The sooner we can file the better. So please let me know if youâ€™d like to sign by Monday, November 29, at Noon Eastern. If I hear from everyone today, I can file today. For the convenience of those who are traveling, Iâ€™ve copied the fully text of the response into this email below. Sincerely, Ben Flowers P.S.: I reached out to counsel for the DOI about the administrative record. I havenâ€™t heard back yet, hence the highlighting. At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29. The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least four reasons. First, this lightning-speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing: Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now. Second, the merits-briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States, would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners will pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings, 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g., Dep't of Com. v. New York, 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019). Third, the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: It gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single briefâ€. See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id. The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed. Fourth, and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€”requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA, â€“F.4th4â€“, 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€”though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Its motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks. OSHAâ€™s delay shows that the agency does not really think the Vaccine Mandate is needed to save lives; if it really believed that, it would have file in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. But put that aside. If there is an urgent need to ensure the Vaccine Mandate is in force by January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame. Subject: Re: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

COMMON INTEREST PRIVILEGE

Hi all,

Now that we have a briefing schedule for the stay motions, I wanted to flag a few issues for potential discussion/action among our multi-state group.

1. Enforcement of the Stay. Given the briefing schedule, it is likely a safe assumption that the Fifth Circuit's stay will remain in force through at least December 10 when briefing wraps up. That period now includes the initial compliance date for businesses. The Fifth Circuit also ordered that OSHA "take no steps to implement or enforce the Mandate," and the Administration is unlikely to obtain the clarification they seek (at 51) of that before December 10. Given all of this, there is probably going to be a strong temptation for the Administration to stick a few toes over the line (or even entire limbs). It probably makes sense for us to be vigilant about what OSHA and the White House are doing, with an eye towards seeking enforcement of the stay if necessary.
2. Administrative Record. It may be useful to seek production of the administrative record on a highly expedited basis, so that we could cite to it in our December 7 opposition briefs (or in supplemental briefing by December 10). DOJ will likely howl, but I suspect there may be a lot of good material in there for showing arbitrary and capricious decision-making, and they are the ones crying "emergency." The timetable here virtually ensures sloppiness in the administrative record, particularly as OSHA would have been focused on scrubbing the formal rule. Even if we don't get the record in time for the stay briefing in the Sixth Circuit, it may be very useful for subsequent merits briefing and/or Supreme Court applications.
3. Potential Discovery. It may also make sense to seek discovery here, principally depositions. Discovery of course used to be disfavored in APA cases, pre-Census case, and putatively still is somewhat disfavored. It may also be harder to get such discovery from a circuit court. But this case does have some uniquely strong evidence of pretext and naked political calculations that bely the official reasoning, and the deponents could easily crumble in a manner that would be very helpful.

Food for thought. Please let us know if it would be helpful to discuss by phone or email further.

Have a great Thanksgiving,
Drew

Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

Charles, you are right about OSHAâ€™s intent to coerce people into taking the vaccine rather than submit to testing. And OSHA makes this explicit:

â€œAs mentioned above, requiring employers to pay for workplace protections makes it more likely that employees will take advantage of that protection, and in this ETS, OSHA intends to strongly encourage employees to choose vaccination, not regular COVID-19 testing. Because employees who choose to remain unvaccinated will generally be required to pay for their own COVID-19 testing, this standard creates a financial incentive for those employees to become fully vaccinated and avoid that cost.â€ See ETS at 61532.

Incidentally, OSHA also notes grudgingly that even the CDC recommends that asymptomatic people should be exempt from testing.

â€œIn contrast, the CDC recommends that fully vaccinated employees with no symptoms and no known exposure should be exempt from routine testing programs (CDC, May 4, 2021).â€ See ETS at 61529.

Unlike every similar standard I can think of, the ETS allows employers to put the cost of testing on employees. I do not think this was an afterthought or an oversight. If it was an afterthought or oversight, then OSHA would most likely default to the standard provision placing cost on the employer. The testing alternative appears at first blush to be an escape valve, and I think OSHA does not want to disturb that first impression by drawing attention to the testing provision. OSHA has good reason for wanting to avoid highlighting the testing alternative. Instead of an escape valve that offers a less restrictive alternative, the testing provision seems intentionally onerous and designed to coerce workers into â€œvoluntarilyâ€ vaccinating. While some states, like Louisiana, have statutes that prohibit employers from putting the cost of compliance on employees, this is not the case across the board. While the potential cost burden on employers would be substantial, most employees will simply not be able to afford the cost of testing over an extended period. Employees will cave and vaccinate rather than assume the cost of testing right before the Holidays, where money is already extremely tight for most households. The testing â€œalternativeâ€ is the best example of a wolf in sheepâ€™s clothing that I have encountered in my career. Charles E. The rule has little to no analysis on the testing requirement because I think it was largely an afterthought. Assuming for the sake of argument that testing is a reasonable requirement in theory, in practice the volume of tests would be virtually impossible to conduct even if you could find the tests (which is impossible presently). It also would be very costly. Louisiana has a labor law that prohibits employers from imposing the costs of medical testing on an employee. (This does not directly conflict with the rule, as the rule only says OSHA isnâ€™t requiring that employers bear the cost.) Not sure other states have this rule. I have a memo on the 4th amendment implications of testing if you want it. Body	That approach works for Arizona. Multiple state briefs will probably annoy the court and diminish the impact of the individual ones. (I am admitted in the Sixth, and can sign for Arizona.) On the merits, I am surprised that OSHA made the argument (at 46-48) for narrowing the stay if it is not vacated by leaving the mask-and-test requirement in place while staying the vaccination part. OSHA expressly calls that a "reasonably effective alternative." Mot.46. It is difficult to understand how that is not a concession that the mask-and-test requirement can operate sufficiently without the vaccination component, and thus the latter is not actually "necessary" to prevent a "grave danger." OSHA's backup request essentially concedes the lack of necessity. Put simply, if an aspect of the rule is severable and the remainder still suffices (in DOJ's view) under the ETS standard, that aspect was never actually "necessary" to begin with. The Sixth Circuit will presumably issue a briefing schedule. Provided the States would like to stick together, the Sixth Circuit coalition is happy to lead the charge. Indeed, the en banc brief can be pretty quickly repurposed into an opposition to this stay request. One important point: the Sixth Circuit told us that, going forward, it will need signatures from each States or the filing State to say that it has permission to file for everyone. If you have someone admitted here, we can add the signature. If not, we'll be happy to sign the admission form for whomever would like to move. Since I know many of you are also litigating the CMS vaccine mandate, I wanted to pass along the preliminary injunction order we just got from the Eastern District of Missouri. Weâ€™re still digesting this, but it appears that the judge limited the injunctionâ€™s scope to all Medicare and Medicaid providers in the 10 plaintiff states. Even so, the decision is solid, so hopefully, you all can use it in your respective cases.

Subject: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing - UPDATED

Thanks, everyone. We now have heard back from: Alabama, Arizona, Georgia, Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas Utah, and West Virginia. Here is the current draft, which contains some small changes suggested by the various States.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to

Body	dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29. The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least five reasons. First , this lightning- speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate would go into full effect. COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 8 6 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now. Second , the proposed stay- schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHAâ€™s suggested stay- stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitionersâ€™ response period by five days, while expanding OSHAâ€™s reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2â€“3 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same. Third , the merits- briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States , would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners may need to pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings , 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g. , Depâ€™t of Com. v. New York , 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019). Fourth , the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id . The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed. Fifth , and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€”requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA , â€“F.4thâ€“, 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€“though it could have asked this Court to vacate the stay earlier, could have sought an expedited schedule before this Court at the same time, or could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Yet OSHAâ€™s eventual motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not even suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks. OSHAâ€™s delay suggests that the agency does not really think expediency is needed to protect employeesâ€™ lives; if it really believed that, it would have issued the Vaccine Mandate months ago, and filed for relief in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. If time is now short before the arbitrary deadline of January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. No one stopped the agency from filing an earlier motion to vacate, either. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame. All,

Here is a revised version, which incorporates some changes from other States. Thanks to Georgia, South Carolina, and Texas for joining already.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.
The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least five reasons.
First, this lightning-speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.
Second, the proposed stay-schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHAâ€™s suggested stay-stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitionersâ€™ response period by five days, while expanding OSHAâ€™s reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2â€“3 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same.
Third, the merits-briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States, would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners will pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings, 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g., Depâ€™t of Com. v. New York, 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019).
Fourth, the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id. The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.
Fifth, and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€”requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA, â€˜F.4th–â€™, 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€”though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Its motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.
OSHAâ€™s delay shows that the agency does not really think expediency is needed to protect employeesâ€™ lives; if it really believed that, it would have issued the Vaccine Mandate months ago, and filed for relief in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. If time is now short before the arbitrary deadline of January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. The sooner we can file the better. So please let me know if youâ€™d like to sign by Monday, November 29, at Noon Eastern. If I hear from everyone today, I can file today. For the convenience of those who are traveling, Iâ€™ve copied the fully text of the response into this email below. Sincerely, Ben Flowers P.S.: I reached out to counsel for the DOI about the administrative record. I havenâ€™t heard back yet, hence the highlighting. At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29. The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least four reasons. First, this lightning-speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now. Second, the merits-briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States, would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners will pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings, 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g., Dep't of Com. v. New York, 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019). Third, the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id. The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed. Fourth, and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€”requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA, â€"F.4th â€", 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€"though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Its motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks. OSHAâ€™s delay shows that the agency does not really think the Vaccine Mandate is needed to save lives; if it really believed that, it would have file in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. But put that aside. If there is an urgent need to ensure the Vaccine Mandate is in force by January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame. Williams < Michael.R.Williams@wvago.gov<mailto:Michael.R.Williams@wvago.gov>> Subject: Re: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing COMMON INTEREST PRIVILEGE Hi all, Now that we have a briefing schedule for the stay motions, I wanted to flag a few issues for potential discussion/action among our multi-state group. 1. Enforcement of the Stay. Given the briefing schedule, it is likely a safe assumption that the Fifth Circuit's stay will remain in force through at least December 10 when briefing wraps up. That period now includes the initial compliance date for businesses. The Fifth Circuit also ordered that OSHA "take no steps to implement or enforce the Mandate," and the Administration is unlikely to obtain the clarification they seek (at 51) of that before December 10. Given all of this, there is probably going to be a strong temptation for the Administration to stick a few toes over the line (or even entire limbs). It probably makes sense for us to be vigilant about what OSHA and the White House are doing, with an eye towards seeking enforcement of the stay if necessary. 2. Administrative Record. It may be useful to seek production of the administrative record on a highly expedited basis, so that we could cite to it in our December 7 opposition briefs (or in supplemental briefing by December 10). DOJ will likely howl, but I suspect there may be a lot of good material in there for showing arbitrary and capricious decision-making, and they are the ones crying "emergency." The timetable here virtually ensures sloppiness in the administrative record, particularly as OSHA would have been focused on scrubbing the formal rule. Even if we don't get the record in time for the stay briefing in the Sixth Circuit, it may be very useful for subsequent merits briefing and/or Supreme Court applications. 3. Potential Discovery. It may also make sense to seek discovery here, principally depositions. Discovery of course used to be disfavored in APA cases, pre-Census case, and putatively still is somewhat disfavored. It may also be harder to get such discovery from a circuit court. But this case does have some uniquely strong evidence of pretext and naked political calculations that bely the official reasoning, and the deponents could easily crumble in a manner that would be very helpful. Food for thought. Please let us know if it would be helpful to discuss by phone or email further. Have a great Thanksgiving. And OSHA makes this explicit: â€œAs mentioned above, requiring employers to pay for workplace protections makes it more likely that employees will take advantage of that protection, and in this ETS, OSHA intends to strongly encourage employees to choose vaccination, not regular COVID-19 testing. Because employees who choose to remain unvaccinated will generally be required to pay for their own COVID-19 testing, this standard creates a financial incentive for those employees to become fully vaccinated and avoid that cost.â€ See ETS at 61532. Incidentally, OSHA also notes grudgingly that even the CDC recommends that asymptomatic people should be exempt from testing. â€œIn contrast, the CDC recommends that fully vaccinated employees with no symptoms and no known exposure should be exempt from routine testing programs (CDC, May 4, 2021).â€ See ETS at 61529. Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

To my mind, the cost of testing is one of the most insidious aspects of the ETS. Unlike every similar standard I can think of, the ETS allows employers to put the cost of testing on employees. I do not think this was an afterthought or an oversight. If it was an afterthought or oversight, then OSHA would most likely default to the standard provision placing cost on the employer. The testing alternative appears at first blush to be an escape valve, and I think OSHA does not want to disturb that first impression by drawing attention to the testing provision.

OSHA has good reason for wanting to avoid highlighting the testing alternative. Instead of an escape valve that offers a less restrictive alternative, the testing provision seems intentionally onerous and designed to coerce workers into â€œvoluntarilyâ€ vaccinating. While some states, like Louisiana, have statutes that prohibit employers from putting the cost of compliance on employees, this is not the case across the board. While the potential cost burden on employers would be substantial, most employees will simply not be able to afford the cost of testing over an extended period. Employees will cave and vaccinate rather than assume the cost of testing right before the Holidays, where money is already extremely tight for most households.

The testing â€œalternativeâ€ is the best example of a wolf in sheepâ€™s clothing that I have encountered in my career.

The rule has little to no analysis on the testing requirement because I think it was largely an afterthought. Assuming for the sake of argument that testing is a reasonable requirement in theory, in practice the volume of tests would be virtually impossible to conduct even if you could find the tests (which is impossible presently). It also would be very costly. Louisiana has a labor law that prohibits employers from imposing the costs of medical testing on an employee. (This does not directly conflict with the rule, as the rule only says OSHA isnâ€™t requiring that employers bear the cost.) Not sure other states have this rule. I have a memo on the 4th amendment implications of testing if you want it. Body	Subject: Re: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing That approach works for Arizona. Multiple state briefs will probably annoy the court and diminish the impact of the individual ones. (I am admitted in the Sixth, and can sign for Arizona.) On the merits, I am surprised that OSHA made the argument (at 46-48) for narrowing the stay if it is not vacated by leaving the mask-and-test requirement in place while staying the vaccination part. OSHA expressly calls that a "reasonably effective alternative." Mot.46. It is difficult to understand how that is not a concession that the mask-and-test requirement can operate sufficiently without the vaccination component, and thus the latter is not actually "necessary" to prevent a "grave danger." OSHA's backup request essentially concedes the lack of necessity. Put simply, if an aspect of the rule is severable and the remainder still suffices (in DOJ's view) under the ETS standard, that aspect was never actually "necessary" to begin with. The Sixth Circuit will presumably issue a briefing schedule. Provided the States would like to stick together, the Sixth Circuit coalition is happy to lead the charge. Indeed, the en banc brief can be pretty quickly repurposed into an opposition to this stay request. One important point: the Sixth Circuit told us that, going forward, it will need signatures from each States or the filing State to say that it has permission to file for everyone. If you have someone admitted here, we can add the signature. If not, weâ€™re happy to sign the admission form for whomever would like to move. Since I know many of you are also litigating the CMS vaccine mandate, I wanted to pass along the preliminary injunction order we just got from the Eastern District of Missouri. Weâ€™re still digesting this, but it appears that the judge limited the injunctionâ€™s scope to all Medicare and Medicaid providers in the 10 plaintiff states. Even so, the decision is solid, so hopefully, you all can use it in your respective cases.

Subject: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing - UPDATED

Thanks, everyone. We now have heard back from: Alabama, Arizona, Georgia, Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas Utah, and West Virginia. Here is the current draft, which contains some small changes suggested by the various States.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to

Body	dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29. The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least five reasons. First , this lightning- speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate would go into full effect. COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 8 6 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now. Second , the proposed stay- schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHAâ€™s suggested stay- stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitionersâ€™ response period by five days, while expanding OSHAâ€™s reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2â€“3 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same. Third , the merits- briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States , would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners may need to pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings , 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g. , Depâ€™t of Com. v. New York , 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019). Fourth , the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id . The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed. Fifth , and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€”requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA , â€“F.4thâ€“, 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€“though it could have asked this Court to vacate the stay earlier, could have sought an expedited schedule before this Court at the same time, or could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Yet OSHAâ€™s eventual motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not even suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks. OSHAâ€™s delay suggests that the agency does not really think expediency is needed to protect employeesâ€™ lives; if it really believed that, it would have issued the Vaccine Mandate months ago, and filed for relief in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. If time is now short before the arbitrary deadline of January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. No one stopped the agency from filing an earlier motion to vacate, either. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame. The sooner we can file the better. So please let me know if youâ€™d like to sign by Monday, November 29, at Noon Eastern. If I hear from everyone today, I can file today. For the convenience of those who are traveling, Iâ€™ve copied the fully text of the response into this email below. Sincerely, Ben Flowers P.S.: I reached out to counsel for the DOI about the administrative record. I havenâ€™t heard back yet, hence the highlighting. At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29. The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least four reasons. First, this lightning-speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now. Second, the merits-briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States, would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners will pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings, 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g., Dep't of Com. v. New York, 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019). Third, the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id. The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed. Fourth, and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€”requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA, â€“F.4th â€“, 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€”though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Its motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks. OSHAâ€™s delay shows that the agency does not really think the Vaccine Mandate is needed to save lives; if it really believed that, it would have file in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. But put that aside. If there is an urgent need to ensure the Vaccine Mandate is in force by January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame. Williams < Michael.R.Williams@wvago.gov<mailto:Michael.R.Williams@wvago.gov>> Subject: Re: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing COMMON INTEREST PRIVILEGE Hi all, Now that we have a briefing schedule for the stay motions, I wanted to flag a few issues for potential discussion/action among our multi-state group. 1. Enforcement of the Stay. Given the briefing schedule, it is likely a safe assumption that the Fifth Circuit's stay will remain in force through at least December 10 when briefing wraps up. That period now includes the initial compliance date for businesses. The Fifth Circuit also ordered that OSHA "take no steps to implement or enforce the Mandate," and the Administration is unlikely to obtain the clarification they seek (at 51) of that before December 10. Given all of this, there is probably going to be a strong temptation for the Administration to stick a few toes over the line (or even entire limbs). It probably makes sense for us to be vigilant about what OSHA and the White House are doing, with an eye towards seeking enforcement of the stay if necessary. 2. Administrative Record. It may be useful to seek production of the administrative record on a highly expedited basis, so that we could cite to it in our December 7 opposition briefs (or in supplemental briefing by December 10). DOJ will likely howl, but I suspect there may be a lot of good material in there for showing arbitrary and capricious decision-making, and they are the ones crying "emergency." The timetable here virtually ensures sloppiness in the administrative record, particularly as OSHA would have been focused on scrubbing the formal rule. Even if we don't get the record in time for the stay briefing in the Sixth Circuit, it may be very useful for subsequent merits briefing and/or Supreme Court applications. 3. Potential Discovery. It may also make sense to seek discovery here, principally depositions. Discovery of course used to be disfavored in APA cases, pre-Census case, and putatively still is somewhat disfavored. It may also be harder to get such discovery from a circuit court. But this case does have some uniquely strong evidence of pretext and naked political calculations that bely the official reasoning, and the deponents could easily crumble in a manner that would be very helpful. Food for thought. Please let us know if it would be helpful to discuss by phone or email further. And OSHA makes this explicit: â€œAs mentioned above, requiring employers to pay for workplace protections makes it more likely that employees will take advantage of that protection, and in this ETS, OSHA intends to strongly encourage employees to choose vaccination, not regular COVID-19 testing. Because employees who choose to remain unvaccinated will generally be required to pay for their own COVID-19 testing, this standard creates a financial incentive for those employees to become fully vaccinated and avoid that cost.â€ See ETS at 61532. Incidentally, OSHA also notes grudgingly that even the CDC recommends that asymptomatic people should be exempt from testing. â€œIn contrast, the CDC recommends that fully vaccinated employees with no symptoms and no known exposure should be exempt from routine testing programs (CDC, May 4, 2021).â€ See ETS at 61529. Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

To my mind, the cost of testing is one of the most insidious aspects of the ETS. Unlike every similar standard I can think of, the ETS allows employers to put the cost of testing on employees. I do not think this was an afterthought or an oversight. If it was an afterthought or oversight, then OSHA would most likely default to the standard provision placing cost on the employer. The testing alternative appears at first blush to be an escape valve, and I think OSHA does not want to disturb that first impression by drawing attention to the testing provision.

