remember to cross off anything you will be purchasing or have purchased off the list so we do not double up on presents.

Subject: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing - UPDATED

All,

Here is a revised version, which incorporates some changes from other States. Thanks to Georgia, South Carolina, and Texas for joining already.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.

The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least five reasons.

First , this lightning- speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.

Second , the proposed stay- schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHAâ€™s suggested stay- stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitionersâ€™ response period by five days, while expanding OSHAâ€™s reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2â€“3 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same.

Third , the merits- briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States , would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners will pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings , 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g. , Depâ€™t of Com. v. New York , 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019).

Fourth , the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id . The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.

Fifth , and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€"the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€"requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA , â€"F.4thâ€", 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€"though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Its motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.

OSHAâ€™s delay shows that the agency does not really think expediency is needed to protect employeesâ€™ lives; if it really believed that, it would have issued the Vaccine Mandate months ago, and filed for relief in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. If time is now short before the arbitrary deadline of January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame.

Here is an attached response. Itâ€™s very short, because there is not much to say. The sooner we can file the better. So please let me know if youâ€™d like to sign by Monday, November 29, at Noon Eastern. If I hear from everyone today, I can file today. For the convenience of those who are traveling, Iâ€™ve copied the fully text of the response into this email below.

Sincerely,

P.S.: I reached out to counsel for the DOJ about the administrative record. I havenâ€™t heard back yet, hence the highlighting.

But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.

Fourth , and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€"the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€"requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA , â€"F.4thâ€", 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€"though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Its motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.

OSHAâ€™s delay shows that the agency does not really think the Vaccine Mandate is needed to save lives; if it really believed that, it would have file in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. But put that aside. If there is an urgent need to ensure the Vaccine Mandate is in force by January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame.

All,

Happy Thanksgiving. (And go Bucks!)

After sleeping on it, I think it would be appropriate to file a very short opposition to the absurd briefing schedule the DOJ proposed. In that response, we can say that we plan to pursue discovery and the proposed schedule doesnâ€™t allow for that.

I will draft something Friday and send it around. It would be best to file Monday morning, I think. Let me know if you have any concerns.

Subject: Re: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

COMMON INTEREST PRIVILEGE

Hi all,

Now that we have a briefing schedule for the stay motions, I wanted to flag a few issues for potential discussion/action among our multi-state group.

Body

1. Enforcement of the Stay. Given the briefing schedule, it is likely a safe assumption that the Fifth Circuit's stay will remain in force through at least December 10 when briefing wraps up. That period now includes the initial compliance date for businesses. The Fifth Circuit also ordered that OSHA "take no steps to implement or enforce the Mandate," and the Administration is unlikely to obtain the clarification they seek (at 51) of that before December 10. Given all of this, there is probably going to be a strong temptation for the Administration to stick a few toes over the line (or even entire limbs). It probably makes sense for us to be vigilant about what OSHA and the White House are doing, with an eye towards seeking enforcement of the stay if necessary.
2. Administrative Record. It may be useful to seek production of the administrative record on a highly expedited basis, so that we could cite to it in our December 7 opposition briefs (or in supplemental briefing by December 10). DOJ will likely howl, but I suspect there may be a lot of good material in there for showing arbitrary and capricious decision-making, and they are the ones crying "emergency." The timetable here virtually ensures sloppiness in the administrative record, particularly as OSHA would have been focused on scrubbing the formal rule. Even if we don't get the record in time for the stay briefing in the Sixth Circuit, it may be very useful for subsequent merits briefing and/or Supreme Court applications.
3. Potential Discovery. It may also make sense to seek discovery here, principally depositions. Discovery of course used to be disfavored in APA cases, pre-Census case, and putatively still is somewhat disfavored. It may also be harder to get such discovery from a circuit court. But this case does have some uniquely strong evidence of pretext and naked political calculations that bely the official reasoning, and the deponents could easily crumble in a manner that would be very helpful.

Food for thought. Please let us know if it would be helpful to discuss by phone or email further.

Have a great Thanksgiving,
Drew

Charles, you are right about OSHAâ€™s intent to coerce people into taking the vaccine rather than submit to testing. And OSHA makes this explicit:

â€œAs mentioned above, requiring employers to pay for workplace protections makes it more likely that employees will take advantage of that protection, and in this ETS, OSHA intends to strongly encourage employees to choose vaccination, not regular COVID-19 testing. Because employees who choose to remain unvaccinated will generally be required to pay for their own COVID-19 testing, this standard creates a financial incentive for those employees to become fully vaccinated and avoid that cost.â€ See ETS at 61532.

Incidentally, OSHA also notes grudgingly that even the CDC recommends that asymptomatic people should be exempt from testing.

â€œIn contrast, the CDC recommends that fully vaccinated employees with no symptoms and no known exposure should be exempt from routine testing programs (CDC, May 4, 2021).â€ See ETS at 61529.

Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

To my mind, the cost of testing is one of the most insidious aspects of the ETS. Unlike every similar standard I can think of, the ETS allows employers to put the cost of testing on employees. I do not think this was an afterthought or an oversight. If it was an afterthought or oversight, then OSHA would most likely default to the standard provision placing cost on the employer. The testing alternative appears at first blush to be an escape valve, and I think OSHA does not want to disturb that first impression by drawing attention to the testing provision.

OSHA has good reason for wanting to avoid highlighting the testing alternative. Instead of an escape valve that offers a less restrictive alternative, the testing provision seems intentionally onerous and designed to coerce workers into â€œvoluntarilyâ€ vaccinating. While some states, like Louisiana, have statutes that prohibit employers from putting the cost of compliance on employees, this is not the case across the board. While the potential cost burden on employers would be substantial, most employees will simply not be able to afford the cost of testing over an extended period. Employees will cave and vaccinate rather than assume the cost of testing right before the Holidays, where money is already extremely tight for most households.