OSHA has good reason for wanting to avoid highlighting the testing alternative. Instead of an escape valve that offers a less restrictive alternative, the testing provision seems intentionally onerous and designed to coerce workers into â€œvoluntarilyâ€ vaccinating. While some states, like Louisiana, have statutes that prohibit employers from putting the cost of compliance on employees, this is not the case across the board. While the potential cost burden on employers would be substantial, most employees will simply not be able to afford the cost of testing over an extended period. Employees will cave and vaccinate rather than assume the cost of testing right before the Holidays, where money is already extremely tight for most households.

The testing â€œalternativeâ€ is the best example of a wolf in sheepâ€™s clothing that I have encountered in my career.

The rule has little to no analysis on the testing requirement because I think it was largely an afterthought. Assuming for the sake of argument that testing is a reasonable requirement in theory, in practice the volume of tests would be virtually impossible to conduct even if you could find the tests (which is impossible presently). It also would be very costly. Louisiana has a labor law that prohibits employers from imposing the costs of medical testing on an employee. (This does not directly conflict with the rule, as the rule only says OSHA isn't requiring that employers bear the cost.) Not sure other states have this rule. I have a memo on the 4th amendment implications of testing if you want it. Body	Subject: Re: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing That approach works for Arizona. Multiple state briefs will probably annoy the court and diminish the impact of the individual ones. (I am admitted in the Sixth, and can sign for Arizona.) On the merits, I am surprised that OSHA made the argument (at 46-48) for narrowing the stay if it is not vacated by leaving the mask-and-test requirement in place while staying the vaccination part. OSHA expressly calls that a "reasonably effective alternative." Mot.46. It is difficult to understand how that is not a concession that the mask-and-test requirement can operate sufficiently without the vaccination component, and thus the latter is not actually "necessary" to prevent a "grave danger." OSHA's backup request essentially concedes the lack of necessity. Put simply, if an aspect of the rule is severable and the remainder still suffices (in DOJ's view) under the ETS standard, that aspect was never actually "necessary" to begin with. The Sixth Circuit will presumably issue a briefing schedule. Provided the States would like to stick together, the Sixth Circuit coalition is happy to lead the charge. Indeed, the en banc brief can be pretty quickly repurposed into an opposition to this stay request. One important point: the Sixth Circuit told us that, going forward, it will need signatures from each States or the filing State to say that it has permission to file for everyone. If you have someone admitted here, we can add the signature. If not, weâ€™re happy to sign the admission form for whomever would like to move. Since I know many of you are also litigating the CMS vaccine mandate, I wanted to pass along the preliminary injunction order we just got from the Eastern District of Missouri. Weâ€™re still digesting this, but it appears that the judge limited the injunctionâ€™s scope to all Medicare and Medicaid providers in the 10 plaintiff states. Even so, the decision is solid, so hopefully, you all can use it in your respective cases.

Subject: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing - UPDATED

Thanks, everyone. We now have heard back from: Alabama, Arizona, Georgia, Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas Utah, and West Virginia. Here is the current draft, which contains some small changes suggested by the various States.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.

The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least five reasons.

First , this lightning- speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate would go into full effect. COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 8 6 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.

Second , the proposed stay- schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHAâ€™s suggested stay- stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitionersâ€™ response period by five days, while expanding OSHAâ€™s reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2â€“3 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same.

Third , the merits- briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States , would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners may need to pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings , 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g. , Depâ€™t of Com. v. New York , 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019).

Fourth , the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id . The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.

Fifth , and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€”requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA , â€“F.4thâ€“, 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€“though it could have asked this Court to vacate the stay earlier, could have sought an expedited schedule before this Court at the same time, or could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Yet OSHAâ€™s eventual motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not even suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.

OSHAâ€™s delay suggests that the agency does not really think expediency is needed to protect employeesâ€™ lives; if it really believed that, it would have issued the Vaccine Mandate months ago, and filed for relief in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. If time is now short before the arbitrary deadline of January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. No one stopped the agency from filing an earlier motion to vacate, either. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame.

Here is a revised version, which incorporates some changes from other States. Thanks to Georgia, South Carolina, and Texas for joining already.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.
The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least five reasons.
First, this lightning-speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.
Second, the proposed stay-schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHAâ€™s suggested stay-stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitionersâ€™ response period by five days, while expanding OSHAâ€™s reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2â€“3 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same.
Third, the merits-briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States, would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners will pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings, 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g., Depâ€™t of Com. v. New York, 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019).
Fourth, the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single briefâ€. See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id. The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.
Fifth, and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccinate&Testâ€ requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA, â€˜F.4th â€˜, 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€”though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Its motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.
OSHAâ€™s delay shows that the agency does not really think expediency is needed to protect employeesâ€™ lives; if it really believed that, it would have issued the Vaccine Mandate months ago, and filed for relief in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. If time is now short before the arbitrary deadline of January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame.

Subject: Re: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

COMMON INTEREST PRIVILEGE

Hi all,

Now that we have a briefing schedule for the stay motions, I wanted to flag a few issues for potential discussion/action among our multi-state group.

1. Enforcement of the Stay. Given the briefing schedule, it is likely a safe assumption that the Fifth Circuit's stay will remain in force through at least December 10 when briefing wraps up. That period now includes the initial compliance date for businesses. The Fifth Circuit also ordered that OSHA "take no steps to implement or enforce the Mandate," and the Administration is unlikely to obtain the clarification they seek (at S1) of that before December 10. Given all of this, there is probably going to be a strong temptation for the Administration to stick a few toes over the line (or even entire limbs). It probably makes sense for us to be vigilant about what OSHA and the White House are doing, with an eye towards seeking enforcement of the stay if necessary.
2. Administrative Record. It may be useful to seek production of the administrative record on a highly expedited basis, so that we could cite to it in our December 7 opposition briefs (or in supplemental briefing by December 10). DOJ will likely howl, but I suspect there may be a lot of good material in there for showing arbitrary and capricious decision-making, and they are the ones crying "emergency." The timetable here virtually ensures sloppiness in the administrative record, particularly as OSHA would have been focused on scrubbing the formal rule. Even if we don't get the record in time for the stay briefing in the Sixth Circuit, it may be very useful for subsequent merits briefing and/or Supreme Court applications.
3. Potential Discovery. It may also make sense to seek discovery here, principally depositions. Discovery of course used to be disfavored in APA cases, pre-Census case, and putatively still is somewhat disfavored. It may also be harder to get such discovery from a circuit court. But this case does have some uniquely strong evidence of pretext and naked political calculations that bely the official reasoning, and the deponents could easily crumble in a manner that would be very helpful.

Food for thought. Please let us know if it would be helpful to discuss by phone or email further.

Have a great Thanksgiving,
Drew

Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

Charles, you are right about OSHAâ€™s intent to coerce people into taking the vaccine rather than submit to testing. And OSHA makes this explicit:

â€œAs mentioned above, requiring employers to pay for workplace protections makes it more likely that employees will take advantage of that protection, and in this ETS, OSHA intends to strongly encourage employees to choose vaccination, not regular COVID-19 testing. Because employees who choose to remain unvaccinated will generally be required to pay for their own COVID-19 testing, this standard creates a financial incentive for those employees to become fully vaccinated and avoid that cost.â€ See ETS at 61532.

Incidentally, OSHA also notes grudgingly that even the CDC recommends that asymptomatic people should be exempt from testing.

â€œIn contrast, the CDC recommends that fully vaccinated employees with no symptoms and no known exposure should be exempt from routine testing programs (CDC, May 4, 2021).â€ See ETS at 61529.

Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

To my mind, the cost of testing is one of the most insidious aspects of the ETS. Unlike every similar standard I can think of, the ETS allows employers to put the cost of testing on employees. I do not think this was an afterthought or an oversight. If it was an afterthought or oversight, then OSHA would most likely default to the standard provision placing cost on the employer. The testing alternative appears at first blush to be an escape valve, and I think OSHA does not want to disturb that first impression by drawing attention to the testing provision.

OSHA has good reason for wanting to avoid highlighting the testing alternative. Instead of an escape valve that offers a less restrictive alternative, the testing provision seems intentionally onerous and designed to coerce workers into â€œvoluntarilyâ€ vaccinating. While some states, like Louisiana, have statutes that prohibit employers from putting the cost of compliance on employees, this is not the case across the board. While the potential cost burden on employers would be substantial, most employees will simply not be able to afford the cost of testing over an extended period. Employees will cave and vaccinate rather than assume the cost of testing right before the Holidays, where money is already extremely tight for most households.

The testing â€œalternativeâ€ is the best example of a wolf in sheepâ€™s clothing that I have encountered in my career.

The rule has little to no analysis on the testing requirement because I think it was largely an afterthought. Assuming for the sake of argument that testing is a reasonable requirement in theory, in practice the volume of tests would be virtually impossible to conduct even if you could find the tests (which is impossible presently). It also would be very costly. Louisiana has a labor law that prohibits employers from imposing the costs of medical testing on an employee. (This does not directly conflict with the rule, as the rule only says OSHA isn&â€™t requiring that employers bear the cost.) Not sure other states have this rule. I have a memo on the 4th amendment implications of testing if you want it. Body	mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov<mailto:mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov> Subject: Re: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing That approach works for Arizona. Multiple state briefs will probably annoy the court and diminish the impact of the individual ones. (I am admitted in the Sixth, and can sign for Arizona.) On the merits, I am surprised that OSHA made the argument (at 46-48) for narrowing the stay if it is not vacated by leaving the mask-and-test requirement in place while staying the vaccination part. OSHA expressly calls that a "reasonably effective alternative." Mot.46. It is difficult to understand how that is not a concession that the mask-and-test requirement can operate sufficiently without the vaccination component, and thus the latter is not actually "necessary" to prevent a "grave danger." OSHA's backup request essentially concedes the lack of necessity. Put simply, if an aspect of the rule is severable and the remainder still suffices (in DOJ's view) under the ETS standard, that aspect was never actually "necessary" to begin with. The Sixth Circuit will presumably issue a briefing schedule. Provided the States would like to stick together, the Sixth Circuit coalition is happy to lead the charge. Indeed, the en banc brief can be pretty quickly repurposed into an opposition to this stay request. One important point: the Sixth Circuit told us that, going forward, it will need signatures from each States or the filing State to say that it has permission to file for everyone. If you have someone admitted here, we can add the signature. If not, we'll be happy to sign the admission form for whomever would like to move. Since I know many of you are also litigating the CMS vaccine mandate, I wanted to pass along the preliminary injunction order we just got from the Eastern District of Missouri. Weâ€™re still digesting this, but it appears that the judge limited the injunctionâ€™s scope to all Medicare and Medicaid providers in the 10 plaintiff states. Even so, the decision is solid, so hopefully, you all can use it in your respective cases.

current draft, which contains some small changes suggested by the various States.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.

The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least five reasons.

First , this lightning- speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate would go into full effect. COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 8 6 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.

Second , the proposed stay- schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHAâ€™s suggested stay- stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitionersâ€™ response period by five days, while expanding OSHAâ€™s reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2â€“3 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same.

Third , the merits- briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States , would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners may need to pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings , 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g. , Depâ€™t of Com. v. New York , 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019).

Fourth , the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single brief.â€ See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id . The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.

Fifth , and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccine Mandateâ€â€”requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID- 19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard , 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA , â€“F.4thâ€“, 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€“though it could have asked this Court to vacate the stay earlier, could have sought an expedited schedule before this Court at the same time, or could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Yet OSHAâ€™s eventual motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not even suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.

OSHAâ€™s delay suggests that the agency does not really think expediency is needed to protect employeesâ€™ lives; if it really believed that, it would have issued the Vaccine Mandate months ago, and filed for relief in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. If time is now short before the arbitrary deadline of January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. No one stopped the agency from filing an earlier motion to vacate, either. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame.

All,

Here is a revised version, which incorporates some changes from other States. Thanks to Georgia, South Carolina, and Texas for joining already.

At 4:05 PM on the day before Thanksgiving, and without any consultation with Petitioners, OSHA filed its â€œMotion to Amend Schedule for Stay Briefing and to Set Schedule for Merits Briefing.â€ That motion proposes a schedule that would require the parties to fully brief, by December 6, OSHAâ€™s request to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay. Further, the schedule would require the parties to fully brief the case on the merits by December 29.
The Court should reject OSHAâ€™s motion in full, for at least five reasons.
First, this lightning-speed approach to these issues is unnecessary. The current schedule allows this Court to either vacate the stay, or not, by mid-December. That will leave the parties with ample time to ask the Supreme Court to either reinstate or vacate the stay before January 4, which is the date on which the Vaccine Mandate will go into full effect. COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61551 (Nov. 5, 2021). If OSHA is not content to wait a few weeks for a ruling on its motion to dissolve the stay, it can go to the Supreme Court now.
Second, the proposed stay-schedule is inequitable. The burdens of OSHAâ€™s suggested stay-stage briefing schedule would fall exclusively on the petitioners: the proposed schedule shortens the petitionersâ€™ response period by five days, while expanding OSHAâ€™s reply period from three days to four. Compare Mt. to Amend Briefing Schedule, Doc. 131 at 2â€“3 with Scheduling Order, Doc. 141. If OSHA is going to demand that everyone else move faster, it should at least be willing to do the same.
Third, the merits-briefing schedule that OSHA proposes will not allow for full development of the issues before this Court. In this challenge to OSHAâ€™s administrative action, the petitioners are entitled to a complete administrative record. OSHA has yet to provide that record and, in conversations with counsel for the States, would not commit to providing it by any date. Depending on what the administrative record says, the petitioners will pursue discovery. Here, public statements from federal officials suggest that OSHAâ€™s stated reasons for promulgating the Vaccine Mandate are pretextual. See BST Holdings, 2021 WL 5279381 at *5. If the administrative record does not adequately account for the petitionersâ€™ concerns regarding pretext, the petitioners will pursue, and will likely be entitled to, discovery. See, e.g., Depâ€™t of Com. v. New York, 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2574 (2019).
Fourth, the proposed schedule is impractical for another reason: it gives the petitioners almost no time to coordinate their filings with this Court. OSHA asks this Court â€œto direct the petitioners to organize themselves into groupsâ€ and to require each group â€œto file a single briefâ€. See Motion to Amend Schedule at 3. Alternatively, it says, the Court could â€œset a total word limit and allow petitioners to divide that total briefing among themselves.â€ Id. The petitioners have no objection to this method of proceeding. But it is not feasible for the many petitioners in this case to confer and come to an agreement in time to file opening merits briefs by the December 8 due date that OSHA has proposed.
Fifth, and perhaps most importantly, OSHA should not be able to demand expedition in order to resolve an emergency of its own making. OSHA waited almost a year after vaccines became available to the public before issuing an â€œemergencyâ€ standardâ€”the â€œVaccinate&Testâ€ requiring American workers to either vaccinate themselves or pay for expensive, weekly testing. See COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard, 86 Fed. Reg. 61402, 61554 (Nov. 5, 2021). After the Fifth Circuit stayed enforcement of the Vaccine Mandate, BST Holdings, L.L.C. v. OSHA, â€˜F.4th â€˜, 2021 WL 5279381, at *1 (5th Cir. Nov. 12, 2021), OSHA waited a full eleven days before seeking relief from that stayâ€”though it could have gone to the Supreme Court immediately. Its motion to dissolve the Fifth Circuitâ€™s stay did not suggest any briefing schedule. Then, after moving to dissolve the stay, OSHA waited until 4:00 PM on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving to move to expedite the resolution of its motion to vacate and to propose a schedule under which merits briefing must be completed in a matter of weeks.
OSHAâ€™s delay shows that the agency does not really think expediency is needed to protect employeesâ€™ lives; if it really believed that, it would have issued the Vaccine Mandate months ago, and filed for relief in the Supreme Court within hours of the Fifth Circuitâ€™s decision. If time is now short before the arbitrary deadline of January 4, it is only because of OSHAâ€™s sloth. No one stopped OSHA from issuing the Vaccine Mandate sooner, allowing more time for judicial review. And no one stopped the Solicitor General from seeking immediate relief at the Supreme Court on OSHAâ€™s behalf. If matters are now progressing more slowly than OSHA would like, it has only itself to blame.

Subject: Re: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

COMMON INTEREST PRIVILEGE

Hi all,

Now that we have a briefing schedule for the stay motions, I wanted to flag a few issues for potential discussion/action among our multi-state group.

1. Enforcement of the Stay. Given the briefing schedule, it is likely a safe assumption that the Fifth Circuit's stay will remain in force through at least December 10 when briefing wraps up. That period now includes the initial compliance date for businesses. The Fifth Circuit also ordered that OSHA "take no steps to implement or enforce the Mandate," and the Administration is unlikely to obtain the clarification they seek (at 51) of that before December 10. Given all of this, there is probably going to be a strong temptation for the Administration to stick a few toes over the line (or even entire limbs). It probably makes sense for us to be vigilant about what OSHA and the White House are doing, with an eye towards seeking enforcement of the stay if necessary.
2. Administrative Record. It may be useful to seek production of the administrative record on a highly expedited basis, so that we could cite to it in our December 7 opposition briefs (or in supplemental briefing by December 10). DOJ will likely howl, but I suspect there may be a lot of good material in there for showing arbitrary and capricious decision-making, and they are the ones crying "emergency." The timetable here virtually ensures sloppiness in the administrative record, particularly as OSHA would have been focused on scrubbing the formal rule. Even if we don't get the record in time for the stay briefing in the Sixth Circuit, it may be very useful for subsequent merits briefing and/or Supreme Court applications.
3. Potential Discovery. It may also make sense to seek discovery here, principally depositions. Discovery of course used to be disfavored in APA cases, pre-Census case, and putatively still is somewhat disfavored. It may also be harder to get such discovery from a circuit court. But this case does have some uniquely strong evidence of pretext and naked political calculations that bely the official reasoning, and the deponents could easily crumble in a manner that would be very helpful.

Food for thought. Please let us know if it would be helpful to discuss by phone or email further.

Have a great Thanksgiving,
Drew

Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

Charles, you are right about OSHAâ€™s intent to coerce people into taking the vaccine rather than submit to testing. And OSHA makes this explicit:

â€œAs mentioned above, requiring employers to pay for workplace protections makes it more likely that employees will take advantage of that protection, and in this ETS, OSHA intends to strongly encourage employees to choose vaccination, not regular COVID-19 testing. Because employees who choose to remain unvaccinated will generally be required to pay for their own COVID-19 testing, this standard creates a financial incentive for those employees to become fully vaccinated and avoid that cost.â€ See ETS at 61532.

Incidentally, OSHA also notes grudgingly that even the CDC recommends that asymptomatic people should be exempt from testing.

â€œIn contrast, the CDC recommends that fully vaccinated employees with no symptoms and no known exposure should be exempt from routine testing programs (CDC, May 4, 2021).â€ See ETS at 61529.