The testing â€œalternativeâ€ is the best example of a wolf in sheepâ€™s clothing that I have encountered in my career.

The rule has little to no analysis on the testing requirement because I think it was largely an afterthought. Assuming for the sake of argument that testing is a reasonable requirement in theory, in practice the volume of tests would be virtually impossible to conduct even if you could find the tests (which is impossible presently). It also would be very costly. Louisiana has a labor law that prohibits employers from imposing the costs of medical testing on an employee. (This does not directly conflict with the rule, as the rule only says OSHA isnâ€™t requiring that employers bear the cost.) Not sure other states have this rule. I have a memo on the 4th amendment implications of testing if you want it. --- From: Benjamin Flowers <Benjamin.Flowers@OhioAGO.gov> Sent: Tuesday, November 23, 2021 10:17 AM To: Ensign, Drew <Drew.Ensign@azag.gov>; Judd Stone <Judd.Stone@oag.texas.gov>; Murrill, Elizabeth <MurrillE@ag.louisiana.gov>; Joshua Richardson <Joshua.Richardson@OhioAGO.gov> Cc: Henry Whitaker <Henry.Whitaker@myfloridalegal.com>; Bowdre, Barrett < Barrett.Bowdre@alabamaag.gov>; cori.mills@alaska.gov; jessie.alloway@alaska.gov; ninia.dizon@alaska.gov; Roysden, Beau <Beau.Roysden@azag.gov>; Daniel Bell < Daniel.Bell@myfloridalegal.com>; James Percival <James.Percival@myfloridalegal.com>; Jeffrey DeSousa <Jeffrey.DeSousa@myfloridalegal.com>; Drew Waldbeser <DWaldbeser@law.ga.gov>; Ross Bergethon <RBergethon@law.ga.gov>; brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov; tom.fisher@atg.in.gov; kian.hudson@atg.in.gov; jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov; Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov; Chad.Meredith@ky.gov; Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov; St. John, Joseph <StJohnJ@ag.louisiana.gov>; Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov; Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov; Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov; john.sauer@ago.mo.gov; Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov; David.Dewhirst@mt.gov; Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov; Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov; Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov; wstenehjem@nd.gov; masagsve@nd.gov; tseibel@nd.gov; May Mailman <May.Mailman@OhioAGO.gov>; mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov; zach.west@oag.ok.gov; Emory Smith <ESmith@scag.gov>; HKirkland@scag.gov; BCook@scag.gov; ThomasHydrick@scag.gov; steven.blair@state.sd.us; Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us; Sarah K. I would add that the citation to 29 usc 669(a)(5) borders on sanctionable. Go take a look at the way they quote it on page 16 and then look at what the statute actually says.

Subject: Re: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

That approach works for Arizona. Multiple state briefs will probably annoy the court and diminish the impact of the individual ones. (I am admitted in the Sixth, and can sign for Arizona.)

On the merits, I am surprised that OSHA made the argument (at 46-48) for narrowing the stay if it is not vacated by leaving the mask-and-test requirement in place while staying the vaccination part. OSHA expressly calls that a "reasonably effective alternative." Mot.46.

It is difficult to understand how that is not a concession that the mask-and-test requirement can

Body	operate sufficiently without the vaccination component, and thus the latter is not actually "necessary" to prevent a "grave danger." OSHA's backup request essentially concedes the lack of necessity. Put simply, if an aspect of the rule is severable and the remainder still suffices (in DOJ's view) under the ETS standard, that aspect was never actually "necessary" to begin with. The Sixth Circuit will presumably issue a briefing schedule. Provided the States would like to stick together, the Sixth Circuit coalition is happy to lead the charge. Indeed, the en banc brief can be pretty quickly repurposed into an opposition to this stay request. One important point: the Sixth Circuit told us that, going forward, it will need signatures from each States or the filing State to say that it has permission to file for everyone. If you have someone admitted here, we can add the signature. If not, weâ€™re happy to sign the admission form for whomever would like to move. Subject: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing - UPDATED

All,

Here is a revised version, which incorporates some changes from other States. Thanks to Georgia, South Carolina, and Texas for joining already.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.

The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least five reasons.

First , this lightning- speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.

Second , the proposed stay- schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHAâ€™s suggested stay- stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitionersâ€™ response period by five days, while expanding OSHAâ€™s reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2â€“3 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same.

Third , the merits- briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States , would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners will pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings , 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g. , Depâ€™t of Com. v. New York , 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019).

Fourth , the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id . The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.

Fifth , and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€"the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€"requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA , â€"F.4thâ€", 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€"though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Its motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.

OSHAâ€™s delay shows that the agency does not really think expediency is needed to protect employeesâ€™ lives; if it really believed that, it would have issued the Vaccine Mandate months ago, and filed for relief in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. If time is now short before the arbitrary deadline of January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame.

Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing
Importance: High

Here is an attached response. Itâ€™s very short, because there is not much to say. The sooner we can file the better. So please let me know if youâ€™d like to sign by Monday, November 29, at Noon Eastern. If I hear from everyone today, I can file today. For the convenience of those who are traveling, Iâ€™ve copied the fully text of the response into this email below.

Sincerely,

Ben Flowers

P.S.: I reached out to counsel for the DOJ about the administrative record. I havenâ€™t heard back yet, hence the highlighting.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.

The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least four reasons.

First , this lightning- speed approach to these issues is unnecessary.

Body

The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid- December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 8 6 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.