Subject: RE: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing

To my mind, the cost of testing is one of the most insidious aspects of the ETS. Unlike every similar standard I can think of, the ETS allows employers to put the cost of testing on employees. I do not think this was an afterthought or an oversight. If it was an afterthought or oversight, then OSHA would most likely default to the standard provision placing cost on the employer. The testing alternative appears at first blush to be an escape valve, and I think OSHA does not want to disturb that first impression by drawing attention to the testing provision.

OSHA has good reason for wanting to avoid highlighting the testing alternative. Instead of an escape valve that offers a less restrictive alternative, the testing provision seems intentionally onerous and designed to coerce workers into â€œvoluntarilyâ€ vaccinating. While some states, like Louisiana, have statutes that prohibit employers from putting the cost of compliance on employees, this is not the case across the board. While the potential cost burden on employers would be substantial, most employees will simply not be able to afford the cost of testing over an extended period. Employees will cave and vaccinate rather than assume the cost of testing right before the Holidays, where money is already extremely tight for most households.

The testing â€œalternativeâ€ is the best example of a wolf in sheepâ€™s clothing that I have encountered in my career.

The rule has little to no analysis on the testing requirement because I think it was largely an afterthought. Assuming for the sake of argument that testing is a reasonable requirement in theory, in practice the volume of tests would be virtually impossible to conduct even if you could find the tests (which is impossible presently). It also would be very costly. Louisiana has a labor law that prohibits employers from imposing the costs of medical testing on an employee. (This does not directly conflict with the rule, as the rule only says OSHA isn&â€™t requiring that employers bear the cost.) Not sure other states have this rule. I have a memo on the 4th amendment implications of testing if you want it. Body	mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov<mailto:mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov> Subject: Re: OHSA - Stay-Stage Briefing That approach works for Arizona. Multiple state briefs will probably annoy the court and diminish the impact of the individual ones. (I am admitted in the Sixth, and can sign for Arizona.) On the merits, I am surprised that OSHA made the argument (at 46-48) for narrowing the stay if it is not vacated by leaving the mask-and-test requirement in place while staying the vaccination part. OSHA expressly calls that a "reasonably effective alternative." Mot.46. It is difficult to understand how that is not a concession that the mask-and-test requirement can operate sufficiently without the vaccination component, and thus the latter is not actually "necessary" to prevent a "grave danger." OSHA's backup request essentially concedes the lack of necessity. Put simply, if an aspect of the rule is severable and the remainder still suffices (in DOJ's view) under the ETS standard, that aspect was never actually "necessary" to begin with. The Sixth Circuit will presumably issue a briefing schedule. Provided the States would like to stick together, the Sixth Circuit coalition is happy to lead the charge. Indeed, the en banc brief can be pretty quickly repurposed into an opposition to this stay request. One important point: the Sixth Circuit told us that, going forward, it will need signatures from each States or the filing State to say that it has permission to file for everyone. If you have someone admitted here, we can add the signature. If not, we'll be happy to sign the admission form for whomever would like to move. Dear friends,

I am writing today regarding your position of service on the University of North Dakota School of Medicine and Health Sciences Advisory Council.

You may be aware that I spent the better part of two years working with a consortium of three large national law firms assisting them with opioid litigation outreach here in North Dakota. My role in the process was to arrange presentations before county commissions, city commissions and councils, the North Dakota Association of

Body	Counties, the North Dakota League of Cities and Attorney General Wayne Stenejhem. We were very successful in our effort to demonstrate to North Dakota counties and cities the wisdom in pursuing their own cases. The law firms represent North Dakota clients on a contingency basis at a recovery percentage that is quite modest. Twenty-six North Dakota counties and three cities signed on as litigants with our group. The consortium I represented included the following firms: Fears Nachawati, Ferrer Poirot Wansbrough, and Motley Rice. These are all large, nationally recognized and highly-respected law firms. When considering whether I should help this group in North Dakota, I was agreeable to do so after being given strict assurances that the litigation they would be pursuing would not target medical providers or hospitals and would instead be focused on opioid manufacturers, distributors, and large national chain pharmacies. They have stayed true to their word with me. They also assured me that they would be focusing on recovering financial damages that had been incurred by their clients as a direct result of the opioid crisis. Further, they have been unwavering in their focus on recovering resources to provide abatement of the problem and ongoing treatment for our citizens suffering from opioid addiction and abuse. Given your position on the Advisory Council and your work in the Legislature, you certainly know that North Dakota was not immune to losing many lives-and great suffering for others-from opioid abuse. In one small low population North Dakota county where I testified before the county commission, the sheriff also testified and said the county had four relatively recent overdose deaths. Throughout the entire process, Attorney General Stenehjem has advised North Dakota political subdivisions that they should not file their own cases and should leave the litigation entirely in the hands of the State. That advice from the AG's office is continuing to this day with outreach communications coming from his office, asking current litigants to opt into the settlements and allow the State to control the proceeds. Our attorneys are advising against that action at this time. There has already been an idea adopted in the State of Mississippi that deserves study and consideration here in North Dakota as a sensible compromise for the disbursement of funds that will result from the settlements. In that Mississippi model, the University of Mississippi Medical Center's Center for Addiction Medicine will receive an allocation of 70% of the settlement funds and dedicate that funding to providing opioid addiction abatement and treatment programs. Whether it is here in North Dakota or in Mississippi, smaller rural counties typically do not have the resources on their own to launch such efforts. The UND SMHS appears to already have in place an extensive outreach program throughout the state as detailed here: https://med.und.edu/service/index.html With the considerable resources that would become available under such an agreement, those entities might be the ideal avenue to help North Dakota citizens in need. I have attached the Mississippi agreement and a draft of a modified agreement tailored for North Dakota for consideration by North Dakota officials, including yourselves. I would respectfully request that a presentation by our attorneys be scheduled at the next meeting of your Advisory Council to provide information on this proposal and to answer questions that you may have. I look forward to your reply. Dear friends,

I am writing today regarding your position of service on the University of North Dakota School of Medicine and Health Sciences Advisory Council.

You may be aware that I spent the better part of two years working with a consortium of three large national law firms assisting them with opioid litigation outreach here in North Dakota. My role in the process was to arrange

Body	presentations before county commissions, city commissions and councils, the North Dakota Association of Counties, the North Dakota League of Cities and Attorney General Wayne Stenejhem. We were very successful in our effort to demonstrate to North Dakota counties and cities the wisdom in pursuing their own cases. The law firms represent North Dakota clients on a contingency basis at a recovery percentage that is quite modest. Twenty-six North Dakota counties and three cities signed on as litigants with our group. The consortium I represented included the following firms: Fears Nachawati, Ferrer Poirot Wansbrough, and Motley Rice. These are all large, nationally recognized and highly-respected law firms. When considering whether I should help this group in North Dakota, I was agreeable to do so after being given strict assurances that the litigation they would be pursuing would not target medical providers or hospitals and would instead be focused on opioid manufacturers, distributors, and large national chain pharmacies. They have stayed true to their word with me. They also assured me that they would be focusing on recovering financial damages that had been incurred by their clients as a direct result of the opioid crisis. Further, they have been unwavering in their focus on recovering resources to provide abatement of the problem and ongoing treatment for our citizens suffering from opioid addiction and abuse. Given your position on the Advisory Council and your work in the Legislature, you certainly know that North Dakota was not immune to losing many lives-and great suffering for others-from opioid abuse. In one small low population North Dakota county where I testified before the county commission, the sheriff also testified and said the county had four relatively recent overdose deaths. Throughout the entire process, Attorney General Stenehjem has advised North Dakota political subdivisions that they should not file their own cases and should leave the litigation entirely in the hands of the State. That advice from the AG's office is continuing to this day with outreach communications coming from his office, asking current litigants to opt into the settlements and allow the State to control the proceeds. Our attorneys are advising against that action at this time. There has already been an idea adopted in the State of Mississippi that deserves study and consideration here in North Dakota as a sensible compromise for the disbursement of funds that will result from the settlements. In that Mississippi model, the University of Mississippi Medical Center's Center for Addiction Medicine will receive an allocation of 70% of the settlement funds and dedicate that funding to providing opioid addiction abatement and treatment programs. Whether it is here in North Dakota or in Mississippi, smaller rural counties typically do not have the resources on their own to launch such efforts. The UND SMHS appears to already have in place an extensive outreach program throughout the state as detailed here: https://med.und.edu/service/index.html With the considerable resources that would become available under such an agreement, those entities might be the ideal avenue to help North Dakota citizens in need. I have attached the Mississippi agreement and a draft of a modified agreement tailored for North Dakota for consideration by North Dakota officials, including yourselves. I would respectfully request that a presentation by our attorneys be scheduled at the next meeting of your Advisory Council to provide information on this proposal and to answer questions that you may have. I look forward to your reply. Given your position on the Advisory Council and your work in the Legislature, you certainly know that North Dakota was not immune to losing many lives-and great suffering for others-from opioid abuse. In one small low population North Dakota county where I testified before the county commission, the sheriff also testified and said the county had four relatively recent overdose deaths. Throughout the entire process, Attorney General Stenehjem has advised North Dakota political subdivisions that they should not file their own cases and should leave the litigation entirely in the hands of the State. That advice from the AG's office is continuing to this day with outreach communications coming from his office, asking current litigants to opt into the settlements and allow the State to control the proceeds. Our attorneys are advising against that action at this time. There has already been an idea adopted in the State of Mississippi that deserves study and consideration here in North Dakota as a sensible compromise for the disbursement of funds that will result from the settlements. In that Mississippi model, the University of Mississippi Medical Center's Center for Addiction Medicine will receive an allocation of 70% of the settlement funds and dedicate that funding to providing opioid addiction abatement and treatment programs. Whether it is here in North Dakota or in Mississippi, smaller rural counties typically do not have the resources on their own to launch such efforts. The UND SMHS appears to already have in place an extensive outreach program throughout the state as detailed here: https://med.und.edu/service/index.html With the considerable resources that would become available under such an agreement, those entities might be the ideal avenue to help North Dakota citizens in need. I have attached the Mississippi agreement and a draft of a modified agreement tailored for North Dakota for consideration by North Dakota officials, including yourselves. I would respectfully request that a presentation by our attorneys be scheduled at the next meeting of your Advisory Council to provide information on this proposal and to answer questions that you may have. I look forward to your reply. Good morning Jon et al,

To clarify our request, our group would like to be put on the agenda for one of our attorneys to do a presentation at the next meeting of the Advisory Council. We are hoping that will be relatively soon as there are deadlines looming for decisions relating to the opioid settlement policies.

The purpose of the presentation would be to provide the most current information on the litigation settlements and to present for discussion and consideration the possibility of UND SMHS taking on a role similar to what has been adopted in Mississippi, wherein the University of Mississippi Medical Center will receive settlement funds and implement opioid abatement and treatment programs throughout the state.

Also, to further clarify, if the UND SMHS would be agreeable to a similar role as has been adopted in Mississippi, the SMHS would not be "taking a position" or be a "part of any litigation."

The attached MOU edited and tailored for North Dakota details in Section B, subsection 1(c) the funds that would be allocated to the SMHS and the role that it would play in the abatement and treatment efforts. This plan would be aimed at helping cities and counties in North Dakota establish an effort to help them deal with ongoing opioid abuse and addiction.

Please do not hesitate to reach out to me if you have any additional questions or would like further clarification.

Regards,

Curtis Olafson

Curt: thank you for reaching out to the NDSMHS Advisory Committee with your request to be added to the agenda of a subsequent Advisory Committee meeting. Although it would be interesting to hear the reasoning and progress your group has experienced, I am a little confused as to our role in taking a position or being part of any litigation in this regard.
Is this strictly informational or do you have other expectations of the Advisory Committee? I believe that question needs to be clarified prior to any further conversation.
Thanks Curt and I hope to hear back from you soon.

Senator Mathern,

Thank you for your response and for your outreach to Dean Wynne. I look forward to further discussions with you and your colleagues.

After having had the privilege of serving with you in the Senate for 6 years, it comes as no surprise to me that you are interested in this proposal. You always have the best interests of the people in your heart, especially people who need help.

Dear friends,

I am writing today regarding your position of service on the University of North Dakota School of Medicine and Health Sciences Advisory Council.

You may be aware that I spent the better part of two years working with a consortium of three large national law firms assisting them with opioid litigation outreach here in North Dakota. My role in the process was to arrange

Body	presentations before county commissions, city commissions and councils, the North Dakota Association of Counties, the North Dakota League of Cities and Attorney General Wayne Stenejhem. We were very successful in our effort to demonstrate to North Dakota counties and cities the wisdom in pursuing their own cases. The law firms represent North Dakota clients on a contingency basis at a recovery percentage that is quite modest. Twenty-six North Dakota counties and three cities signed on as litigants with our group. The consortium I represented included the following firms: Fears Nachawati, Ferrer Poirot Wansbrough, and Motley Rice. These are all large, nationally recognized and highly-respected law firms. When considering whether I should help this group in North Dakota, I was agreeable to do so after being given strict assurances that the litigation they would be pursuing would not target medical providers or hospitals and would instead be focused on opioid manufacturers, distributors, and large national chain pharmacies. They have stayed true to their word with me. They also assured me that they would be focusing on recovering financial damages that had been incurred by their clients as a direct result of the opioid crisis. Further, they have been unwavering in their focus on recovering resources to provide abatement of the problem and ongoing treatment for our citizens suffering from opioid addiction and abuse. Given your position on the Advisory Council and your work in the Legislature, you certainly know that North Dakota was not immune to losing many lives-and great suffering for others-from opioid abuse. In one small low population North Dakota county where I testified before the county commission, the sheriff also testified and said the county had four relatively recent overdose deaths. Throughout the entire process, Attorney General Stenehjem has advised North Dakota political subdivisions that they should not file their own cases and should leave the litigation entirely in the hands of the State. That advice from the AG's office is continuing to this day with outreach communications coming from his office, asking current litigants to opt into the settlements and allow the State to control the proceeds. Our attorneys are advising against that action at this time. There has already been an idea adopted in the State of Mississippi that deserves study and consideration here in North Dakota as a sensible compromise for the disbursement of funds that will result from the settlements. In that Mississippi model, the University of Mississippi Medical Center's Center for Addiction Medicine will receive an allocation of 70% of the settlement funds and dedicate that funding to providing opioid addiction abatement and treatment programs. Whether it is here in North Dakota or in Mississippi, smaller rural counties typically do not have the resources on their own to launch such efforts. The UND SMHS appears to already have in place an extensive outreach program throughout the state as detailed here: https://med.und.edu/service/index.html With the considerable resources that would become available under such an agreement, those entities might be the ideal avenue to help North Dakota citizens in need. I have attached the Mississippi agreement and a draft of a modified agreement tailored for North Dakota for consideration by North Dakota officials, including yourselves. I would respectfully request that a presentation by our attorneys be scheduled at the next meeting of your Advisory Council to provide information on this proposal and to answer questions that you may have. I look forward to your reply. Good morning Jon et al,

To clarify our request, our group would like to be put on the agenda for one of our attorneys to do a presentation at the next meeting of the Advisory Council. We are hoping that will be relatively soon as there are deadlines looming for decisions relating to the opioid settlement policies.

The purpose of the presentation would be to provide the most current information on the litigation settlements and to present for discussion and consideration the possibility of UND SMHS taking on a role similar to what has been adopted in Mississippi, wherein the University of Mississippi Medical Center will receive settlement funds and implement opioid abatement and treatment programs throughout the state.

Also, to further clarify, if the UND SMHS would be agreeable to a similar role as has been adopted in Mississippi, the SMHS would not be "taking a position" or be a "part of any litigation."

The attached MOU edited and tailored for North Dakota details in Section B, subsection 1(c) the funds that would be allocated to the SMHS and the role that it would play in the abatement and treatment efforts. This plan would be aimed at helping cities and counties in North Dakota establish an effort to help them deal with ongoing opioid abuse and addiction.

Please do not hesitate to reach out to me if you have any additional questions or would like further clarification.

Regards,

Curtis Olafson

Curt: thank you for reaching out to the NDSMHS Advisory Committee with your request to be added to the agenda of a subsequent Advisory Committee meeting. Although it would be interesting to hear the reasoning and progress your group has experienced, I am a little confused as to our role in taking a position or being part of any litigation in this regard.
Is this strictly informational or do you have other expectations of the Advisory Committee? I believe that question needs to be clarified prior to any further conversation.
Thanks Curt and I hope to hear back from you soon.

Senator Mathern,

Thank you for your response and for your outreach to Dean Wynne. I look forward to further discussions with you and your colleagues.

After having had the privilege of serving with you in the Senate for 6 years, it comes as no surprise to me that you are interested in this proposal. You always have the best interests of the people in your heart, especially people who need help.

Dear friends,

I am writing today regarding your position of service on the University of North Dakota School of Medicine and Health Sciences Advisory Council.

You may be aware that I spent the better part of two years working with a consortium of three large national law firms assisting them with opioid litigation outreach here in North Dakota. My role in the process was to arrange

Body	presentations before county commissions, city commissions and councils, the North Dakota Association of Counties, the North Dakota League of Cities and Attorney General Wayne Stenejhem. We were very successful in our effort to demonstrate to North Dakota counties and cities the wisdom in pursuing their own cases. The law firms represent North Dakota clients on a contingency basis at a recovery percentage that is quite modest. Twenty-six North Dakota counties and three cities signed on as litigants with our group. The consortium I represented included the following firms: Fears Nachawati, Ferrer Poirot Wansbrough, and Motley Rice. These are all large, nationally recognized and highly-respected law firms. When considering whether I should help this group in North Dakota, I was agreeable to do so after being given strict assurances that the litigation they would be pursuing would not target medical providers or hospitals and would instead be focused on opioid manufacturers, distributors, and large national chain pharmacies. They have stayed true to their word with me. They also assured me that they would be focusing on recovering financial damages that had been incurred by their clients as a direct result of the opioid crisis. Further, they have been unwavering in their focus on recovering resources to provide abatement of the problem and ongoing treatment for our citizens suffering from opioid addiction and abuse. Given your position on the Advisory Council and your work in the Legislature, you certainly know that North Dakota was not immune to losing many lives-and great suffering for others-from opioid abuse. The first is that I do not believe the Land Board, or frankly the State, has the authority to convey away section line rights of way that encumber state lands. The State holds and manages section line rights of way in trust for the public. And, such encumbrances would be conveyed with any transfer as a matter of state law. Consequently, I don't think either the Land Board or the State could convey "clear title" as required by the proposed federal law. It would be inconsistent with the law, and our long-standing litigation position in the Section Line case, to say that the Land Board or the State may simply terminate the right of way as part of a conveyance. Also, practically speaking, I would be concerned that the consolidation of federal land in the National Grasslands is not in the interests of the State. The Forest Service has been trying for many years to declare certain portions of the Nat. Grasslands and roadless areas. And, removing or disestablishing roads every year. The State has consistently opposed these attempts by the FS. Any actions by the State that result in the consolidation of federal lands in the national grasslands would likely be seen by the grazing association as helping to facilitate the elimination of roads and establishment of roadless areas. Also, you should know that the United States takes the position in our case that section lines are not valid existing rights. Even if the state thought it was conveying section lines with a land transfer, it is possible that the United States would accept that conveyance as a conveyance of "clear title", because the United States does not recognize the rights of way as valid existing rights. I am happy to discuss further if you would like. Matt

Allen is the attorney who has been working on the draft of this bill on behalf of Senator Hoeven. James From: Sagsveen, Matthew A. <masagsve@nd.gov> Sent: Friday, December 3, 2021 9:10 AM To: Wald, James J. <jawald@nd.gov>; Smith, Jodi <jodi.smith@nd.gov> Cc: Garner, David P. <dpgarner@nd.gov> Subject: Privileged Communication James and Jodi, I do have a few serious concerns with this law after my brief review. The first is that I do not believe the Land Board, or frankly the State, has the authority to convey away section line rights of way that encumber state lands. The State holds and manages section line rights of way in trust for the public. And, such encumbrances would be conveyed with any transfer as a matter of state law. Consequently, I don't think either the Land Board or the State could convey "clear title" as required by the proposed federal law. It would be inconsistent with the law, and our long-standing litigation position in the Section Line case, to say that the Land Board or the State may simply terminate the right of way as part of a conveyance. Also, practically speaking, I would be concerned that the consolidation of federal land in the National Grasslands is not in the interests of the State. The Forest Service has been trying for many years to declare certain portions of the Nat. Grasslands and roadless areas. And, removing or disestablishing roads every year. The State has consistently opposed these attempts by the FS. Any actions by the State that result in the consolidation of federal lands in the national grasslands would likely be seen by the grazing association as helping to facilitate the elimination of roads and establishment of roadless areas. Also, you should know that the United States takes the position in our case that section lines are not valid existing rights. Even if the state thought it was conveying section lines with a land transfer, it is possible that the United States would accept that conveyance as a conveyance of "clear title", because the United States does not recognize the rights of way as valid existing rights. I am happy to discuss further if you would like. Matt

Senate: No specials for nonprofit cemeteries A bill banning special assessments against nonprofit cemeteries was unanimously passed by the state Senate on Tuesday, and now the bill will head to the House of Representatives for a final vote. By: Ryan Johnson, Grand Forks Herald A bill banning special assessments against nonprofit cemeteries was unanimously passed by the state Senate on Tuesday, and now the bill will head to the House of Representatives for a final vote. Sen. Ray Holmberg, R-Grand Forks, said Senate Bill 2241 will need a hearing in the House before coming up for a final vote, but he didn't know when that will happen. He wouldn't comment on the chances of the bill passing the House, but said Tuesday's unanimous vote "is a good omen." There was no debate in the Senate either, which Holmberg said he expected because senators had many discussions before the vote. "The bottom line was we said it's just wrong to assess dead people for benefit," he said. "Frankly, (dead people) don't care. I think the Legislature surely does because there was no discussion on the other side." Special assessments are a kind of property tax used to pay for infrastructure such as streets and dikes. They are levied on benefiting properties, which usually means a section of the city. Holmberg introduced the bill two weeks ago as a reaction to a dispute between the Grand Forks City Council and the Grand Forks Cemetery Association. Association President Gordon Iseminger argued the assessments were already banned by a 1970 state Supreme Court decision, but some City Council members said the fees that pay for Grand Forks' flood protection system should be charged to everyone as a matter of fairness. Attorney General Wayne Stenehjem said in a March 18 opinion that the law was unsettled in this area. Solving old problem The bill was amended in the Senate Finance and Taxation Committee before being approved by the Senate Tuesday. Sen. Connie Triplett, D-Grand Forks, said some lawmakers were originally concerned about exempting cemeteries because it could cause a large increase of special assessments to other property owners in the district. But a change that makes it clear that the city can spread the fees across the whole municipality rather than expect a single district to make up the difference helps keep the impact to a minimum, she said. "We think this is a fair solution to a long, 40-year-old problem," Triplett said. The Grand Forks Cemetery Association currently owes the city $240,000 from previous assessments and was scheduled for another $118,000 next year. It paid $45,000 toward the assessments but hasn't paid any additional money since 2004. Holmberg said if the law passes the House, that debt would be erased and the city could spread the fees out across all other special assessment payers. "It clearly gives the city a direction of what they can do," he said.

Body	I certainly agree with all you have written, Doug. In North Dakota we worked hard to collaborate with all the stakeholders to address the problem of human trafficking. We too had a low grade from this group and came up with a comprehensive legislative strategy to address the concerns at that time. I coordinated a legislative response, arranged rare joint Senate/House committee hearings on our legislation, achieved significant state funding for our Human Trafficking Task Force ad programs, trained law enforcement on the new laws, and so much more. We moved to the top of these ratings and are proud of all we have accomplished. Now I see that we have had the goal posts moved, and are somehow back at the bottom of the grades. I would think Shared Hope would have engaged in a collaborative way with us, instead of dropping most of the nation to F grades, and not recognizing the strides we have made. Let me know what you think we can do. This grade provided a challenge for our office, the Governor, and our state legislators to improve understanding of how law enforcement views victims, how the law provides and protects victims, and our ability to prosecute perpetrators. Fast forward to 2019 and Nebraska was recognized with a grade of "A-" because many new laws had been put in place as tools to allow us to prosecute sex traffickers. We also did substantial training and education about human trafficking across the state. In spite of significantly improvements in our state's response to human trafficking, recently, we learned that Nebraska has dropped to a grade of "F" under Shared Hope's new standards. We are joined by 48 other states in receiving failing or near failing grades. This gives a false impression of the work we have done and undoubtedly the significant work done by your office as well. Share Hope's new system only looks at state laws. This fails to recognize what is already being done through regulations or is the consistent practice of states. Yet, without meeting the required checklist of laws, a state will receive a failing grade. This gives a false impression that 49 states are failing or nearly failing in our battle against sex trafficking. We did provide feedback to Shared Hope during the drafting process of new standards and yet the problematic parts remain. Shared Hope's new list of recommended laws contains suggestions that are not advisable and in some cases are unconstitutional. I'm very concerned that Shared Hope has taken this approach. If you are interested in addressing this issue with me to the leadership of Shared Hope, please let me know. Sincerely, Douglas J. Peterson Nebraska Attorney General -

Thank you. I understand your procedure. However, for our purposes it seems useless if not provided to the Court. Therefore, I likely will send it to the Court. On the other hand, it might be unnecessary if you are able to share the written plea agreement with us. Are you willing to do so?

Mr. Grossman:
Our office was in receipt of the attached documentation. Such was included in our file & provided in discovery. It was not filed with the Court, as we would only file the victim impact statements that were received from the victims in this case. We did file the one we did receive from victim Eric Mayer.
As of now, the matter is set to be resolved by written plea agreement. So there won't be any further hearings at this time.

Ms. Wanner and Mr. Schwarz:

With the trial being cancelled it looks like the State's Attorney has reached or will be reaching a plea agreement, unless it will be an open plea.

Body	In looking at the docket it does not appear that my attached April 21 Victim Impact Statement has been filed. I think I recall that Ms. Wanner provides it to Mr. Schwarz and that you will submit it to the Court at the appropriate time. Since I don't know the process and when the statement will be submitted to the Court will someone please advise me now how or when this will occur? I suppose another option would be for me to appear at the sentencing? Mr. Schwarz, if you have some idea how you I intend to resolve this matter or what your recommendation will be and you are willing to discuss or share it with me, perhaps my statement and any additional involvement on my part will be moot or not necessary. Friends,

Judge Baker just issued a nationwide injunction in our federal contractor mandate case. We're still reviewing, but wanted to make you aware. Also, I'm adding Georgia's new SG, Stephen Petrany, to this chain.

Friends,

Judge Baker just issued a nationwide injunction in our federal contractor mandate case. We're still reviewing, but wanted to make you aware. Also, I'm adding Georgia's new SG, Stephen Petrany, to this chain.

Best,

Can you work with Liz, Eric and other client agencies who were worried about this mandate that it [the contractor mandate] is now on hold
In fact, all 3 federal mandates are on hold under one form of injunction or another.

In fact, all 3 federal mandates are on hold under one form of injunction or another.

Friends,

Judge Baker just issued a nationwide injunction in our federal contractor mandate case. We're still reviewing, but wanted to make you aware. Also, I'm adding Georgia's new SG, Stephen Petrany, to this chain.

Friends,

Judge Baker just issued a nationwide injunction in our federal contractor mandate case. We're still reviewing, but wanted to make you aware. Also, I'm adding Georgia's new SG, Stephen Petrany, to this chain.

Can you work with Liz, Eric and other client agencies who were worried about this mandate that it [the contractor mandate] is now on hold
In fact, all 3 federal mandates are on hold under one form of injunction or another.

Stan Baker in Georgia issued a nationwide preliminary injunction suspending the federal contractor vaccine mandate. Judge Baker ruled against the Biden Administration, finding that the vaccine mandate in Executive Order 14042 violated the Procurement Act. "The Biden Administration took a heavy-handed approach in its effort to bring the vaccine-hesitant to heel, and in doing so, exceeded its authority, yet again," said Attorney General Wayne Stenehjem. In his Order, Judge Baker stated "As another Court that has preliminarily enjoined the same measure at issue in this case has stated, "[t]his case is not about whether vaccines are effective. They are. … However, even in times of crisis this Court must preserve the rule of law and ensure that all branches of government act within the bounds of their constitutionally granted authorities." Stenehjem noted that, with Judge Baker's order, federal courts have now enjoined the three most invasive federal vaccine mandates. "I will continue to work with Attorneys General across the nation to protect the citizens of North Dakota from federal overreach." ### From: Stenehjem, Wayne K. <wstenehjem@nd.gov> Sent: Tuesday, December 7, 2021 1:28 PM To: Brocker, Liz <lbrocker@nd.gov> Subject: RE: Contractor Mandate - DOJ Response to PI/TRO Work this line from the court into the release, please: As another Court that has preliminarily enjoined the same measure at issue in this case has stated, "[t]his case is not about whether vaccines are effective. In fact, all 3 federal mandates are on hold under one form of injunction or another.

Okay to send out as corrected? Liz Bismarck, ND - Earlier today, federal district court Judge R. Stan Baker in Georgia issued a nationwide preliminary injunction suspending the federal contractor vaccine mandate. Judge Baker ruled against the Biden Administration, finding that the vaccine mandate in Executive Order 14042 violated the Procurement Act. "The Biden administration has yet again exceeded its authority in apparent disregard of the Constitution and the rule of law," said Attorney General Wayne Stenehjem. Can you work with Liz, Eric and other client agencies who were worried about this mandate that it [the contractor mandate] is now on hold
In fact, all 3 federal mandates are on hold under one form of injunction or another.

Stan Baker in Georgia issued a nationwide preliminary injunction suspending the federal contractor vaccine mandate. Judge Baker ruled against the Biden Administration, finding that the vaccine mandate in Executive Order 14042 violated the Procurement Act. On its face, the contractor vaccine mandate would have applied to any employee of a contractor or subcontractor who was a party to a federal contract, even if the work they did was wholly unrelated to the contract, and even if it was not certain they would ever have worked in a location with an employee who was actually working on a federal contract. "The Biden administration has yet again exceeded its authority in apparent disregard of the Constitution and the rule of law," said Attorney General Wayne Stenehjem. In his Order, Judge Baker stated "As another Court that has preliminarily enjoined the same measure at issue in this case has stated, "[t]his case is not about whether vaccines are effective. They are. … However, even in times of crisis this Court must preserve the rule of law and ensure that all branches of government act within the bounds of their constitutionally granted authorities." Stenehjem noted that, with Judge Baker's order, federal courts have now enjoined the three most invasive federal vaccine mandates. "I will continue to work with Attorneys General across the nation to protect the citizens of North Dakota from federal overreach." ### Read the Order (Link)

Body	I am aware of the issue with Headstart, but am not aware of any state-lead lawsuits. I'll ask around d tonight. Wayne Sent from my Verizon, Samsung Galaxy smartphone Get Outlook for Android From: Brocker, Liz <lbrocker@nd.gov> Sent: Wednesday, December 8, 2021 5:36:22 PM To: Stenehjem, Wayne K. <wstenehjem@nd.gov> Cc: Seibel, Troy T. <tseibel@nd.gov>; Olson, Eric D. <edolson@nd.gov> Subject: FYI - telephone call I took a telephone call from Brian Van Horn, president of Mayville State. He had great things to say about Eric's legal advice and services, and about our efforts on the federal vaccine mandates, but he also wanted to convey a concern specific to Mayville State, and that's the federal vaccine + mask mandates for Head Start programs. Van Horn explained that it affects about 375 children, several employees have already threatened to quit if they are forced to get vaccinated (which means he'll have to reduce the number of children they serve), and although they run a child care program, it's jointly housed and served with the Head Start program, so it affects the child care program too (even though that's not subject to a federal mandate). Finally, he said that one of the conditions of receiving funds is that any child age 2+ must wear a mask at all times unless eating or drinking regardless of vaccine status. He's not sure what effect enforcing that mandate will have, but he's concerned that parents will not be happy. Van Horn sked that if we have an opportunity to join or lead a multistate action challenging that mandate, we do so. Eric briefly explained this issue to me yesterday as we were talking about the "big three" federal mandates, and I know he's following it, so I copied him here. If you want to talk to President Van Horn (which he said is not necessary – just knowing that Eric is tracking this issue was enough), he's at 270-493-0530 (cell). Liz

He had great things to say about Eric's legal advice and services, and about our efforts on the federal vaccine mandates, but he also wanted to convey a concern specific to Mayville State, and that's the federal vaccine + mask mandates for Head Start programs. Van Horn explained that it affects about 375 children, several employees have already threatened to quit if they are forced to get vaccinated (which means he'll have to reduce the number of children they serve), and although they run a child care program, it's jointly housed and served with the Head Start program, so it affects the child care program too (even though that's not subject to a federal mandate). Finally, he said that one of the conditions of receiving funds is that any child age 2+ must wear a mask at all times unless eating or drinking regardless of vaccine status. He's not sure what effect enforcing that mandate will have, but he's concerned that parents will not be happy. Van Horn sked that if we have an opportunity to join or lead a multistate action challenging that mandate, we do so. Eric briefly explained this issue to me yesterday as we were talking about the "big three" federal mandates, and I know he's following it, so I copied him here. If you want to talk to President Van Horn (which he said is not necessary – just knowing that Eric is tracking this issue was enough), he's at 270-493-0530 (cell). Liz

The TFO stated the male was staying at the Rodeway Inn, went by "Alex", and was possibly from California. Through surveillance that lasted most of the day, we determined that two males, driving a California plated vehicle were our suspects. The males had left the hotel for a short time allowing a dog sniff of their room to take place(positive alert). The TF along with the DEA executed a search warrant shortly after they returned. In total, 9.3 pounds of methamphetamine were located under the mattress and their vehicle was seized. Two males, which were uncooperative, went to jail. Not a bad days work! I will check tomorrow to see if this is something that we can send out in a press release. They were uncooperative today, but that may change overnight or in the near future. Pic below. Subject: RE: ACF/OHS/HHS - Head Start Mandate

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a compliant. We will have draft declarations available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others).

We plan to file in the Western District of La, which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come from. As a practical matter, I don't think we can get the Complaint and PI filed until next week so we are shooting for Tuesday of next week.

We welcome all joiners.

Subject: RE: ACF/OHS/HHS - Head Start Mandate

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a compliant. We will have draft declarations available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others).

We plan to file in the Western District of La, which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come from. As a practical matter, I don't think we can get the Complaint and PI filed until next week so we are shooting for Tuesday of next week.

We welcome all joiners.

Yes, I have been receiving these emails also. I am in a deposition for the remainder of the day, just FYI. We have not joined any Head Start cases...

Subject: RE: ACF/OHS/HHS - Head Start Mandate

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a compliant. We will have draft declarations available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others).

We plan to file in the Western District of La, which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come

Body	from. As a practical matter, I don't think we can get the Complaint and PI filed until next week so we are shooting for Tuesday of next week. We welcome all joiners. From: Thacker, Christopher L (KYOAG) <christopher.thacker@ky.gov> Sent: Thursday, December 09, 2021 11:54 AM To: Scott Stewart <Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov>; Ensign, Drew <Drew.Ensign@azag.gov>; Maddox, Victor (KYOAG) <victor.maddox@ky.gov>; Brasington, Charles E (LAW) <charles.brasington@alaska.gov>; Murrill, Elizabeth <MurrillE@ag.louisiana.gov>; Benjamin Flowers <Benjamin.Flowers@OhioAGO.gov>; Judd Stone <Judd.Stone@oag.texas.gov>; Joshua Richardson <Joshua.Richardson@OhioAGO.gov> Cc: Henry Whitaker <Henry.Whitaker@myfloridalegal.com>; Bowdre, Barrett <Barrett.Bowdre@alabamaag.gov>; Mills, Cori M (LAW) <cori.mills@alaska.gov>; Alloway, Jessie M (LAW) <jessie.alloway@alaska.gov>; Dizon, Ninia R (LAW) <ninia.dizon@alaska.gov>; Roysden, Beau <Beau.Roysden@azag.gov>; Daniel Bell <Daniel.Bell@myfloridalegal.com>; James Percival <James.Percival@myfloridalegal.com>; Jeffrey DeSousa <Jeffrey.DeSousa@myfloridalegal.com>; Drew Waldbeser <DWaldbeser@law.ga.gov>; Ross Bergethon <RBergethon@law.ga.gov>; brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov; tom.fisher@atg.in.gov; kian.hudson@atg.in.gov; jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov; Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov; Kuhn, Matt F (KYOAG) <Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov>; St. John, Joseph <StJohnJ@ag.louisiana.gov>; Whitney Lipscomb <Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov>; Justin Matheny <Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov>; john.sauer@ago.mo.gov; Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov; David.Dewhirst@mt.gov; Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov; Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov; Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov; wstenehjem@nd.gov; masagsve@nd.gov; tseibel@nd.gov; May Mailman <May.Mailman@OhioAGO.gov>; mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov; zach.west@oag.ok.gov; Emory Smith <ESmith@scag.gov>; HKirkland@scag.gov; BCook@scag.gov; ThomasHydrick@scag.gov; steven.blair@state.sd.us; Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us; Sarah K. Subject: RE: ACF/OHS/HHS - Head Start Mandate

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a compliant. We will have draft declarations available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others).

We plan to file in the Western District of La, which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come

Body	from. As a practical matter, I don't think we can get the Complaint and PI filed until next week so we are shooting for Tuesday of next week. We welcome all joiners. From: Thacker, Christopher L (KYOAG) <christopher.thacker@ky.gov> Sent: Thursday, December 09, 2021 11:54 AM To: Scott Stewart <Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov>; Ensign, Drew <Drew.Ensign@azag.gov>; Maddox, Victor (KYOAG) <victor.maddox@ky.gov>; Brasington, Charles E (LAW) <charles.brasington@alaska.gov>; Murrill, Elizabeth <MurrillE@ag.louisiana.gov>; Benjamin Flowers <Benjamin.Flowers@OhioAGO.gov>; Judd Stone <Judd.Stone@oag.texas.gov>; Joshua Richardson <Joshua.Richardson@OhioAGO.gov> Cc: Henry Whitaker <Henry.Whitaker@myfloridalegal.com>; Bowdre, Barrett <Barrett.Bowdre@alabamaag.gov>; Mills, Cori M (LAW) <cori.mills@alaska.gov>; Alloway, Jessie M (LAW) <jessie.alloway@alaska.gov>; Dizon, Ninia R (LAW) <ninia.dizon@alaska.gov>; Roysden, Beau <Beau.Roysden@azag.gov>; Daniel Bell <Daniel.Bell@myfloridalegal.com>; James Percival <James.Percival@myfloridalegal.com>; Jeffrey DeSousa <Jeffrey.DeSousa@myfloridalegal.com>; Drew Waldbeser <DWaldbeser@law.ga.gov>; Ross Bergethon <RBergethon@law.ga.gov>; brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov; tom.fisher@atg.in.gov; kian.hudson@atg.in.gov; jeff.chanay@ag.ks.gov; Brant.Laue@ag.ks.gov; Kuhn, Matt F (KYOAG) <Matt.Kuhn@ky.gov>; St. John, Joseph <StJohnJ@ag.louisiana.gov>; Whitney Lipscomb <Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov>; Justin Matheny <Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov>; john.sauer@ago.mo.gov; Justin.Smith@ago.mo.gov; David.Dewhirst@mt.gov; Jim.Campbell@nebraska.gov; Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov; Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov; wstenehjem@nd.gov; masagsve@nd.gov; tseibel@nd.gov; May Mailman <May.Mailman@OhioAGO.gov>; mithun.mansinghani@oag.ok.gov; zach.west@oag.ok.gov; Emory Smith <ESmith@scag.gov>; HKirkland@scag.gov; BCook@scag.gov; ThomasHydrick@scag.gov; steven.blair@state.sd.us; Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us; Sarah K. I will share this afternoon. Happy to take edits too. We are just compiling our notes from talking to Directors and teachers. If you have someone who has more to add or has special expertise in speech development and early childhood ed then just adapt.