Second , the merits- briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States , would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners will pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings , 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g. , Dep't of Com. v. New York , 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019).

Third , the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id . The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.

Fourth , and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€"the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€"requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA , â€"F.4thâ€", 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€"though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Its motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.

OSHAâ€™s delay shows that the agency does not really think the Vaccine Mandate is needed to save lives; if it really believed that, it would have file in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. But put that aside. If there is an urgent need to ensure the Vaccine Mandate is in force by January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame.

All,

Happy Thanksgiving. (And go Bucks!)

After sleeping on it, I think it would be appropriate to file a very short opposition to the absurd briefing schedule the DOJ proposed. In that response, we can say that we plan to pursue discovery and the proposed schedule doesnâ€™t allow for that.

I will draft something Friday and send it around. It would be best to file Monday morning, I think. Let me know if you have any concerns.

COMMON INTEREST PRIVILEGE

Hi all,

Now that we have a briefing schedule for the stay motions, I wanted to flag a few issues for potential discussion/action among our multi-state group.

Body

1. Enforcement of the Stay. Given the briefing schedule, it is likely a safe assumption that the Fifth Circuit's stay will remain in force through at least December 10 when briefing wraps up. That period now includes the initial compliance date for businesses. The Fifth Circuit also ordered that OSHA "take no steps to implement or enforce the Mandate," and the Administration is unlikely to obtain the clarification they seek (at 51) of that before December 10. Given all of this, there is probably going to be a strong temptation for the Administration to stick a few toes over the line (or even entire limbs). It probably makes sense for us to be vigilant about what OSHA and the White House are doing, with an eye towards seeking enforcement of the stay if necessary.
2. Administrative Record. It may be useful to seek production of the administrative record on a highly expedited basis, so that we could cite to it in our December 7 opposition briefs (or in supplemental briefing by December 10). DOJ will likely howl, but I suspect there may be a lot of good material in there for showing arbitrary and capricious decision-making, and they are the ones crying "emergency." The timetable here virtually ensures sloppiness in the administrative record, particularly as OSHA would have been focused on scrubbing the formal rule. Even if we don't get the record in time for the stay briefing in the Sixth Circuit, it may be very useful for subsequent merits briefing and/or Supreme Court applications.
3. Potential Discovery. It may also make sense to seek discovery here, principally depositions. Discovery of course used to be disfavored in APA cases, pre-Census case, and putatively still is somewhat disfavored. It may also be harder to get such discovery from a circuit court. But this case does have some uniquely strong evidence of pretext and naked political calculations that bely the official reasoning, and the deponents could easily crumble in a manner that would be very helpful.

Food for thought. Please let us know if it would be helpful to discuss by phone or email further.

Have a great Thanksgiving,
Drew

Charles, you are right about OSHAâ€™s intent to coerce people into taking the vaccine rather than submit to testing. And OSHA makes this explicit:

â€œAs mentioned above, requiring employers to pay for workplace protections makes it more likely that employees will take advantage of that protection, and in this ETS, OSHA intends to strongly encourage employees to choose vaccination, not regular COVID-19 testing. Because employees who choose to remain unvaccinated will generally be required to pay for their own COVID-19 testing, this standard creates a financial incentive for those employees to become fully vaccinated and avoid that cost.â€ See ETS at 61532.

Incidentally, OSHA also notes grudgingly that even the CDC recommends that asymptomatic people should be exempt from testing.

â€œIn contrast, the CDC recommends that fully vaccinated employees with no symptoms and no known exposure should be exempt from routine testing programs (CDC, May 4, 2021).â€ See ETS at 61529.

Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

To my mind, the cost of testing is one of the most insidious aspects of the ETS. Unlike every similar standard I can think of, the ETS allows employers to put the cost of testing on employees. I do not think this was an afterthought or an oversight. If it was an afterthought or oversight, then OSHA would most likely default to the standard provision placing cost on the employer. The testing alternative appears at first blush to be an escape valve, and I think OSHA does not want to disturb that first impression by drawing attention to the testing provision.

OSHA has good reason for wanting to avoid highlighting the testing alternative. Instead of an escape valve that offers a less restrictive alternative, the testing provision seems intentionally onerous and designed to coerce workers into â€œvoluntarilyâ€ vaccinating. While some states, like Louisiana, have statutes that prohibit employers from putting the cost of compliance on employees, this is not the case across the board. While the potential cost burden on employers would be substantial, most employees will simply not be able to afford the cost of testing over an extended period. Employees will cave and vaccinate rather than assume the cost of testing right before the Holidays, where money is already extremely tight for most households.

The testing â€œalternativeâ€ is the best example of a wolf in sheepâ€™s clothing that I have encountered in my career.