SD will likely join LA. Elizabeth, can you share a draft declaration and I will see if I can find appropriate signatories.

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a compliant. We will have draft declarations available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others).

We plan to file in the Western District of La, which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come from. As a practical matter, I don't think we can get the Complaint and PI filed until next week so we are shooting for Tuesday of next week.

We welcome all joiners.

SD will likely join LA. Elizabeth, can you share a draft declaration and I will see if I can find appropriate signatories.

Subject: RE: ACF/OHS/HHS - Head Start Mandate

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a compliant. We will have draft declarations available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others).

We plan to file in the Western District of La, which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come from. As a practical matter, I don't think we can get the Complaint and PI filed until next week so we are shooting for Tuesday of next week.

We welcome all joiners.

The letter argues that these investments are often misleading and administratively costly and should not be encouraged. The administration also does not provide justification for departure from the current rules that went into effect early 2021. The current rules clarify that only pecuniary factors can be considered when investing. I apologize for the short turnaround but we need joins by Monday December 13 at 6 pm ET. Also, please note that we worked with our state Treasurer on this letter. He is circulating to treasurers from other states to see if they would like to add their signatures. The letter argues that these investments are often misleading and administratively costly and should not be encouraged. The administration also does not provide justification for departure from the current rules that went into effect early 2021. The current rules clarify that only pecuniary factors can be considered when investing. I apologize for the short turnaround but we need joins by Monday December 13 at 6 pm ET. Also, please note that we worked with our state Treasurer on this letter. He is circulating to treasurers from other states to see if they would like to add their signatures. We welcome any feedback and if you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me. Thanks, Melissa Melissa A. Mary Kelsch has addressed this issue with the board member you refer to, and I asked her about it. Here is what she said: "He was not a board member at the time of the executive session. The recording is exempt so it could be released to him if the board votes to release it to him. I believe he made a motion at a board meeting to listen to it and they voted NOT to release the recording to him." Elizabeth,

The State of South Dakota is a body politic created by the Constitution and laws of the State; as such, it is not a citizen of any state. This action is brought by the State in its sovereign capacity in order to protect the interests of the State of South Dakota and its citizens as parens patriae, by and through Jason R. Ravnsborg, the Attorney General of the State of South Dakota. The Attorney General is acting pursuant to his authority to appear for the State and prosecute any civil matter in which the State is a party or interested when, in his judgment, the welfare of the State demands. SD will likely join LA. Elizabeth, can you share a draft declaration and I will see if I can find appropriate signatories.

Subject: RE: ACF/OHS/HHS - Head Start Mandate

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a compliant. We will have draft declarations available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others).

We plan to file in the Western District of La, which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come from. As a practical matter, I donâ€™t think we can get the Complaint and PI filed until next week so we are shooting for Tuesday of next week.

We welcome all joiners.

Body

Elizabeth,

The State of South Dakota is a body politic created by the Constitution and laws of the State; as such, it is not a citizen of any state. This action is brought by the State in its sovereign capacity in order to protect the interests of the State of South Dakota and its citizens as parens patriae, by and through Jason R. Ravnsborg, the Attorney General of the State of South Dakota. The Attorney General is acting pursuant to his authority to appear for the State and prosecute any civil matter in which the State is a party or interested when, in his judgment, the welfare of the State demands. SDCL Â§1-11-1(2).

Thanks.

I will share this afternoon. Happy to take edits too. We are just compiling our notes from talking to Directors and teachers. If you have someone who has more to add or has special expertise in speech development and early childhood ed then just adapt.

Subject: RE: ACF/OHS/HHS - Head Start Mandate

Louisiana is in the process of drafting a compliant. We will have draft declarations available today. We have identified about 6 program directors willing to sign declarations (some more detailed than others).

We plan to file in the Western District of La, which at this point is where most if not all our declarations will come from. As a practical matter, I donâ€™t think we can get the Complaint and PI filed until next week so we are shooting for Tuesday of next week.

We welcome all joiners.

Elizabeth,

The State of South Dakota is a body politic created by the Constitution and laws of the State; as such, it is not a citizen of any state. This action is brought by the State in its sovereign capacity in order to protect the interests of the State of South Dakota and its citizens as parens patriae, by and through Jason R. Ravnsborg, the Attorney General of the State of South Dakota. The Attorney General is acting pursuant to his authority to appear for the State and prosecute any civil matter in which the State is a party or interested when, in his judgment, the welfare of the State demands. SDCL Â§1-11-1(2).

Thanks.

Elizabeth,

The State of South Dakota is a body politic created by the Constitution and laws of the State; as such, it is not a citizen of any state. This action is brought by the State in its sovereign capacity in order to protect the interests of the State of South Dakota and its citizens as parens patriae, by and through Jason R. Ravnsborg, the Attorney General of the State of South Dakota. The Attorney General is acting pursuant to his authority to appear for the State and prosecute any civil matter in which the State is a party or interested when, in his judgment, the welfare of the State demands. SDCL Â§1-11-1(2).

Thanks.

Wayne Beth—can you forward this to Janelle, Grant and Kayla? From: Brocker, Liz <lbrocker@nd.gov> Sent: Thursday, December 16, 2021 8:21 AM To: Stenehjem, Wayne K. <wstenehjem@nd.gov> Subject: Jamaica 1. No more than 7 days (and no fewer than 3 day) prior to arrival date in Jamaica, you will need to complete the Travel Authorization. Each person in your group needs to do a separate authorization – you'll need passport, flight, and resort information. Click on this link, and answer No: https://travelauth.visitjamaica.com/ . That opens the travel authorization. You will be sent a one-time password. 1. Once the travel authorization is completed and submitted, you will get an email approving it and attaching the authorization. Download a copy to your phone AND print a hard copy. I know it says they'll accept the e-copy, but they always ask to see the hard copy. 2. No more than 72 hours prior to arrival date in Jamaica, you need to get a Covid 19 test done. IGNORE the public health testing sites. I know the sites imply that they do testing for travel but that is NOT the case. The best place we have found to get the testing done is Mayo Pharmacy on 4th Street. You can book the appointment online. You do have to pay for it. You may not be able to complete your online check-in because the ticket agent has to personally verify that she has checked your covid-19 test and your travel authorization unless your flight has been authorized for Delta's Verifly – in which case click on the delta link, enter your info, upload pics of your results and travel authorization, and you'll be good. About 3 days before your return, you'll get an email from Delta with a link to complete the CDC attestation. You'll also need to have covid-19 test results before checking in on the flight (or doing verifly). Liz

Body	To my colleagues in the Office of Attorney General: For the last 22 years it has been my honor to work with the dedicated people in the office of Attorney General on behalf of the citizens of North Dakota. I have had to make many difficult decisions in that time, but never one as difficult as this one. After visiting with Beth and others, I have decided that this term will be my last. The decision has been a hard one because I have truly enjoyed my time in this office, and that is in large part because I have been able to work with some of the most dedicated and loyal employees anyone could ask for. You are trusted colleagues, and for many of you, I regard you as dear friends. The citizens of North Dakota have seen fit to elect me to this important office six times and it has been an honor beyond measure. The end of my current term will mark 22 years as North Dakota's 29th Attorney General. For all but a couple of you, I'm the only boss in the office you've known. My current term runs through the end of 2022, and we still have lots of time to continue together the important work we have ahead of us. When you walk into the front of our office in the Capitol you see that composite photograph of all the people who have served North Dakota as Attorney General over the years. After my photo there are seven blank spots. Those spots are reserved for the people who will come after me. I know that whoever is fortunate enough to have his or her photo included after mine will inherit a talented, dedicated group of employees who come to work every day with the goal of keeping North Dakota the very best place to work and live. I wish you all the best of the Holiday Season, and look forward to continuing to work with you through 2022! Warmly, Wayne

(DEC. 17, 2021) – Gov. Doug Burgum released the following statement after North Dakota Attorney General Wayne Stenehjem announced today he will not seek re-election in 2022. Stenehjem is the longest-serving attorney general in North Dakota history, having held the position for 21 years. He was elected as the state's 29th attorney general in 2000 and was re-elected in 2004, 2006, 2010, 2014 and 2018. Stenehjem also served in the North Dakota Legislature for 24 years, including four years in the House and 20 years in the Senate, where he was chair of the Senate Judiciary Committee from 1995-2000. We are deeply grateful for his more than four decades of exemplary service to the State of North Dakota, both as a legislator and attorney general, a position he held longer than his three predecessors combined," Burgum said. "As the state's top law enforcement officer for more than 20 years, Wayne's chief concern has always been the safety and well-being of North Dakota citizens, and our state is a better place because of his devoted service. We very much look forward to partnering with him on important initiatives during his remaining time in office to keep our state moving forward." — # # # — - CONTACT: Mike Nowatzki mnowatzki@nd.gov 701.328.2424 Mike Kennedy mikekennedy@nd.gov 701.328.2937 600 E Boulevard Ave. Bismarck ND 58505-0001 PHONE 701.328.2200 -

In making preparations for year-end, we wanted to let you know about an exciting event happening in early January. On January 15th at around 3:00pm, we will host the annual North Dakota Young Republicans State Convention in Bismarck. It's been a wild year. As Young Republicans, we've observed our first year of President Biden's attempt at #BuildBackBetter, and honestly, we think we could do "better." We are excited to meet with our membership for an update on what we've accomplished during this unprecedented time and vision casting for the future. This convention will focus on hosting Republican speakers campaigning in the 2022 election, YR bylaws, updates, and recruitment. I would like to extend an invitation for you to speak at our meeting. I want to thank you for your years of service, and ask you to address our body in your final year of office. I would also like to humbly ask you to consider donating financially to the cause of the organization. Our convention is always a grand event and does make up a significant portion of our yearly budget. What YR's lack in finances, we make up in energy and ambition. Thank you for your support as we endeavor to continue to provide leadership & direction for this organization. We would be delighted to see you on January 15. - NDYR State Chair Daryle Mindeman & Executive Committee NDYR State Convention: Saturday, January 15, 2022 (Registration at 2:00pm, call to order at 2:50pm, with speakers until 4:15pm) Location: Capitol Heights Baptist Church 4307 43rd Ave NE, Bismarck, ND 58503 ww.ndyr.org/2021convention -- Daryle Mindema Chairman, N Dakota Your Republicans 701.580.938 chair@ndyr www.ndyr.or Bismarck, NI

I am excited to see all the adventures of Wayne and Beth ☺ Kerrie From: Stenehjem, Wayne K. <wstenehjem@nd.gov> Sent: Friday, December 17, 2021 10:20 AM To: -Grp-AG All Staff <agall@nd.gov> Subject: To all staff To my colleagues in the Office of Attorney General: For the last 22 years it has been my honor to work with the dedicated people in the office of Attorney General on behalf of the citizens of North Dakota. I have had to make many difficult decisions in that time, but never one as difficult as this one. After visiting with Beth and others, I have decided that this term will be my last. The decision has been a hard one because I have truly enjoyed my time in this office, and that is in large part because I have been able to work with some of the most dedicated and loyal employees anyone could ask for. You are trusted colleagues, and for many of you, I regard you as dear friends. The citizens of North Dakota have seen fit to elect me to this important office six times and it has been an honor beyond measure. The end of my current term will mark 22 years as North Dakota's 29th Attorney General. For all but a couple of you, I'm the only boss in the office you've known. My current term runs through the end of 2022, and we still have lots of time to continue together the important work we have ahead of us. When you walk into the front of our office in the Capitol you see that composite photograph of all the people who have served North Dakota as Attorney General over the years. After my photo there are seven blank spots. Those spots are reserved for the people who will come after me. I know that whoever is fortunate enough to have his or her photo included after mine will inherit a talented, dedicated group of employees who come to work every day with the goal of keeping North Dakota the very best place to work and live. I wish you all the best of the Holiday Season, and look forward to continuing to work with you through 2022! Warmly, Wayne

Do not click links or open attachments unless you know they are safe.  Good morning Wayne – Sorry this is a long email, but please read it in its entirety. The Coal Conversion Counties Association is a subset of the Western Dakota Energy Association. The CCCA represents cities, counties and school districts in the three coal-producing counties. Its members are concerned about the pending proposal of Bakken Energy and Mitsubishi to convert the Great Plains Synfuels plant to produce blue hydrogen from natural gas. Attached is a letter you previously received stating some of those concerns. CCCA members suspect that because the project received the early endorsement of Governor Burgum, important questions have not been addressed and the project has not been thoroughly vetted. Earlier this week, the application of Bakken Energy for a grant and loan to support the project was endorsed by the Clean Sustainable Energy Authority, and will be coming before the Industrial Commission next week. After listening to the orchestrated presentation of Bakken Energy, and the ensuing discussion with the CSEA board, our coal county members still have many unanswered questions. Please consider these as you ponder a decision at next week's Industrial Commission meeting: 1. Bakken Energy proposes to use 175 million cubic feet of natural gas per day to produce hydrogen. How will the product be transported to market? Is Bakken proposing to construct an ammonia pipeline? Where would it go and what is the timeline/likelihood for permitting? If not a pipeline, how will that volume of product be transported? 2. Basin Electric said it has been losing money at the synfuels plant due to low natural gas prices. But prices have increased significantly in recent months. Is the plant once again profitable producing syngas from coal? If the plant is profitable in the next three years of operation, how does it affect the plan to produce hydrogen? 3. Federal grant guidelines generally require local support for a project, but Bakken Energy has not met with the CCCA membership to answer their questions. Why hasn't that meeting occurred? 4. It appears this project is heavily dependent on federal grants and loans from DOE. Will the parties, Bakken Energy and Mitsubishi (which is a $5.2 trillion company), proceed with the project if it fails to receive federal support? 5. If the project depends on federal support that may or may not be received, is it premature for the State of North Dakota to make a financial commitment at this time? Should the decision of the Industrial Commission be postponed until there is more certainty about project funding? Thank you for your consideration. Geoff Simon Executive Director Western Dakota Energy Association 701-527-1832 (mobile) geoff@ndenergy.org

I enjoyed working with you on stories and always appreciated your knowledge of topics and your willingness to give me some of your time. Thanks too for letting Jack take those Scotcheroos. He was kind enough to share them, and honestly I'm not sure I would have done that. Please tell Beth hers are still the best I've ever had. Wishing you all the best, TS Travis Svihovec Reporter Bismarck Tribune 701-250-8260

I have had to make many difficult decisions in that time, but never one as difficult as this one. After visiting with Beth and others, I have decided that this term will be my last. The decision has been a hard one because I have truly enjoyed my time in this office, and that is in large part because I have been able to work with some of the most dedicated and loyal employees anyone could ask for. You are trusted colleagues, and for many of you, I regard you as dear friends. The citizens of North Dakota have seen fit to elect me to this important office six times and it has been an honor beyond measure. The end of my current term will mark 22 years as North Dakota's 29th Attorney General. For all but a couple of you, I'm the only boss in the office you've known. My current term runs through the end of 2022, and we still have lots of time to continue together the important work we have ahead of us. When you walk into the front of our office in the Capitol you see that composite photograph of all the people who have served North Dakota as Attorney General over the years. After my photo there are seven blank spots. Those spots are reserved for the people who will come after me. I know that whoever is fortunate enough to have his or her photo included after mine will inherit a talented, dedicated group of employees who come to work every day with the goal of keeping North Dakota the very best place to work and live. Everyone,

The district court just granted us a preliminary injunction in the federal contractor mandate case. I'm not sure why the court only ruled on the request for a preliminary injunction when the parties agreed to convert the preliminary injunction motion into a request for a permanent injunction. But a win is still a win. See attached.

The scope of the injunction appears to apply to all contractors in our respective states. Here's what it the court said: "Defendants are enjoined from enforcing the vaccine mandate for federal contractors and subcontractors in all covered contracts in Missouri, Nebraska, Alaska, Arkansas, Iowa, Montana, New Hampshire, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wyoming."

Thanks to Michael Talent in Missouri for all his great work on this case.

Subject: FW: Amicus Brief Supporting Challenge to NASDAQ Race- and Sex-Based Quotas

Attached is a new amicus request. Deadline to join is Dec. 27. Here is the explanation from below:

We wanted to let you know about a multi-state amicus brief we plan on circulating late this week or early next week. The amicus brief would support challenges to SEC approval of a NASDAQ proposed "diversity" requirement. That requirement (discussed in greater detail below) adopts one of the crudest and most odious tool available to the government: race- and sex-based quotas. All companies that fail to satisfy those quotas would be compelled to make statements explaining (i.e., apologizing for) their failure to do so.

Challenges to SEC's approval have been consolidated in the Fifth Circuit. One opening brief challenging the rule has already been filed (attached). Another will be filed on December 20, so our amicus brief will be due December 27.

Hi all,

Attached is our draft amicus brief in support of the challenges to the SEC/Nasdaq Quota Rule. Please let us know any questions or suggestions that you have. Given the outrageousness of SEC's adoption of explicit race- and sex-based quotas for Nasdaq-listed companies, we are hopeful that we can have a broad coalition here.

For greater detail on the challenged rule, we are attaching the opening brief of one of the challengers as well.

We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 5pm Eastern.

The amicus brief would support challenges to SEC approval of a NASDAQ proposed "diversity" requirement. That requirement (discussed in greater detail below) adopts one of the crudest and most odious tool available to the government: race- and sex-based quotas. All companies that fail to satisfy those quotas would be compelled to make statements explaining (i.e., apologizing for) their failure to do so. Challenges to SEC's approval have been consolidated in the Fifth Circuit. One opening brief challenging the rule has already been filed (attached). Another will be filed on December 20, so our amicus brief will be due December 27. Because of the holiday season, we wanted to give everyone a heads up that this brief will be coming. We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 2pm Eastern. Please feel free to reach out to us with any questions or suggestions. Sincerely, Drew Nasdaq Quota Requirement Overview: On December 1, 2020, the Nasdaq proposed to adopt a series of rules related to corporate board "diversity." After taking comments, Nasdaq submitted an amended proposal to the SEC in February which had three main components, which apply to every Nasdaq-listed firm (minus some exceptions for small and foreign firms): (1) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who "self-identifies her gender as a woman;" (2) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who self-identifies as "Black or African American, Hispanic or Latinx, Asian, Native American or Alaska Native, Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, or Two or More Races or Ethnicities" or as "LGBTQ+," which is defined as "lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender or as a member of the queer community;" and (3) to provide statistical information on directors' sex, race, and sexual orientation status. See Securities and Exchange Commission, Order Approving Proposed Rule Changes, as Modified by Amendments No. 1, 86 Fed. Reg. 44,424 (Aug. 6, 2021), https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2021/08/12/2021-17179/self-regulatory-organizations-the-nasdaq-stock-market-llc-order-approving-proposed-rule-changes-as. On August 6, 2021, the Securities and Exchange Commission—on a 3-2 party-line vote—approved Nasdaq's proposal without modification, finalizing these requirements as Nasdaq rules. In response to objections that this proposal violated the Constitution, the SEC adopted Nasdaq's argument that the rule was not subject to the Constitution because Nasdaq was not a state actor. https://www.federalregister.gov/d/2021-17179/p-301. On August 10, 2021, the Alliance for Fair Board Recruitment (AFBR) filed a Petition for Review of the SEC's action in the Fifth Circuit. Additional petitioner National Center for Public Policy Research (NCPPR) filed in the Third Circuit, and was transferred to the Fifth Circuit on October 28, 2021.

Attached is a new amicus request. Deadline to join is Dec. 27. Here is the explanation from below:

We wanted to let you know about a multi-state amicus brief we plan on circulating late this week or early next week. The amicus brief would support challenges to SEC approval of a NASDAQ proposed "diversity" requirement. That requirement (discussed in greater detail below) adopts one of the crudest and most odious tool available to the government: race- and sex-based quotas. All companies that fail to satisfy those quotas would be compelled to make statements explaining (i.e., apologizing for) their failure to do so.

Challenges to SEC's approval have been consolidated in the Fifth Circuit. One opening brief challenging the rule has already been filed (attached). Another will be filed on December 20, so our amicus brief will be due December 27.

Hi all,

Attached is our draft amicus brief in support of the challenges to the SEC/Nasdaq Quota Rule. Please let us know any questions or suggestions that you have. Given the outrageousness of SEC's adoption of explicit race- and sex-based quotas for Nasdaq-listed companies, we are hopeful that we can have a broad coalition here.

For greater detail on the challenged rule, we are attaching the opening brief of one of the challengers as well.

We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 5pm Eastern.

Sincerely, Drew Nasdaq Quota Requirement Overview: On December 1, 2020, the Nasdaq proposed to adopt a series of rules related to corporate board "diversity." After taking comments, Nasdaq submitted an amended proposal to the SEC in February which had three main components, which apply to every Nasdaq-listed firm (minus some exceptions for small and foreign firms): (1) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who "self-identifies her gender as a woman;" (2) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who self-identifies as "Black or African American, Hispanic or Latinx, Asian, Native American or Alaska Native, Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, or Two or More Races or Ethnicities" or as "LGBTQ+," which is defined as "lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender or as a member of the queer community;" and (3) to provide statistical information on directors' sex, race, and sexual orientation status. See Securities and Exchange Commission, Order Approving Proposed Rule Changes, as Modified by Amendments No. 1, 86 Fed. On August 6, 2021, the Securities and Exchange Commission—on a 3-2 party-line vote—approved Nasdaq's proposal without modification, finalizing these requirements as Nasdaq rules. In response to objections that this proposal violated the Constitution, the SEC adopted Nasdaq's argument that the rule was not subject to the Constitution because Nasdaq was not a state actor. https://www.federalregister.gov/d/2021-17179/p-301. On August 10, 2021, the Alliance for Fair Board Recruitment (AFBR) filed a Petition for Review of the SEC's action in the Fifth Circuit. Additional petitioner National Center for Public Policy Research (NCPPR) filed in the Third Circuit, and was transferred to the Fifth Circuit on October 28, 2021.

While, in theory, this is a favorable position for a state, I would be very reluctant to recommend joining at this time and I'm not sure Wayne will want to sign-on for the following reasons: Very short deadline for noon tomorrow; The brief is fairly aggressive; We do not have any idea, unless you or Civil Lit. does, whether under North Dakota law a state can release the claims of its political subdivisions; and In light of ongoing negotiations with political subdivisions, litigating and non-litigating, to get them to agree to sign-on to the national opioid distributors, with acritical deadline by January 2, I don't think now would be the time to take such a public position… Obviously, if Wayne would like to join, it is a decision he could make. Having read the brief, I am in complete agreement with Ohio. Why they waited until the last minute to let us join, I don't know.
We'll hold off for now. If you haven't heard otherwise by yhe deadline, we will pass, and cheer from the sidelines.
Wayne

Subject: FW: Amicus Brief in Opioid MDL McKinsey litigation (N.D. Cal.)

While, in theory, this is a favorable position for a state, I would be very reluctant to recommend joining at this time and I'm not sure Wayne will want to sign-on for the following reasons:

Very short deadline for noon tomorrow;
The brief is fairly aggressive;
We do not have any idea, unless you or Civil Lit. does, whether under North Dakota law a state can release the claims of its political subdivisions; and
In light of ongoing negotiations with political subdivisions, litigating and non-litigating, to get them to agree to sign-on to the national opioid distributors, with acritical deadline by January 2, I don't think now would be the time to take such a public position…

Obviously, if Wayne would like to join, it is a decision he could make.

Please note that I will be out the rest of today and tomorrow and therefore, if anyone needs further discussion, you will want to do so by contacting me on my cell phone.

Thanks.

Subject: FW: Amicus Brief Supporting Challenge to NASDAQ Race- and Sex-Based Quotas

Attached is a new amicus request. Deadline to join is Dec. 27. Here is the explanation from below:

We wanted to let you know about a multi-state amicus brief we plan on circulating late this week or early next week. The amicus brief would support challenges to SEC approval of a NASDAQ proposed "diversity" requirement. That requirement (discussed in greater detail below) adopts one of the crudest and most odious tool available to the government: race- and sex-based quotas. All companies that fail to satisfy those quotas would be compelled to make statements explaining (i.e., apologizing for) their failure to do so.

Challenges to SEC's approval have been consolidated in the Fifth Circuit. One opening brief challenging the rule has already been filed (attached). Another will be filed on December 20, so our amicus brief will be due December 27.

Hi all,

Attached is our draft amicus brief in support of the challenges to the SEC/Nasdaq Quota Rule. Please let us know any questions or suggestions that you have. Given the outrageousness of SEC's adoption of explicit race- and sex-based quotas for Nasdaq-listed companies, we are hopeful that we can have a broad coalition here.

Another will be filed on December 20, so our amicus brief will be due December 27. Because of the holiday season, we wanted to give everyone a heads up that this brief will be coming. We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 2pm Eastern. Please feel free to reach out to us with any questions or suggestions. Sincerely, Drew Nasdaq Quota Requirement Overview: On December 1, 2020, the Nasdaq proposed to adopt a series of rules related to corporate board "diversity." After taking comments, Nasdaq submitted an amended proposal to the SEC in February which had three main components, which apply to every Nasdaq-listed firm (minus some exceptions for small and foreign firms): (1) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who "self-identifies her gender as a woman;" (2) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who self-identifies as "Black or African American, Hispanic or Latinx, Asian, Native American or Alaska Native, Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, or Two or More Races or Ethnicities" or as "LGBTQ+," which is defined as "lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender or as a member of the queer community;" and (3) to provide statistical information on directors' sex, race, and sexual orientation status. See Securities and Exchange Commission, Order Approving Proposed Rule Changes, as Modified by Amendments No. 1, 86 Fed. Reg. 44,424 (Aug. 6, 2021), https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2021/08/12/2021-17179/self-regulatory-organizations-the-nasdaq-stock-market-llc-order-approving-proposed-rule-changes-as. On August 6, 2021, the Securities and Exchange Commission—on a 3-2 party-line vote—approved Nasdaq's proposal without modification, finalizing these requirements as Nasdaq rules. In response to objections that this proposal violated the Constitution, the SEC adopted Nasdaq's argument that the rule was not subject to the Constitution because Nasdaq was not a state actor. https://www.federalregister.gov/d/2021-17179/p-301. On August 10, 2021, the Alliance for Fair Board Recruitment (AFBR) filed a Petition for Review of the SEC's action in the Fifth Circuit. Additional petitioner National Center for Public Policy Research (NCPPR) filed in the Third Circuit, and was transferred to the Fifth Circuit on October 28, 2021.

Attached is a new amicus request. Deadline to join is Dec. 27. Here is the explanation from below:

We wanted to let you know about a multi-state amicus brief we plan on circulating late this week or early next week. The amicus brief would support challenges to SEC approval of a NASDAQ proposed "diversity" requirement. That requirement (discussed in greater detail below) adopts one of the crudest and most odious tool available to the government: race- and sex-based quotas. All companies that fail to satisfy those quotas would be compelled to make statements explaining (i.e., apologizing for) their failure to do so.

Challenges to SEC's approval have been consolidated in the Fifth Circuit. One opening brief challenging the rule has already been filed (attached). Another will be filed on December 20, so our amicus brief will be due December 27.

Attached is a new amicus request. Deadline to join is Dec. 27. Here is the explanation from below:

We wanted to let you know about a multi-state amicus brief we plan on circulating late this week or early next week. The amicus brief would support challenges to SEC approval of a NASDAQ proposed "diversity" requirement. That requirement (discussed in greater detail below) adopts one of the crudest and most odious tool available to the government: race- and sex-based quotas. All companies that fail to satisfy those quotas would be compelled to make statements explaining (i.e., apologizing for) their failure to do so.

Challenges to SEC's approval have been consolidated in the Fifth Circuit. One opening brief challenging the rule has already been filed (attached). Another will be filed on December 20, so our amicus brief will be due December 27.

Hi all,

Body	Attached is our draft amicus brief in support of the challenges to the SEC/Nasdaq Quota Rule. Please let us know any questions or suggestions that you have. Given the outrageousness of SEC's adoption of explicit race- and sex-based quotas for Nasdaq-listed companies, we are hopeful that we can have a broad coalition here. For greater detail on the challenged rule, we are attaching the opening brief of one of the challengers as well. We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 5pm Eastern. Sincerely, Drew From: Ensign, Drew Sent: Tuesday, December 14, 2021 7:42:49 AM To: Benjamin Flowers; Dewhirst, David; Chanay, Jeff; Murrill, Elizabeth; Maddox, Victor (KYOAG); Brasington, Charles E (LAW); Judd Stone; Joshua Richardson; Henry Whitaker; Bowdre, Barrett; Mills, Cori M (LAW); Alloway, Jessie M (LAW); Dizon, Ninia R (LAW); Roysden, Beau; Daniel Bell; James Percival; Jeffrey DeSousa; Drew Waldbeser; Ross Bergethon; brian.kane@ag.idaho.gov; tom.fisher@atg.in.gov; Laue, Brant; Meredith, Chad (KYOAG); Kuhn, Matt F (KYOAG); St. John, Joseph; Whitney.Lipscomb@ago.ms.gov; Scott.Stewart@ago.ms.gov; Justin.Matheny@ago.ms.gov; john.sauer@ago.mo.gov; Campbell, Jim; Daniel.E.Will@doj.nh.gov; Anthony.J.Galdieri@doj.nh.gov; wstenehjem@nd.gov; masagove@nd.gov; Seibel, Troy; May Mailman; Mansinghani, Mithun; zach.west@oag.ok.gov; Smith, Emory; HKirkland@scag.gov; BCook@scag.gov; ThomasHydrick@scag.gov; steven.blair@state.sd.us; Paul.Swedlund@state.sd.us; Sarah K. Sincerely, Drew Nasdaq Quota Requirement Overview: On December 1, 2020, the Nasdaq proposed to adopt a series of rules related to corporate board "diversity." After taking comments, Nasdaq submitted an amended proposal to the SEC in February which had three main components, which apply to every Nasdaq-listed firm (minus some exceptions for small and foreign firms): (1) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who "self-identifies her gender as a woman;" (2) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who self-identifies as "Black or African American, Hispanic or Latinx, Asian, Native American or Alaska Native, Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, or Two or More Races or Ethnicities" or as "LGBTQ+," which is defined as "lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender or as a member of the queer community;" and (3) to provide statistical information on directors' sex, race, and sexual orientation status. See Securities and Exchange Commission, Order Approving Proposed Rule Changes, as Modified by Amendments No. 1, 86 Fed. Reg. 44,424 (Aug. 6, 2021), https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2021/08/12/2021-17179/self-regulatory-organizations-the-nasdaq-stock-market-llc-order-approving-proposed-rule-changes-as. On August 6, 2021, the Securities and Exchange Commission—on a 3-2 party-line vote—approved Nasdaq's proposal without modification, finalizing these requirements as Nasdaq rules. In response to objections that this proposal violated the Constitution, the SEC adopted Nasdaq's argument that the rule was not subject to the Constitution because Nasdaq was not a state actor. https://www.federalregister.gov/d/2021-17179/p-301. On August 10, 2021, the Alliance for Fair Board Recruitment (AFBR) filed a Petition for Review of the SEC's action in the Fifth Circuit. Additional petitioner National Center for Public Policy Research (NCPPR) filed in the Third Circuit, and was transferred to the Fifth Circuit on October 28, 2021.

I have had to make many difficult decisions in that time, but never one as difficult as this one. After visiting with Beth and others, I have decided that this term will be my last. The decision has been a hard one because I have truly enjoyed my time in this office, and that is in large part because I have been able to work with some of the most dedicated and loyal employees anyone could ask for. You are trusted colleagues, and for many of you, I regard you as dear friends. The citizens of North Dakota have seen fit to elect me to this important office six times and it has been an honor beyond measure. The end of my current term will mark 22 years as North Dakota's 29th Attorney General. For all but a couple of you, I'm the only boss in the office you've known. My current term runs through the end of 2022, and we still have lots of time to continue together the important work we have ahead of us. When you walk into the front of our office in the Capitol you see that composite photograph of all the people who have served North Dakota as Attorney General over the years. After my photo there are seven blank spots. Those spots are reserved for the people who will come after me. I know that whoever is fortunate enough to have his or her photo included after mine will inherit a talented, dedicated group of employees who come to work every day with the goal of keeping North Dakota the very best place to work and live. I wish you all the best of the Holiday Season, and look forward to continuing to work with you through 2022! Warmly, Wayne

Subject: Re: Amicus Brief Supporting Challenge to NASDAQ Race- and Sex-Based Quotas

Hi all,

Attached is a slightly updated version of the Fifth Circuit amicus brief for the Nasdaq/SEC Quota Rule challenge. So far Alaska, Arkansas, and Montana have joined.

Basically, the brief makes two points that are probably pretty uncontroversial for this group: (1) explicit race- and sex-based quotas are bad and violate the Constitution and (2) SEC cannot use a highly generalized and circumscribed grant of authority to intrude upon an area traditionally regulated by state law and in service of an agenda of restructuring society in the agency's own social-justice-minded image (while violating the Constitution in the process).

We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 5pm Eastern. Please let us know if you have any questions or would like to discuss any of this.

Sincerely,
Drew

The amicus brief would support challenges to SEC approval of a NASDAQ proposed "diversity" requirement. That requirement (discussed in greater detail below) adopts one of the crudest and most odious tool available to the government: race- and sex-based quotas. All companies that fail to satisfy those quotas would be compelled to make statements explaining (i.e., apologizing for) their failure to do so. Challenges to SEC's approval have been consolidated in the Fifth Circuit. One opening brief challenging the rule has already been filed (attached). Another will be filed on December 20, so our amicus brief will be due December 27. Because of the holiday season, we wanted to give everyone a heads up that this brief will be coming. We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 2pm Eastern. Please feel free to reach out to us with any questions or suggestions. Sincerely, Drew Nasdaq Quota Requirement Overview: On December 1, 2020, the Nasdaq proposed to adopt a series of rules related to corporate board "diversity." After taking comments, Nasdaq submitted an amended proposal to the SEC in February which had three main components, which apply to every Nasdaq-listed firm (minus some exceptions for small and foreign firms): (1) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who "self-identifies her gender as a woman;" (2) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who self-identifies as "Black or African American, Hispanic or Latinx, Asian, Native American or Alaska Native, Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, or Two or More Races or Ethnicities" or as "LGBTQ+," which is defined as "lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender or as a member of the queer community;" and (3) to provide statistical information on directors' sex, race, and sexual orientation status. See Securities and Exchange Commission, Order Approving Proposed Rule Changes, as Modified by Amendments No. 1, 86 Fed. Reg. 44,424 (Aug. 6, 2021). https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2021/08/12/2021-17179/self-regulatory-organizations-the-nasdaq-stock-market-llc-order-approving-proposed-rule-changes-as. On August 6, 2021, the Securities and Exchange Commission – on a 3-2 party-line vote – approved Nasdaq's proposal without modification, finalizing these requirements as Nasdaq rules. In response to objections that this proposal violated the Constitution, the SEC adopted Nasdaq's argument that the rule was not subject to the Constitution because Nasdaq was not a state actor. https://www.federalregister.gov/d/2021-17179/p-301. On August 10, 2021, the Alliance for Fair Board Recruitment (AFBR) filed a Petition for Review of the SEC's action in the Fifth Circuit. Additional petitioner National Center for Public Policy Research (NCPPR) filed in the Third Circuit, and was transferred to the Fifth Circuit on October 28, 2021.

Subject: Re: Amicus Brief Supporting Challenge to NASDAQ Race- and Sex-Based Quotas

Hi all,

Attached is a slightly updated version of the Fifth Circuit amicus brief for the Nasdaq/SEC Quota Rule challenge. So far Alaska, Arkansas, and Montana have joined.

Basically, the brief makes two points that are probably pretty uncontroversial for this group: (1) explicit race- and sex-based quotas are bad and violate the Constitution and (2) SEC cannot use a highly generalized and circumscribed grant of authority to intrude upon an area traditionally regulated by state law and in service of an agenda of restructuring society in the agency's own social-justice-minded image (while violating the Constitution in the process).

We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 5pm Eastern. Please let us know if you have any questions or would like to discuss any of this.

Sincerely,
Drew

The amicus brief would support challenges to SEC approval of a NASDAQ proposed "diversity" requirement. That requirement (discussed in greater detail below) adopts one of the crudest and most odious tool available to the government: race- and sex-based quotas. All companies that fail to satisfy those quotas would be compelled to make statements explaining (i.e., apologizing for) their failure to do so. Challenges to SEC's approval have been consolidated in the Fifth Circuit. One opening brief challenging the rule has already been filed (attached). Another will be filed on December 20, so our amicus brief will be due December 27. Because of the holiday season, we wanted to give everyone a heads up that this brief will be coming. We will be able to accept sign-ons until December 27 at 2pm Eastern. Please feel free to reach out to us with any questions or suggestions. Sincerely, Drew Nasdaq Quota Requirement Overview: On December 1, 2020, the Nasdaq proposed to adopt a series of rules related to corporate board "diversity." After taking comments, Nasdaq submitted an amended proposal to the SEC in February which had three main components, which apply to every Nasdaq-listed firm (minus some exceptions for small and foreign firms): (1) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who "self-identifies her gender as a woman;" (2) to have, or explain why it does not have, at least one director who self-identifies as "Black or African American, Hispanic or Latinx, Asian, Native American or Alaska Native, Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, or Two or More Races or Ethnicities" or as "LGBTQ+," which is defined as "lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender or as a member of the queer community;" and (3) to provide statistical information on directors' sex, race, and sexual orientation status. See Securities and Exchange Commission, Order Approving Proposed Rule Changes, as Modified by Amendments No. 1, 86 Fed. Reg. 44,424 (Aug. 6, 2021). https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2021/08/12/2021-17179/self-regulatory-organizations-the-nasdaq-stock-market-llc-order-approving-proposed-rule-changes-as. On August 6, 2021, the Securities and Exchange Commission – on a 3-2 party-line vote – approved Nasdaq's proposal without modification, finalizing these requirements as Nasdaq rules. In response to objections that this proposal violated the Constitution, the SEC adopted Nasdaq's argument that the rule was not subject to the Constitution because Nasdaq was not a state actor. https://www.federalregister.gov/d/2021-17179/p-301. On August 10, 2021, the Alliance for Fair Board Recruitment (AFBR) filed a Petition for Review of the SEC's action in the Fifth Circuit. Additional petitioner National Center for Public Policy Research (NCPPR) filed in the Third Circuit, and was transferred to the Fifth Circuit on October 28, 2021.