The rule has little to no analysis on the testing requirement because I think it was largely an afterthought. Assuming for the sake of argument that testing is a reasonable requirement in theory, in practice the volume of tests would be virtually impossible to conduct even if you could find the tests (which is impossible presently). It also would be very costly. Louisiana has a labor law that prohibits employers from imposing the costs of medical testing on an employee. (This does not directly conflict with the rule, as the rule only says OSHA isnâ€™t requiring that employers bear the cost.) Not sure other states have this rule. I have a memo on the 4th amendment implications of testing if you want it. --- From: Benjamin Flowers <Benjamin.Flowers@OhioAGO.gov> Sent: Tuesday, November 23, 2021 10:17 AM To: Ensign, Drew <Drew.Ensign@azag.gov>; Judd Stone <Judd.Stone@oag.texas.gov>; Murrill, Elizabeth <MurrillE@ag.louisiana.gov>; Joshua Richardson <Joshua.Richardson@OhioAGO.gov> Cc: Henry Whitaker <Henry.Whitaker@myfloridalegal.com>; Bowdre, Barrett < Barrett.Bowdre@alabamaag.gov>; cori.mills@alaska.gov; jessie.alloway@alaska.gov; ninia.dizon@alaska.gov; Roysden, Beau <Beau.Roysden@azag.gov>; Daniel Bell < Daniel.Bell@myfloridalegal.com>; James Percival <James.Percival@myfloridalegal.com>; Jeffrey DeSousa <Jeffrey.DeSousa@myfloridalegal.com>; Drew Waldbeser <DWaldbeser@law.ga.gov>; Ross Bergethon <RBergethon@law.ga.gov>; brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov; tom.fisher@atg.in.gov; kian.hudson@atg.in.gov; jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov; Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov; Chad.Meredith@ky.gov; Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov; St. John, Joseph <StJohnJ@ag.louisiana.gov>; Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov; Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov; Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov; john.sauer@ago.mo.gov; Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov; David.Dewhirst@mt.gov; Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov; Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov; Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov; wstenehjem@nd.gov; masagsve@nd.gov; tseibel@nd.gov; May Mailman <May.Mailman@OhioAGO.gov>; mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov; zach.west@oag.ok.gov; Emory Smith <ESmith@scag.gov>; HKirkland@scag.gov; BCook@scag.gov; ThomasHydrick@scag.gov; steven.blair@state.sd.us; Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us; Sarah K. Subject: Re: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

That approach works for Arizona. Multiple state briefs will probably annoy the court and diminish the impact of the individual ones. (I am admitted in the Sixth, and can sign for Arizona.)

On the merits, I am surprised that OSHA made the argument (at 46-48) for narrowing the stay if it is not vacated by leaving the mask-and-test requirement in place while staying the vaccination part. OSHA expressly calls that a "reasonably effective alternative." Mot.46.

It is difficult to understand how that is not a concession that the mask-and-test requirement can

Body	operate sufficiently without the vaccination component, and thus the latter is not actually "necessary" to prevent a "grave danger." OSHA's backup request essentially concedes the lack of necessity. Put simply, if an aspect of the rule is severable and the remainder still suffices (in DOJ's view) under the ETS standard, that aspect was never actually "necessary" to begin with. The Sixth Circuit will presumably issue a briefing schedule. Provided the States would like to stick together, the Sixth Circuit coalition is happy to lead the charge. Indeed, the en banc brief can be pretty quickly repurposed into an opposition to this stay request. One important point: the Sixth Circuit told us that, going forward, it will need signatures from each States or the filing State to say that it has permission to file for everyone. If you have someone admitted here, we can add the signature. If not, weâ€™re happy to sign the admission form for whomever would like to move. Just FYI, I am on all of the email lists for the vaccine cases. I have not responded to Mr. Flowersâ€™ email yet because I was waiting to see whether our 8th Circuit coalition was going to respond as a group, and because we have until Monday to respond. I had intended to let him know that I/we agreed with his approach.

Please let me know whether there is a problem with my responsiveness on these vaccine cases, and or whether you would like us to manage them differently.

Subject: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing - UPDATED

All,

Here is a revised version, which incorporates some changes from other States. Thanks to Georgia, South Carolina, and Texas for joining already.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.

The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least five reasons.

First , this lightning- speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.

Second , the proposed stay- schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHAâ€™s suggested stay- stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitionersâ€™ response period by five days, while expanding OSHAâ€™s reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2â€“3 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same.

Third , the merits- briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States , would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners will pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings , 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g. , Depâ€™t of Com. v. New York , 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019).

Fourth , the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id . The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.

Fifth , and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€”requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA , â€"F.4thâ€", 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€"though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Its motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.

OSHAâ€™s delay shows that the agency does not really think expediency is needed to protect employeesâ€™ lives; if it really believed that, it would have issued the Vaccine Mandate months ago, and filed for relief in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. If time is now short before the arbitrary deadline of January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame.

Here is an attached response. Itâ€™s very short, because there is not much to say. The sooner we can file the better. So please let me know if youâ€™d like to sign by Monday, November 29, at Noon Eastern. If I hear from everyone today, I can file today. For the convenience of those who are traveling, Iâ€™ve copied the fully text of the response into this email below.

Ben Flowers

P.S.: I reached out to counsel for the DOJ about the administrative record. I havenâ€™t heard back yet, hence the highlighting.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.

The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least four reasons.

First , this lightning- speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid- December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 8 6 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.

Second , the merits- briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States , would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners will pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings , 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g. , Dep't of Com. v. New York , 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019).

Third , the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id . The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.

Fourth , and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€”requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA , â€"F.4thâ€", 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€"though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Its motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.

OSHAâ€™s delay shows that the agency does not really think the Vaccine Mandate is needed to save lives; if it really believed that, it would have file in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. But put that aside. If there is an urgent need to ensure the Vaccine Mandate is in force by January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame.

All,

Happy Thanksgiving. (And go Bucks!)

After sleeping on it, I think it would be appropriate to file a very short opposition to the absurd briefing schedule the DOJ proposed. In that response, we can say that we plan to pursue discovery and the proposed schedule doesnâ€™t allow for that.

I will draft something Friday and send it around. It would be best to file Monday morning, I think. Let me know if you have any concerns.

COMMON INTEREST PRIVILEGE

Body

Hi all,

Now that we have a briefing schedule for the stay motions, I wanted to flag a few issues for potential discussion/action among our multi-state group.

1. Enforcement of the Stay. Given the briefing schedule, it is likely a safe assumption that the Fifth Circuit's stay will remain in force through at least December 10 when briefing wraps up. That period now includes the initial compliance date for businesses. The Fifth Circuit also ordered that OSHA "take no steps to implement or enforce the Mandate," and the Administration is unlikely to obtain the clarification they seek (at 51) of that before December 10. Given all of this, there is probably going to be a strong temptation for the Administration to stick a few toes over the line (or even entire limbs). It probably makes sense for us to be vigilant about what OSHA and the White House are doing, with an eye towards seeking enforcement of the stay if necessary.
2. Administrative Record. It may be useful to seek production of the administrative record on a highly expedited basis, so that we could cite to it in our December 7 opposition briefs (or in supplemental briefing by December 10). DOJ will likely howl, but I suspect there may be a lot of good material in there for showing arbitrary and capricious decision-making, and they are the ones crying "emergency." The timetable here virtually ensures sloppiness in the administrative record, particularly as OSHA would have been focused on scrubbing the formal rule. Even if we don't get the record in time for the stay briefing in the Sixth Circuit, it may be very useful for subsequent merits briefing and/or Supreme Court applications.
3. Potential Discovery. It may also make sense to seek discovery here, principally depositions. Discovery of course used to be disfavored in APA cases, pre-Census case, and putatively still is somewhat disfavored. It may also be harder to get such discovery from a circuit court. But this case does have some uniquely strong evidence of pretext and naked political calculations that bely the official reasoning, and the deponents could easily crumble in a manner that would be very helpful.

Food for thought. Please let us know if it would be helpful to discuss by phone or email further.

Have a great Thanksgiving,
Drew

Charles, you are right about OSHAâ€™s intent to coerce people into taking the vaccine rather than submit to testing. And OSHA makes this explicit:

âCœAs mentioned above, requiring employers to pay for workplace protections makes it more likely that employees will take advantage of that protection, and in this ETS, OSHA intends to strongly encourage employees to choose vaccination, not regular COVID-19 testing. Because employees who choose to remain unvaccinated will generally be required to pay for their own COVID-19 testing, this standard creates a financial incentive for those employees to become fully vaccinated and avoid that cost.â€ See ETS at 61532.

Incidentally, OSHA also notes grudgingly that even the CDC recommends that asymptomatic people should be exempt from testing.

âCœIn contrast, the CDC recommends that fully vaccinated employees with no symptoms and no known exposure should be exempt from routine testing programs (CDC, May 4, 2021).â€ See ETS at 61529.

Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

To my mind, the cost of testing is one of the most insidious aspects of the ETS. Unlike every similar standard I can think of, the ETS allows employers to put the cost of testing on employees. I do not think this was an afterthought or an oversight. If it was an afterthought or oversight, then OSHA would most likely default to the standard provision placing cost on the employer. The testing alternative appears at first blush to be an escape valve, and I think OSHA does not want to disturb that first impression by drawing attention to the testing provision.

OSHA has good reason for wanting to avoid highlighting the testing alternative. Instead of an escape valve that offers a less restrictive alternative, the testing provision seems intentionally onerous and designed to coerce workers into â€œvoluntarilyâ€ vaccinating. While some states, like Louisiana, have statutes that prohibit employers from putting the cost of compliance on employees, this is not the case across the board. While the potential cost burden on employers would be substantial, most employees will simply not be able to afford the cost of testing over an extended period. Employees will cave and vaccinate rather than assume the cost of testing right before the Holidays, where money is already extremely tight for most households.

The testing â€œalternativeâ€ is the best example of a wolf in sheepâ€™s clothing that I have encountered in my career.

I am also admitted in the 6th.

The rule has little to no analysis on the testing requirement because I think it was largely an afterthought.

Assuming for the sake of argument that testing is a reasonable requirement in theory, in practice the volume of tests would be virtually impossible to conduct even if you could find the tests (which is impossible presently).

It also would be very costly. Louisiana has a labor law that prohibits employers from imposing the costs of medical testing on an employee. (This does not directly conflict with the rule, as the rule only says OSHA isnâ€™t requiring that employers bear the cost.) Not sure other states have this rule.

I have a memo on the 4th amendment implications of testing if you want it.

That approach works for Arizona. Multiple state briefs will probably annoy the court and diminish the impact of the individual ones. (I am admitted in the Sixth, and can sign for Arizona.)

On the merits, I am surprised that OSHA made the argument (at 46-48) for narrowing the stay if it is not vacated by leaving the mask-and-test requirement in place while staying the vaccination part. OSHA expressly calls that a "reasonably effective alternative." Mot.46.

Body	It is difficult to understand how that is not a concession that the mask-and-test requirement can operate sufficiently without the vaccination component, and thus the latter is not actually "necessary" to prevent a "grave danger." OSHA's backup request essentially concedes the lack of necessity. Put simply, if an aspect of the rule is severable and the remainder still suffices (in DOJ's view) under the ETS standard, that aspect was never actually "necessary" to begin with. Just FYI, I am on all of the email lists for the vaccine cases. I have not responded to Mr. Flowersâ€™ email yet because I was waiting to see whether our 8th Circuit coalition was going to respond as a group, and because we have until Monday to respond. I had intended to let him know that I/we agreed with his approach.

Please let me know whether there is a problem with my responsiveness on these vaccine cases, and or whether you would like us to manage them differently.

Subject: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing - UPDATED

All,

Here is a revised version, which incorporates some changes from other States. Thanks to Georgia, South Carolina, and Texas for joining already.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.

The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least five reasons.

First , this lightning- speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.

Second , the proposed stay- schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHAâ€™s suggested stay- stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitionersâ€™ response period by five days, while expanding OSHAâ€™s reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2â€“3 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same.

Third , the merits- briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States , would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners will pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings , 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g. , Depâ€™t of Com. v. New York , 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019).

Fourth , the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id . The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.