Mike Schwab of the North Dakota Pharmacists Association reached out to me about speaking at a convention that they are planning to hold in March. He'd like me to discuss Rutledge and Wehbi. Mike also mentioned that Wayne might participate. Because of my role on behalf of the State, I would not agree to participate without your approval and Mark's. And because of the pendency of the litigation, I would only speak factually about the case. I would not make any predictions about how Wehbi affects other statutes. Indeed, my approach, and Howard's, has always been to assume that our adversary is sitting in the room. As a result, we have been very careful about what we've said about Rutledge in the past. Mark and I spoke the other day, and he is comfortable with me giving a presentation along the lines I've just proposed. Howard and I wanted to make sure you agree before I accept any invitation from Mike. Howard and I are also happy to share in advance any PowerPoint presentation we prepare, so that you can vet it beforehand. Again, this is not urgent. When you have a few minutes, please let us know if you are comfortable with my participation at the conference. I will then get back to Mike. Finally, on behalf of Howard and myself, I wanted to express our appreciation for the opportunity to work with you and serve the people of North Dakota. As you can see, our flight home for today has been cancelled.
We are now scheduled for tomorrow instead, so it looks like I will not be in the office tomorrow.
I have that one opinion that Ally says must be out before next week so I will be working on that today.
Let me know if there's anything else I need to do before the end of the year.

Perhaps you can find out the answer to this question:
We are required to have a negative COVID test within 24 hours to fly home.
We got the tests [all negative] but now our flight leaves tomorrow at 3:40pm, 24 hours later.
Do we have to have another test today to fly?

According to the CDC information, for testing to return to the USA: if your FIRST flight in your trip is delayed past the 1-day limit of testing due to a situation beyond your control (e.ge delays because of severe weather or aircraft mechanical problem) and that delay is 24 hours or less past the 1-day limit for testing, you do not need to be retested. If the delay is more than 24 hours past the 1-day limit, then you will need to be retested. According to the CDC information, for testing to return to the USA: if your FIRST flight in your trip is delayed past the 1-day limit of testing due to a situation beyond your control (e.ge delays because of severe weather or aircraft mechanical problem) and that delay is 24 hours or less past the 1-day limit for testing, you do not need to be retested. If the delay is more than 24 hours past the 1-day limit, then you will need to be retested. Very well.
Perhaps you can find out the answer to this question:
We are required to have a negative COVID test within 24 hours to fly home.
We got the tests [all negative] but now our flight leaves tomorrow at 3:40pm, 24 hours later.
Do we have to have another test today to fly?
[the Delta app is useless, and the wait for a phone call is 688 minutes]
Can you find the answer for us somewhere?

Today we have announced our latest publication that may be of particular interest to NASFM. Most chemical exposure studies have primarily focused on firefighters during suppression or overhaul. However, as you know, fire investigators may be occupationally exposed to many of the same compounds but are often tasked with working on the scene for longer periods of time with limited PPE. Our latest peer-reviewed journal article highlights the need to protect investigators' airways from particulates during investigations and post-fire reconstruction activities. "Airborne contamination during post-fire investigations: hot, warm and cold scenes" was recently published in the Journal of Occupational and Environmental Hygiene. Learn more about the study and download the article here: https://s.ul.org/3yMRNFA Let us know if you have any questions about the study. We plan to highlight this again on our channels following the holidays. Thanks for all you do. Good afternoon, Liz, Attached is the most recent, cite-checked version of the Ethics Commission opinion. I'm still waiting for Wayne's final decision on the footnote, but both are included just in case you think it will make a difference for the summary.

Can you please proof it too?

Thank you,

Hi Troy,

The address may be misspelled or may not exist. Try one or more of the following:

- Send the message again following these steps: In Outlook, open this non-delivery report (NDR) and choose Send Again from the Report ribbon. In Outlook on the web, select this NDR, then select the link "To send this message again, click here." Then delete and retype the entire recipient address. More Info for Email Admins

Status code: 550 5.1.1

This error occurs because the sender sent a message to an email address outside of Office 365, but the address is incorrect or doesn't exist at the destination domain. The error is reported by the recipient domain's email server, but most often it must be fixed by the person who sent the message. If the steps in the How to Fix It section above don't fix the problem, and you're the email admin for the recipient, try one or more of the following:

The email address exists and is correct - Confirm that the recipient address exists, is correct, and is accepting messages.

Synchronize your directories - If you have a hybrid environment and are using directory synchronization make sure the recipient's email address is synced correctly in both Office 365 and in your on-premises directory.

Errant forwarding rule - Check for forwarding rules that aren't behaving as expected. Forwarding can be set up by an admin via mail flow rules or mailbox forwarding address settings, or by the recipient via the Inbox Rules feature.

Mail flow settings and MX records are not correct - Misconfigured mail flow or MX record settings can cause this error. Check your Office 365 mail flow settings to make sure your domain and any mail flow connectors are set up correctly. Also, work with your domain registrar to make sure the MX records for your domain are configured correctly.

These Reply Comments support the FCC's proposal to place new obligations on gateway providers that serve as the U.S. point of entry for foreign-originated illegal robocalls. This effort is co-sponsored by Arkansas, Pennsylvania, and North Carolina. Attached is a copy of the FNPRM, the sign-on memo and form, and of course the Reply Comments. If you are interested in joining as a signatory to these Reply Comments, please complete and return the sign-on form to me (tnayer@ncdoj.gov), Ryan Greenstein at NAAG (rgreenstein@naag.org), and Ashley Wynstra at NAAG (awynstra@naag.org) by NEXT Friday, January 7, 2022, at 3:00 pm ET. NOTE: The FCC filing is the following Monday, so we do have a bit of wiggle room if you need a few more hours beyond the 3pm ET deadline. Just keep me posted on your progress. YES, because of the holidays, this is an abbreviated sign-on period, since none of us should be checking email right now. And, YES, it is almost New Year's, and I sincerely apologize for intruding on your holiday (I, too, planned to turn off notifications on my email right now, I promise!!). The delays in getting this to you lay squarely at the feet of North Carolina, so please direct your rightful indignation in my direction. NC's co-sponsors do not deserve your ire, and have been extraordinarily gracious and collaborative partners in this effort. HOWEVER, these Reply Comments need and deserve 51 sign-ons, because they concern important next steps in our collective advocacy and are absolutely significant and consequential. So PLEASE do not take your frustration in the timing of this sign-on out on the effort, because it is a worthy one. If you have any questions about the Reply Comments as you consider joining, please feel free to contact any of the following members of the Robocall Technologies Working Group Executive Committee: • John Abel in PA (jabel@attorneygeneral.gov) • Brandon Bingle in PA (bbingle@attorneygeneral.gov) • David McCoy in AR (david.mccoy@arkansasag.gov) • Peggy Johnson in AR (peggy.johnson@arkansasag.gov) • Tracy Nayer in NC (tnayer@ncdoj.gov). Press will be coordinated for this sign-on through North Carolina's press office. Please direct all press related inquiries to NC's Press Secretary Nazneen Ahmed at Nahmed@ncdoj.gov or 919-716-0060. Commerce takes the position that the records are confidential, and DOH will need to service Commerce with a subpoena for the records. Therefore, DOH will be serving Commerce with a subpoena for the records. I do not recall that we have had to do this before, so I just want to make sure you are aware of what is happening. Matt

Matt,

Following up to get your thoughts on the below as well as the proposed revisions to S.3200 sent in e-mail dated 12/29/2021. Happy to discuss in a call if convenient.

Also, be advised that the McKenzie County Grazing Association has sent the attached letter to Representative Armstrong requesting that the Little Missouri National Grasslands be completely removed from the current bill. Paragraph 3 calls out the section line rights-of-way issue.

Thank You,

James

Subject: RE: Land Transfers

Matt,

I don't believe we have specifically discussed sections 54-01-12, 54-01-13, 54-01-13.2, 54-01-13.3, but I don't see any glaring issues aside from those we have already discussed. Here is my take, please let me know if you disagree with anything - I would be happy to discuss further.

- Article IX, § 6 of the constitution requires further legislative authority to exchange state- owned original grant lands with federal lands (see highlighted language below).
- This legislative authority appears in N.D.C.C. §§ 15-06-19.1, 54-01-12, and 54-01-13:
  - § 15- 06- 19.1 grants the Board legislative authority to exchange "[o]riginal grant school or institutional lands and any other lands controlled by the board of university and school lands" with federal lands "of like character and value". I interpret this grant of authority to be quite broad and apply to all lands under the control of the Board (whether granted in the Enabling act or otherwise acquired thereafter, and wherever located).
  - § 54- 01- 12 grants legislative authority to exchange state- owned non- grant lands located on Indian reservations within the state with federal lands also located on Indian reservations within the state. The language does not indicate that the lands exchanged must be located the same reservation.
  - § 54- 01- 13 grants legislative authority to exchange state- owned non- grant lands located within the borders of Fort Berthold reservation with federal lands located outside of Fort Berthold reservation.
- S.3200 specifically proposes an exchange of state- owned land located within the Little Missouri National Grassland and within the reservations.
- N.D.C.C. §§ 54- 01- 13.1, 13.2, and 13.3 all appear to apply only to exchanges of land within Theodore Roosevelt National Park. It is my understanding that most (if not all) state- owned land within the Park has already been exchanged.

N.D. Const. art. IX, § 6.
Any of said lands that may be required for townsite purposes, schoolhouse sites, church sites, cemetery sites, sites for other educational or charitable institutions, public parks, airplane landing fields, fairgrounds, public highways, railroad right of way, or other railroad uses and purposes, reservoirs for the storage of water for irrigation, irrigation canals, and ditches, drainage ditches, or for any of the purposes for which private lands may be taken under the right of eminent domain under the constitution and laws of this state, may be sold under the provisions of this article, and shall be paid for in full at the time of sale, or at any time thereafter as herein provided. Any of said lands and any other lands controlled by the board of university and school lands, including state coal mineral interests, may, with the approval of said board, be exchanged for lands and coal mineral interests of the United States, the state of North Dakota or any county or municipality thereof as the legislature may provide, and the lands so acquired shall be subject to the trust to which the lands exchanged therefor were subject, and the state shall reserve all mineral and water power rights in land so transferred.

Body	except coal mineral interests approved for exchange by the board of university and school lands under this section. 15-06-19.1. Exchange of lands with the United States. Original grant school or institutional lands and any other lands controlled by the board of university and school lands may be exchanged for lands of like character and value belonging to the United States government when it appears that such exchange will be advantageous to the state of North Dakota and will effect an increase in the value of such lands by consolidation or by making lands more accessible. Such exchange is subject to the approval of the proper department of the federal government, and such lands must be appraised as provided by law in the case of sale of real property owned by the state. The state also may execute and deliver proper conveyances of such land in the manner and form provided by law without the necessity of complying with any statute requiring the giving of notice of exchange or competitive bidding, and may accept in return therefor a proper instrument of conveyance to the state of North Dakota of the land for which such lands are exchanged, and the lands so acquired are subject to the trust to which the lands exchanged therefor were subject. 54-01-12. Exchange of lands on Indian reservation between state and federal government. The state of North Dakota, through its several departments and agencies, may exchange tracts and sections of land on Indian reservations within the state, belonging to the state of North Dakota, and not a part of the original grant of land to the state provided in the Enabling Act, for lands of like character and value belonging to the United States government on Indian reservations within this state. Such exchange is subject to the approval of the appropriate department of the federal government and the lands must be appraised in the manner provided by law. The state also may execute and deliver proper conveyances of such land in the manner and form provided by law, without the necessity of complying with any statute requiring notice of exchange or competitive bidding, and it may accept in return therefor a proper instrument of conveyance to the state of the lands for which such state lands are exchanged. 54-01-13. Exchange of lands on Fort Berthold reservation. The state of North Dakota, through its several departments and agencies, is hereby authorized and empowered to exchange tracts, sections, and parcels of land located within the diminished borders of Fort Berthold reservation belonging to the state of North Dakota and not a part of the original grant of lands to the state provided for in the Enabling Act, for lands of like character and value belonging to the United States government located outside of the diminished borders of said Fort Berthold reservation. Such exchange is subject to the approval of the proper department of the federal government, and such lands must be appraised as provided by law in the case of sale of real property owned by the state. The state also may execute and deliver proper conveyances of such land in the manner and form provided by law, without the necessity of complying with any statute requiring the giving of notice of exchange or competitive bidding, and may accept in return therefor a proper instrument of conveyance to the state of North Dakota of the land for which such lands are exchanged. 54-01-13.1. Exchange of lands within Theodore Roosevelt National Park. The state of North Dakota is hereby authorized to transfer and convey to the United States of America any lands situated within the Theodore Roosevelt National Park in the county of Billings, state of North Dakota, including state school lands and lands held by the state historical society or for the use and benefit of the state game and fish department, such transfer and conveyance to be made in exchange for federal lands of not less than equal value situated outside of the Theodore Roosevelt National Park. 54-01-13.2. Appraisal. The lands to be conveyed to the United States of America and also the lands to be taken in exchange therefor, under the provisions of section 54-01-13.1, must be appraised by the county superintendent of schools, the county auditor, and the chairman of the board of county commissioners in the county where the land is situated, at its fair market value, but no state school lands may be appraised and valued at less than ten dollars per acre [.40 hectare]. The county director of tax equalization shall serve as an assistant in making the appraisals. 54-01-13.3. Conveyance. Conveyances made under section 54-01-13.1 to the United States of America of state school lands must be executed in the same form and manner as now provided by law for the sale and conveyance of state school lands and conveyance by the state of other lands under the provisions of section 54-01-13.1 must be executed on behalf of the state of North Dakota by the governor and attested by the secretary of state. Matt,

Following up to get your thoughts on the below as well as the proposed revisions to S.3200 sent in e-mail dated 12/29/2021. Happy to discuss in a call if convenient.

Also, be advised that the McKenzie County Grazing Association has sent the attached letter to Representative Armstrong requesting that the Little Missouri National Grasslands be completely removed from the current bill. Paragraph 3 calls out the section line rights-of-way issue.

Thank You,

James

Subject: RE: Land Transfers

Matt,

I don't believe we have specifically discussed sections 54-01-12, 54-01-13, 54-01-13.2, 54-01-13.3, but I don't see any glaring issues aside from those we have already discussed. Here is my take, please let me know if you disagree with anything - I would be happy to discuss further.

- Article IX, § 6 of the constitution requires further legislative authority to exchange state- owned original grant lands with federal lands (see highlighted language below).
- This legislative authority appears in N.D.C.C. §§ 15-06-19.1, 54-01-12, and 54-01-13:
  - § 15- 06- 19.1 grants the Board legislative authority to exchange "[o]riginal grant school or institutional lands and any other lands controlled by the board of university and school lands" with federal lands "of like character and value". I interpret this grant of authority to be quite broad and apply to all lands under the control of the Board (whether granted in the Enabling act or otherwise acquired thereafter, and wherever located).
  - § 54- 01- 12 grants legislative authority to exchange state- owned non- grant lands located on Indian reservations within the state with federal lands also located on Indian reservations within the state. The language does not indicate that the lands exchanged must be located the same reservation.
  - § 54- 01- 13 grants legislative authority to exchange state- owned non- grant lands located within the borders of Fort Berthold reservation with federal lands located outside of Fort Berthold reservation.
- S.3200 specifically proposes an exchange of state- owned land located within the Little Missouri National Grassland and within the reservations.
- N.D.C.C. §§ 54- 01- 13.1, 13.2, and 13.3 all appear to apply only to exchanges of land within Theodore Roosevelt National Park. It is my understanding that most (if not all) state- owned land within the Park has already been exchanged.

N.D. Const. art. IX, § 6.
Any of said lands that may be required for townsite purposes, schoolhouse sites, church sites, cemetery sites, sites for other educational or charitable institutions, public parks, airplane landing fields, fairgrounds, public highways, railroad right of way, or other railroad uses and purposes, reservoirs for the storage of water for irrigation, irrigation canals, and ditches, drainage ditches, or for any of the purposes for which private lands may be taken under the right of eminent domain under the constitution and laws of this state, may be sold under the provisions of this article, and shall be paid for in full at the time of sale, or at any time thereafter as herein provided. Any of said lands and any other lands controlled by the board of university and school lands, including state coal mineral interests, may, with the approval of said board, be exchanged for lands and coal mineral interests of the United States, the state of North Dakota or any county or municipality thereof as the legislature may provide, and the lands so acquired shall be subject to the trust to which the lands exchanged therefor were subject, and the state shall reserve all mineral and water power rights in land so transferred.