Fifth , and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€”requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA , â€“F.4thâ€“, 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€“though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Its motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.

OSHAâ€™s delay shows that the agency does not really think expediency is needed to protect employeesâ€™ lives; if it really believed that, it would have issued the Vaccine Mandate months ago, and filed for relief in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. If time is now short before the arbitrary deadline of January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame.

P.S.: I reached out to counsel for the DOJ about the administrative record. I havenâ€™t heard back yet, hence the highlighting.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.

The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least four reasons.

First , this lightning- speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid- December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 8 6 Fed. Second , the merits- briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States , would not commit to providing it by any date. All,

Happy Thanksgiving. (And go Bucks!)

After sleeping on it, I think it would be appropriate to file a very short opposition to the absurd briefing schedule the DOJ proposed. In that response, we can say that we plan to pursue discovery and the proposed schedule doesnâ€™t allow for that.

I will draft something Friday and send it around. It would be best to file Monday morning, I think. Let me know if you have any concerns.

Hi all,

Now that we have a briefing schedule for the stay motions, I wanted to flag a few issues for potential discussion/action among our multi-state group.

1. Enforcement of the Stay. Given the briefing schedule, it is likely a safe assumption that the Fifth Circuit's stay will remain in force through at least December 10 when briefing wraps up. That period now includes the initial compliance date for businesses. The Fifth Circuit also ordered that OSHA "take no steps to implement or enforce the Mandate," and the Administration is unlikely to obtain the clarification they seek (at 51) of that before December 10. Given all of this, there is probably going to be a strong temptation for the Administration to stick a few toes over the line (or even entire limbs). It probably makes sense for us to be vigilant about what OSHA and the White House are doing, with an eye towards seeking enforcement of the stay if necessary.
2. Administrative Record. It may be useful to seek production of the administrative record on a highly expedited basis, so that we could cite to it in our December 7 opposition briefs (or in supplemental briefing by December 10). DOJ will likely howl, but I suspect there may be a lot of good material in there for showing arbitrary and capricious decision-making, and they are the ones crying "emergency." The timetable here virtually ensures sloppiness in the administrative record, particularly as OSHA would have been focused on scrubbing the formal rule. Even if we don't get the record in time for the stay briefing in the Sixth Circuit, it may be very useful for subsequent merits briefing and/or Supreme Court applications.
3. Potential Discovery. It may also make sense to seek discovery here, principally depositions. Discovery of course used to be disfavored in APA cases, pre-Census case, and putatively still is somewhat disfavored. It may also be harder to get such discovery from a circuit court. But this case does have some uniquely strong evidence of pretext and naked political calculations that bely the official reasoning, and the deponents could easily crumble in a manner that would be very helpful.

Food for thought. Please let us know if it would be helpful to discuss by phone or email further.

Have a great Thanksgiving,
Drew

Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

Charles, you are right about OSHAâ€™s intent to coerce people into taking the vaccine rather than submit to testing. And OSHA makes this explicit:

âCœAs mentioned above, requiring employers to pay for workplace protections makes it more likely that employees will take advantage of that protection, and in this ETS, OSHA intends to strongly encourage employees to choose vaccination, not regular COVID-19 testing. Because employees who choose to remain unvaccinated will generally be required to pay for their own COVID-19 testing, this standard creates a financial incentive for those employees to become fully vaccinated and avoid that cost.â€ See ETS at 61532.

Incidentally, OSHA also notes grudgingly that even the CDC recommends that asymptomatic people should be exempt from testing.

âCœIn contrast, the CDC recommends that fully vaccinated employees with no symptoms and no known exposure should be exempt from routine testing programs (CDC, May 4, 2021).â€ See ETS at 61529.

Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

To my mind, the cost of testing is one of the most insidious aspects of the ETS. Unlike every similar standard I can think of, the ETS allows employers to put the cost of testing on employees. I do not think this was an afterthought or an oversight. If it was an afterthought or oversight, then OSHA would most likely default to the standard provision placing cost on the employer. The testing alternative appears at first blush to be an escape valve, and I think OSHA does not want to disturb that first impression by drawing attention to the testing provision.

OSHA has good reason for wanting to avoid highlighting the testing alternative. Instead of an escape valve that offers a less restrictive alternative, the testing provision seems intentionally onerous and designed to coerce workers into â€œvoluntarilyâ€ vaccinating. While some states, like Louisiana, have statutes that prohibit employers from putting the cost of compliance on employees, this is not the case across the board. While the potential cost burden on employers would be substantial, most employees will simply not be able to afford the cost of testing over an extended period. Employees will cave and vaccinate rather than assume the cost of testing right before the Holidays, where money is already extremely tight for most households.

The testing â€œalternativeâ€ is the best example of a wolf in sheepâ€™s clothing that I have encountered in my career.

I am also admitted in the 6th.

The rule has little to no analysis on the testing requirement because I think it was largely an afterthought.

Assuming for the sake of argument that testing is a reasonable requirement in theory, in practice the volume of tests would be virtually impossible to conduct even if you could find the tests (which is impossible presently).

It also would be very costly. Louisiana has a labor law that prohibits employers from imposing the costs of medical testing on an employee. (This does not directly conflict with the rule, as the rule only says OSHA isnâ€™t requiring that employers bear the cost.) Not sure other states have this rule.

I have a memo on the 4th amendment implications of testing if you want it.

That approach works for Arizona. Multiple state briefs will probably annoy the court and diminish the impact of the individual ones. (I am admitted in the Sixth, and can sign for Arizona.)

On the merits, I am surprised that OSHA made the argument (at 46-48) for narrowing the stay if it is not vacated by leaving the mask-and-test requirement in place while staying the vaccination part. OSHA expressly calls that a "reasonably effective alternative." Mot.46.

Body	It is difficult to understand how that is not a concession that the mask-and-test requirement can operate sufficiently without the vaccination component, and thus the latter is not actually "necessary" to prevent a "grave danger." OSHA's backup request essentially concedes the lack of necessity. Put simply, if an aspect of the rule is severable and the remainder still suffices (in DOJ's view) under the ETS standard, that aspect was never actually "necessary" to begin with. The Sixth Circuit will presumably issue a briefing schedule. Provided the States would like to stick together, the Sixth Circuit coalition is happy to lead the charge. Indeed, the en banc brief can be pretty quickly repurposed into an opposition to this stay request. One important point: the Sixth Circuit told us that, going forward, it will need signatures from each States or the filing State to say that it has permission to file for everyone. If you have someone admitted here, we can add the signature. If not, weâ€™re happy to sign the admission form for whomever would like to move. Since I know many of you are also litigating the CMS vaccine mandate, I wanted to pass along the preliminary injunction order we just got from the Eastern District of Missouri. Weâ€™re still digesting this, but it appears that the judge limited the injunctionâ€™s scope to all Medicare and Medicaid providers in the 10 plaintiff states. Even so, the decision is solid, so hopefully, you all can use it in your respective cases.

Subject: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing - UPDATED

Thanks, everyone. We now have heard back from: Alabama, Arizona, Georgia, Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas Utah, and West Virginia. Here is the current draft, which contains some small changes suggested by the various States.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.

The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least five reasons.

First , this lightning- speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate would go into full effect. COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 8 6 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.

Second , the proposed stay- schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHAâ€™s suggested stay- stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitionersâ€™ response period by five days, while expanding OSHAâ€™s reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2â€“3 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same.

Third , the merits- briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States , would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners may need to pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings , 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g. , Depâ€™t of Com. v. New York , 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019).

Fourth , the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id . The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.

Fifth , and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€”requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA , â€˜F.4thâ€™, 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€”though it could have asked this Court to vacate the stay earlier, could have sought an expedited schedule before this Court at the same time, or could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Yet OSHAâ€™s eventual motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not even suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.

OSHAâ€™s delay suggests that the agency does not really think expediency is needed to protect employeesâ€™ lives; if it really believed that, it would have issued the Vaccine Mandate months ago, and filed for relief in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. If time is now short before the arbitrary deadline of January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. No one stopped the agency from filing an earlier motion to vacate, either. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame.

All,

Here is a revised version, which incorporates some changes from other States. Thanks to Georgia, South Carolina, and Texas for joining already.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its "Motion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing." That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHA's request to dissolve the Fifth Circuit's stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.
The Court should reject OSHA's motion in full, for at least five reasons.
First, this lightning-speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.
Second, the proposed stay-schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHA's suggested stay-stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitioners' response period by five days, while expanding OSHA's reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same.
Third, the merits-briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHA's administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States, would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners will pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHA's stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings, 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitioners' concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g., Dep't of Com. v. New York, 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019).
Fourth, the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court "to direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groups" and to require each group "to file a single brief." See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could "set a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves." Id. The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.
Fifth, and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an "emergency" standard "the "Vaccine Mandate"), requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA, 17 F.4th, 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stay—though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Its motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuit's stay did not suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.
OSHA's delay shows that the agency does not really think expediency is needed to protect employees' lives; if it really believed that, it would have issued the Vaccine Mandate months ago, and filed for relief in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuit's decision. If time is now short before the arbitrary deadline of January 4, it is only because of OSHA's sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHA's behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame.

Subject: Re: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

COMMON INTEREST PRIVILEGE

Hi all,

Now that we have a briefing schedule for the stay motions, I wanted to flag a few issues for potential discussion/action among our multi-state group.

1. Enforcement of the Stay. Given the briefing schedule, it is likely a safe assumption that the Fifth Circuit's stay will remain in force through at least December 10 when briefing wraps up. That period now includes the initial compliance date for businesses. The Fifth Circuit also ordered that OSHA "take no steps to implement or enforce the Mandate," and the Administration is unlikely to obtain the clarification they seek (at 51) of that before December 10. Given all of this, there is probably going to be a strong temptation for the Administration to stick a few toes over the line (or even entire limbs). It probably makes sense for us to be vigilant about what OSHA and the White House are doing, with an eye towards seeking enforcement of the stay if necessary.
2. Administrative Record. It may be useful to seek production of the administrative record on a highly expedited basis, so that we could cite to it in our December 7 opposition briefs (or in supplemental briefing by December 10). DOJ will likely howl, but I suspect there may be a lot of good material in there for showing arbitrary and capricious decision-making, and they are the ones crying "emergency." The timetable here virtually ensures sloppiness in the administrative record, particularly as OSHA would have been focused on scrubbing the formal rule. Even if we don't get the record in time for the stay briefing in the Sixth Circuit, it may be very useful for subsequent merits briefing and/or Supreme Court applications.
3. Potential Discovery. It may also make sense to seek discovery here, principally depositions. Discovery of course used to be disfavored in APA cases, pre-Census case, and putatively still is somewhat disfavored. It may also be harder to get such discovery from a circuit court. But this case does have some uniquely strong evidence of pretext and naked political calculations that bely the official reasoning, and the deponents could easily crumble in a manner that would be very helpful.

Food for thought. Please let us know if it would be helpful to discuss by phone or email further.

Have a great Thanksgiving,
Drew

Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

Charles, you are right about OSHAâ€™s intent to coerce people into taking the vaccine rather than submit to testing. And OSHA makes this explicit:

â€œAs mentioned above, requiring employers to pay for workplace protections makes it more likely that employees will take advantage of that protection, and in this ETS, OSHA intends to strongly encourage employees to choose vaccination, not regular COVID-19 testing. Because employees who choose to remain unvaccinated will generally be required to pay for their own COVID-19 testing, this standard creates a financial incentive for those employees to become fully vaccinated and avoid that cost.â€ See ETS at 61532.

Incidentally, OSHA also notes grudgingly that even the CDC recommends that asymptomatic people should be exempt from testing.

â€œIn contrast, the CDC recommends that fully vaccinated employees with no symptoms and no known exposure should be exempt from routine testing programs (CDC, May 4, 2021).â€ See ETS at 61529.

Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

To my mind, the cost of testing is one of the most insidious aspects of the ETS. Unlike every similar standard I can think of, the ETS allows employers to put the cost of testing on employees. I do not think this was an afterthought or an oversight. If it was an afterthought or oversight, then OSHA would most likely default to the standard provision placing cost on the employer. The testing alternative appears at first blush to be an escape valve, and I think OSHA does not want to disturb that first impression by drawing attention to the testing provision.

OSHA has good reason for wanting to avoid highlighting the testing alternative. Instead of an escape valve that offers a less restrictive alternative, the testing provision seems intentionally onerous and designed to coerce workers into â€œvoluntarilyâ€ vaccinating. While some states, like Louisiana, have statutes that prohibit employers from putting the cost of compliance on employees, this is not the case across the board. While the potential cost burden on employers would be substantial, most employees will simply not be able to afford the cost of testing over an extended period. Employees will cave and vaccinate rather than assume the cost of testing right before the Holidays, where money is already extremely tight for most households.

The testing â€œalternativeâ€ is the best example of a wolf in sheepâ€™s clothing that I have encountered in my career.

The rule has little to no analysis on the testing requirement because I think it was largely an afterthought. Assuming for the sake of argument that testing is a reasonable requirement in theory, in practice the volume of tests would be virtually impossible to conduct even if you could find the tests (which is impossible presently). It also would be very costly. Louisiana has a labor law that prohibits employers from imposing the costs of medical testing on an employee. (This does not directly conflict with the rule, as the rule only says OSHA isnâ€™t requiring that employers bear the cost.) Not sure other states have this rule. I have a memo on the 4th amendment implications of testing if you want it. Body	That approach works for Arizona. Multiple state briefs will probably annoy the court and diminish the impact of the individual ones. (I am admitted in the Sixth, and can sign for Arizona.) On the merits, I am surprised that OSHA made the argument (at 46-48) for narrowing the stay if it is not vacated by leaving the mask-and-test requirement in place while staying the vaccination part. OSHA expressly calls that a "reasonably effective alternative." Mot.46. It is difficult to understand how that is not a concession that the mask-and-test requirement can operate sufficiently without the vaccination component, and thus the latter is not actually "necessary" to prevent a "grave danger." OSHA's backup request essentially concedes the lack of necessity. Put simply, if an aspect of the rule is severable and the remainder still suffices (in DOJ's view) under the ETS standard, that aspect was never actually "necessary" to begin with. The Sixth Circuit will presumably issue a briefing schedule. Provided the States would like to stick together, the Sixth Circuit coalition is happy to lead the charge. Indeed, the en banc brief can be pretty quickly repurposed into an opposition to this stay request. One important point: the Sixth Circuit told us that, going forward, it will need signatures from each States or the filing State to say that it has permission to file for everyone. If you have someone admitted here, we can add the signature. If not, we'll be happy to sign the admission form for whomever would like to move. Since I know many of you are also litigating the CMS vaccine mandate. I wanted to pass along the preliminary injunction order we just got from the Eastern District of Missouri. Weâ€™re still digesting this, but it appears that the judge limited the injunctionâ€™s scope to all Medicare and Medicaid providers in the 10 plaintiff states. Even so, the decision is solid, so hopefully, you all can use it in your respective cases.

Subject: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing - UPDATED

Thanks, everyone. We now have heard back from: Alabama, Arizona, Georgia, Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas Utah, and West Virginia. Here is the current draft, which contains some small changes suggested by the various States.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.

The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least five reasons.

First , this lightning- speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate would go into full effect. COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 8 6 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.

Second , the proposed stay- schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHAâ€™s suggested stay- stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitionersâ€™ response period by five days, while expanding OSHAâ€™s reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2â€“3 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same.

Third , the merits- briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States , would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners may need to pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings , 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g. , Depâ€™t of Com. v. New York , 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019).

Fourth , the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id . The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.

Fifth , and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€”requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA , â€˜F.4thâ€™, 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€”though it could have asked this Court to vacate the stay earlier, could have sought an expedited schedule before this Court at the same time, or could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Yet OSHAâ€™s eventual motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not even suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.

OSHAâ€™s delay suggests that the agency does not really think expediency is needed to protect employeesâ€™ lives; if it really believed that, it would have issued the Vaccine Mandate months ago, and filed for relief in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. If time is now short before the arbitrary deadline of January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. No one stopped the agency from filing an earlier motion to vacate, either. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame.

Do not click links or open attachments unless you recognize the sender and know the content is safe. All, Here is a revised version, which incorporates some changes from other States. Thanks to Georgia, South Carolina, and Texas for joining already. At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29. The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least five reasons. First, this lightning-speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now. Second, the proposed stay-schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHAâ€™s suggested stay-stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitionersâ€™ response period by five days, while expanding OSHAâ€™s reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2â€“3 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same. Third, the merits-briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States, would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners will pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings, 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g., Depâ€™t of Com. v. New York, 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019). Fourth, the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id. The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€”though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately.