Body	except coal mineral interests approved for exchange by the board of university and school lands under this section. 15-06-19.1. Exchange of lands with the United States. Original grant school or institutional lands and any other lands controlled by the board of university and school lands may be exchanged for lands of like character and value belonging to the United States government when it appears that such exchange will be advantageous to the state of North Dakota and will effect an increase in the value of such lands by consolidation or by making lands more accessible. Such exchange is subject to the approval of the proper department of the federal government, and such lands must be appraised as provided by law in the case of sale of real property owned by the state. The state also may execute and deliver proper conveyances of such land in the manner and form provided by law without the necessity of complying with any statute requiring the giving of notice of exchange or competitive bidding, and may accept in return therefor a proper instrument of conveyance to the state of North Dakota of the land for which such lands are exchanged, and the lands so acquired are subject to the trust to which the lands exchanged therefor were subject. 54-01-12. Exchange of lands on Indian reservation between state and federal government. The state of North Dakota, through its several departments and agencies, may exchange tracts and sections of land on Indian reservations within the state, belonging to the state of North Dakota, and not a part of the original grant of land to the state provided in the Enabling Act, for lands of like character and value belonging to the United States government on Indian reservations within this state. Such exchange is subject to the approval of the appropriate department of the federal government and the lands must be appraised in the manner provided by law. The state also may execute and deliver proper conveyances of such land in the manner and form provided by law, without the necessity of complying with any statute requiring notice of exchange or competitive bidding, and it may accept in return therefor a proper instrument of conveyance to the state of the lands for which such state lands are exchanged. 54-01-13. Exchange of lands on Fort Berthold reservation. The state of North Dakota, through its several departments and agencies, is hereby authorized and empowered to exchange tracts, sections, and parcels of land located within the diminished borders of Fort Berthold reservation belonging to the state of North Dakota and not a part of the original grant of lands to the state provided for in the Enabling Act, for lands of like character and value belonging to the United States government located outside of the diminished borders of said Fort Berthold reservation. Such exchange is subject to the approval of the proper department of the federal government, and such lands must be appraised as provided by law in the case of sale of real property owned by the state. The state also may execute and deliver proper conveyances of such land in the manner and form provided by law, without the necessity of complying with any statute requiring the giving of notice of exchange or competitive bidding, and may accept in return therefor a proper instrument of conveyance to the state of North Dakota of the land for which such lands are exchanged. 54-01-13.1. Exchange of lands within Theodore Roosevelt National Park. The state of North Dakota is hereby authorized to transfer and convey to the United States of America any lands situated within the Theodore Roosevelt National Park in the county of Billings, state of North Dakota, including state school lands and lands held by the state historical society or for the use and benefit of the state game and fish department, such transfer and conveyance to be made in exchange for federal lands of not less than equal value situated outside of the Theodore Roosevelt National Park. 54-01-13.2. Appraisal. The lands to be conveyed to the United States of America and also the lands to be taken in exchange therefor, under the provisions of section 54-01-13.1, must be appraised by the county superintendent of schools, the county auditor, and the chairman of the board of county commissioners in the county where the land is situated, at its fair market value, but no state school lands may be appraised and valued at less than ten dollars per acre [.40 hectare]. The county director of tax equalization shall serve as an assistant in making the appraisals. 54-01-13.3. Conveyance. Conveyances made under section 54-01-13.1 to the United States of America of state school lands must be executed in the same form and manner as now provided by law for the sale and conveyance of state school lands and conveyance by the state of other lands under the provisions of section 54-01-13.1 must be executed on behalf of the state of North Dakota by the governor and attested by the secretary of state. I hope this means that you and Beth will have even greater opportunities for interesting travel. Congratulations on your long and honorable service to the state. I reach out today because I am leading a work group to rewrite our court rule relating to open records (Admin. Rule 41). You may recall that about two years ago we amended this rule and implemented a policy of greater remote public access of court records that had been to that point available only in person at court houses. For a variety of reasons, that public access under the amended rule was suspended. Our Court Services Administration Committee spent more than a year working on another approach to these issues. Unfortunately, I believe the result of that effort did not leave us with a viable rule to manage access to records within the judicial branch. I have been working on a draft rule for consideration by the Supreme Court that would closely track the open records provisions in Chapter 44-04, in many cases by expressly incorporating those procedures by reference. As you are probably aware, Chapter 44-04 expressly excludes from the definition of "record" any documents in the possession of a court. This carve-out recognizes that the Court has authority to provide by rule for management of judicial records. I think the public should have a more consistent experience in terms of cost, response time, administrative procedure, etc whether records are requested from the executive branch or the judicial branch. I explain all this to you to ask if you would recommend someone in your office having knowledge and experience with our open records laws to participate in 2-3 meetings over the course of the next 3 months or so. I think the statutory procedures for requests, costs, response time, search and collection, and many of the exemptions and confidentiality exclusions are well crafted and would work well for court records. If this project leads where I believe it will, the court, and eventually the public, would benefit from your office's expertise in this area as we re-write our open records rule to harmonize it with Chapter 44-04. Thank you for your assistance with this and please let me know if your office has someone willing and able to assist us with this. The whole crew without hesitation cleaned up the biological material and blood so that the family wasn't retraumatized by dealing with he aftermath of their child's suicide. It is truly an honor to work with such great communities that care for one an other to that level. Upon arrival we were advised by the Sheriff that the in the evening 12.1-35-03 went to his room locking the door behind himself. After some time his mother Ann went to his door to ask him to come out to play a card game with the family. It was at this point that she discovered that the door was locked. Ann then asked 12.1-35- to unlock the door as per their family rules the kids were not allowed to lock their doors. 12.1-35- did not respond. Ann went out to the kitchen to let her husband (Brett) know. It was at this time they heard a loud noise. Brett unlocked the door with a screwdriver and discovered 12.1-3 laying on the floor on top of his shot gun surrounded by a large pool of blood. Upon interviewing the family I was advised that the family wasn't into hunting or guns but 12.1-3 had expressed interest in wanting to start to bird hunt. The parents decided with 12.1-35 recent interest they would give him a shot gun for Christmas along with a box of bird shot. Further discussion reviled that 12.1-3 was a straight A student and an athlete. No recent break ups or apparent issues with his peers. Recently 12.1-3 did get into trouble for disrespecting his mother but the family did not disclose that it was anything beyond normal teenage issues. Preliminary searching of 12.1-35 cell phone has not reviewed any obvious red flags, beyond online searches (relating to suicide and suicide by shotgun) that 12.1-3 did prior to committing suicide. 12.1-35-1 brother Charlie did disclose that LaMoure high school does have a significant amount of bullying but was unaware of any major issues that would have been affecting 12.1-35-03 12.1-35- did leave a note next to his phone stating "Your Loss." Preliminary autopsy results are constant with what we saw on scene, ruling the death as a suicide with the manor of death being a single oral gunshot wound. After talking with the family they agreed to allow me to give our victim advocates their information to possibly offer some assistance in going through this process. The following is a brief synopsis of the family: Father Charles Brett Bowman (goes by Brett) Mother Ann Bowman Charlie Bowman (senior in HS) 12.1-35-03 victim, was a sophomore in HS) I will be pulling a case number on Monday and will have my initial report submitted early next week. If you have more questions feel free to let me know. Sent from my iPhone Special Agent Shawn Banet North Dakota Bureau of Criminal Investigation Cell: §44-04-18.3 Office: 701-251-2993

Body	Chief, Thanks again for reaching out to me and my office on this important issue. I've visited with Mary Kae Kelsch in my office, and she is more that willing to assist with the rule you are working on. As you know, she's had the open records portfolio in my office for years, and I'm sure you will find her assistance very helpful. Best to you, Wayne From: Tufte, Justice Jerod <JTufte@ndcourts.gov> Sent: Friday, January 7, 2022 3:12 PM To: Stenehjem, Wayne K. <wstenehjem@nd.gov> Subject: open records in the judicial branch  CAUTION: This email originated from an outside source. Do not click links or open attachments unless you know they are safe.  Good afternoon Wayne, I haven't yet had a chance to wish you well in your announced retirement. I hope this means that you and Beth will have even greater opportunities for interesting travel. Congratulations on your long and honorable service to the state. I reach out today because I am leading a work group to rewrite our court rule relating to open records (Admin. Rule 41). You may recall that about two years ago we amended this rule and implemented a policy of greater remote public access of court records that had been to that point available only in person at court houses. For a variety of reasons, that public access under the amended rule was suspended. Our Court Services Administration Committee spent more than a year working on another approach to these issues. Unfortunately, I believe the result of that effort did not leave us with a viable rule to manage access to records within the judicial branch. I have been working on a draft rule for consideration by the Supreme Court that would closely track the open records provisions in Chapter 44-04, in many cases by expressly incorporating those procedures by reference. As you are probably aware, Chapter 44-04 expressly excludes from the definition of "record" any documents in the possession of a court. This carve-out recognizes that the Court has authority to provide by rule for management of judicial records. I think the public should have a more consistent experience in terms of cost, response time, administrative procedure, etc whether records are requested from the executive branch or the judicial branch. I explain all this to you to ask if you would recommend someone in your office having knowledge and experience with our open records laws to participate in 2-3 meetings over the course of the next 3 months or so. I think the statutory procedures for requests, costs, response time, search and collection, and many of the exemptions and confidentiality exclusions are well crafted and would work well for court records. If this project leads where I believe it will, the court, and eventually the public, would benefit from your office's expertise in this area as we re-write our open records rule to harmonize it with Chapter 44-04. Thank you for your assistance with this and please let me know if your office has someone willing and able to assist us with this. You can also reach me on my cell phone at [redacted] if you'd like to discuss further. Jerod Jerod E. Tufte Justice - North Dakota Supreme Court

Apparently a bit ago the Williston School Board held an executive session. Some school board members leaked some info about the meeting to Tom. He ran the story on Williston Trending Topics and on Facebook. Last night, while at another school board meeting in the school office, BCI agent Chrissa Remus showed up with a search warrant for Tom's phone signed by Judge Johnson and seized his phone. She said she was authorized by the warrant to search his phone to identify who leaked the info. The AP just called about it. This could be a start of a firestorm. The warrant is a violation of our shield law for a start, and I'm not sure how BCI gets involved with school board matters? Can you check on this? BISMARCK, N.D. (JAN. 13, 2022) – Gov. Doug Burgum today announced that Mandan attorney Ryan Norrell will serve as the next general counsel for the Governor's Office, effective Feb. 28, citing his broad experience in both the private and public sectors, including as legal counsel for the North Dakota Public Service Commission (PSC) and as state's attorney for LaMoure County.

Norrell has served as general counsel for Farm Credit Services of Mandan since 2015, managing the legal functions of the customer-owned financial cooperative. He previously served as an attorney focused on water law at Dwyer Law Office in Bismarck and as legal counsel for the PSC, focusing on the Public Utility Division. Prior to that, Norrell operated his own law practice in LaMoure, serving as the elected state's attorney in LaMoure County from 2011 to 2013 and as city attorney for multiple cities.

"Ryan brings a broad range of experience in government and the private sector, from working on critical water issues and testifying before legislative committees to providing legal advice to county and city officials and arguing criminal matters before the North Dakota Supreme Court," Burgum said. "He also has represented North Dakota farmers and ranchers and has the ability to translate the law into common language to serve clients of all backgrounds. Combined with his work in state government and on federal issues, his diverse background and expertise will serve the citizens of North Dakota well."

Norrell earned his bachelor's degree in 2006 from Saint Mary's University of Minnesota and his law degree in 2009 from the University of North Dakota School of Law. He has been a member of the State Bar Association's Ethics Committee since 2018.

Norrell will succeed current General Counsel Leslie Bakken Oliver, who has served in the Governor's Office since Burgum and Lt. Gov. Brent Sanford took office on December 2016. Bakken Oliver announced her retirement in August pending the transition to a new general counsel. Burgum expressed his deepest gratitude for Bakken Oliver's exceptional service to the State of North Dakota.

As the Supreme Court majority opinion stated, "Although Congress has indisputably given OSHA the power to regulate occupational dangers, it has not given that agency the power to regulate public health more broadly." I can appreciate the distinction the Supreme Court made between the OSHA mandate for workers generally and the CMS mandates for medical workers, but I continue to have serious concerns about the effect the ruling will have on retaining health care workers, many of whom may elect to simply quit rather than get the vaccine, seriously exacerbating staffing issues, especially in our rural medical facilities. As I have emphasized from the beginning, the lawsuits were not about whether people should get vaccinated, they were about opposing federal overreach. Two other lawsuits continue, one against the federal mandate for federal contractors, and the other for employees, volunteers, and children with Head Start programs. ###

â€œEvery year, there are thousands of reported human trafficking cases across the United States â€“ including right here in California. Whether itâ€™s for sex or labor, abusing power to force or coerce someone into doing something against their will is wrong. At the California Department of Justice, weâ€™re committed to standing up for survivors, disrupting and dismantling human trafficking rings, and securing justice. However, it takes all of us to combat human trafficking. I urge businesses across the state to use the resources weâ€™re sharing today to help put an end to trafficking in California. Virginia Attorney General Mark R. Herring announced that the Hampton Roads Human Trafficking Task Force (Task Force) has been selected as one of two sites nationally to participate in the federal TraffickSTOP (Signs To Observe and Prevent) pilot program to educate high school youth about human trafficking. This program will be a collaboration between the Task Force, the Newport News Police Department, and Newport News Public Schools. Attorney General Herring was instrumental in the creation of the Hampton Roads Human Trafficking Task Force and the Task Force Coordinator is housed in the Office of the Attorney General.

TraffickSTOP is both a human trafficking identification and prevention curriculum for high school students, as well as training for law enforcement to deliver the curriculum in schools. Newport News School resource officers will deliver the curriculum to students, along with members of the Hampton Roads Human Trafficking Task Force and others, and with support from other community stakeholders.

Body

â€œI am incredibly proud of the work that the Hampton Roads Human Trafficking Task Force has done to combat human trafficking in the region, and their selection to participate in this program shows just how impactful their work has been. The sad reality is that unscrupulous people will prey on young, impressionable people, which is why itâ€™s so important that Virginiaâ€™s youth are armed with the tools they need to help protect themselves and others.â€

A bipartisan group of 51 attorneys general is working to stop international scam calls. In a comment letter, the coalition urged the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to put in place measures that will help stem the tide of foreign-based illegal robocalls that attempt to scam Americans.

The 51 attorneys general are calling for the FCC to require gateway providers â€" the companies that allow foreign calls into the United States â€" to take steps to reduce how easily robocalls have been able to enter the U.S. telephone network, including implementing STIR/SHAKEN, a caller ID authentication technology that helps prevent spoofed calls. Gateway providers should be required to implement this technology within 30 days of it becoming a rule to help eliminate spoofed calls and to make sure that international calls that originate from U.S. telephone numbers are legitimate. In December the coalition of 51 attorneys general successfully persuaded the FCC to shorten by a year the deadline for smaller telephone companies to implement STIR/SHAKEN.

The attorneys general are also encouraging the FCC to require all phone companies to block calls from a gateway provider if it fails to meet these requirements. Illegal robocalls are a scourge â€" in 2020, Americans lost more than $520 million through robocall scams.

ORGANIZED RETAIL CRIME

Florida Attorney General Ashley Moody is working with state legislators to address organized retail theft in Florida. Attorney General Moody held a news conference with lawmakers in Hialeah to announce legislative efforts to help law enforcement and prosecutors dismantle retail theft crime rings. The announcement comes one week before Floridaâ€™s 2022 Legislative Session begins.

FORCE is a statewide task force and database to help spot trends, identify suspects and take down massive, organized retail theft rings. The database is designed to bridge the gap between retailers, law enforcement and prosecutors by allowing shareable, searchable information on theft incidents statewide.

To help bolster the effectiveness of FORCE, the Florida Attorney Generalâ€™s Office will partner with state legislators this session to seek to remove barriers to prosecution for what is clearly organized criminal activity. Upcoming legislation will provide a targeted revision to current statutes determining the felony status for retail theft when someone steals multiple items from multiple locations in a short period of time. These changes would strengthen the laws on the books to allow prosecutors to bring stronger penalties against criminals who commit crimes across the state to avoid justice.

Organized retail theft is on the rise nationwide, and the Attorney General Alliance is dedicated to ensuring all states remains ahead of the trend to help prevent the retail crime wave.

COVID MANDATES - SCOTUS DECISIONS

On Thursday, the Supreme Court blocked enforcement of the Biden administrationâ€™s COVID- 19 vaccine- or- test mandate for workers at large businesses but allowed enforcement of a similar mandate for certain health care workers.

While challenges to the mandates from businesses and a number of states were returned to lower courts, the ruling suggests that the justices are likely to rule against the business rule if the case reaches the court again.

National Federation of Independent Business v. Occupational Safety and Health Administration

By a 6- 3 vote, the Court stayed application of an emergency rule adopted by OSHA that would have required all employers with at least 100 employees to require their workers to receive a COVID- 19 vaccine or else obtain a medical test each week at their own expense and on their own time, and also wear a mask each workday.

Biden v. Missouri

By a 5- 4 vote, the Court stayed injunctions that had barred operation of a rule adopted by the Secretary of Health and Human Services that, â€œin order to receive Medicare and Medicaid funding, participating facilities must ensure that their staffâ€"unless exempt for medical or religious reasonsâ€"are vaccinated against COVIDâ€"19.â€

As the United States Supreme Court made these decisions regarding COVID- 19 mandates, attorneys general nationwide issued the following statements:

Virginia Attorney General Mark R. Herring announced that the Hampton Roads Human Trafficking Task Force (Task Force) has been selected as one of two sites nationally to participate in the federal TraffickSTOP (Signs To Observe and Prevent) pilot program to educate high school youth about human trafficking. This program will be a collaboration between the Task Force, the Newport News Police Department, and Newport News Public Schools. Attorney General Herring was instrumental in the creation of the Hampton Roads Human Trafficking Task Force and the Task Force Coordinator is housed in the Office of the Attorney General.

TraffickSTOP is both a human trafficking identification and prevention curriculum for high school students, as well as training for law enforcement to deliver the curriculum in schools. Newport News School resource officers will deliver the curriculum to students, along with members of the Hampton Roads Human Trafficking Task Force and others, and with support from other community stakeholders.

Body

â€œI am incredibly proud of the work that the Hampton Roads Human Trafficking Task Force has done to combat human trafficking in the region, and their selection to participate in this program shows just how impactful their work has been. The sad reality is that unscrupulous people will prey on young, impressionable people, which is why itâ€™s so important that Virginiaâ€™s youth are armed with the tools they need to help protect themselves and others.â€

I have two follow-up questions, if possible. During the hearing earlier this week, Judge Traynor suggested that North Dakota could intervene in the similar lawsuit of a group of other states that was recently appealed up to the Fifth Circuit. Is North Dakota considering taking that step? Also, the attorney general's statement noted that the state's request "could be ordered at a later time in the litigation" as the case proceeds. Does the state need to pursue a motion for summary judgment, or take any other specific steps, in order to keep pursuing this case in Judge Traynor's court? Thank you again for your help! Adam On Fri, Jan 14, 2022 at 3:21 PM Brocker, Liz <lbrocker@nd.gov> wrote: Statement of Attorney General Wayne Stenehjem in response to today's federal District Court decision on BLM Oil and Gas Lease Sales We appreciate the Court's desire to have additional information before issuing an order requiring BLM to hold the statutory quarterly lease sales, and understand, given BLM's promise to hold a lease sale in February and again in the quarter thereafter, why the Court would want to wait and gather more information before making a final decision. The Court denied our request for now without prejudice, which means that as the case proceeds, our request could be ordered at a later time in the litigation. The Court specifically stated that "if the Defendants do not hold to their word and cancel any planned future sale, North Dakota may bring this action for review of the specifically cancelled sales once this Court has the benefit of a complete record." The Court also noted that there is already an existing nationwide preliminary injunction restraining the federal government from implementing its disputed "pause" on new oil and gas leasing on federal lands. North Dakota will be closely following the actions of the federal government agencies as they now proceed with the promised lease sales in February and thereafter. We are fully prepared to hold their feet to the fire and will not hesitate to bring the matter before the Court again as the circumstances warrant. From: Adam Willis <awillis@forumcomm.com> Sent: Friday, January 14, 2022 3:03 PM To: Brocker, Liz <lbrocker@nd.gov> Subject: Re: FYI  CAUTION: This email originated from an outside source. From: District of Columbia SG Office

The District of Columbia has prepared the attached amicus brief supporting Respondent-Appellant North Carolina Department of Revenue in Quad Graphics, Inc. v. North Carolina Department of Revenue, No. 407-A-21 (N.C.). The question presented is whether the dormant Commerce Clause bars North Carolina from requiring out-of-state retailers to collect sales tax when they deliver goods to in-state consumers.

Quad Graphics, Inc. ("Quad") is a Wisconsin-based corporation that prints books, magazines, and other items for direct mail to customers nationwide. The North Carolina Department of Revenue issued an assessment to Quad for uncollected sales tax on printed materials that Quad delivered to customers in North Carolina, pursuant to the provision of its tax code that clarifies that sales are "sourced to the location where the purchaser receives the product." N.C.G.S. § 105-164.B(a)(2).

A North Carolina Business Court judge held that the dormant Commerce Clause prohibited states from imposing sales taxes on out-of-state goods delivered by common carrier into the state. Under Dilworth, the court concluded, a state sales (as opposed to use) tax "survives scrutiny under the Commerce Clause only where the purchase of tangible personal property—i.e., the transfer of ownership from the seller to buyer—takes place in the taxing state." Quad Graphics, Inc. v. N.C. Dep't of Revenue, No. 20 CVS 7449, 2021 WL 2584282, at *11 (N.C. Super. June 23, 2021). North Carolina has appealed this decision to the North Carolina Supreme Court. Notably, many other states have similar destination-based sourcing schemes.

Please contact caroline.vanzile@dc.gov and norah.rast@dc.gov with questions, suggestions, or to join the brief. We would appreciate any edits or comments by EOD Wednesday, January 19. The join deadline is January 21, 2021 at 12:00pm ET.

North Carolina Dep't of Revenue (N.C.) To: Civil Amicus Contacts From: District of Columbia SG Office The District of Columbia is preparing an amicus brief supporting respondent-appellant North Carolina in Quad Graphics, Inc. v. North Carolina Department of Revenue, No. 407-A-21, in the North Carolina Supreme Court. The relevant question presented is whether the dormant Commerce Clause bars states from asserting and collecting sales taxes on transactions originating from out-of-state and delivered to in-state consumers. We expect the North Carolina AG to argue that Dilworth formalism—which allows use taxes, but not sales taxes on such transactions—is no longer good law. States have a critical interest in protecting their sovereign authority to fairly tax interstate commerce and to preserve the gains they received from the Supreme Court's decision in South Dakota v. Wayfair, 138 S. Ct. 2080 (2018). The District's brief will therefore make two related arguments: First, the brief will argue that reaffirming Dilworth formalism would be inconsistent with the Supreme Court's decision in Wayfair and would reintroduce many of the policy concerns that animated the Court's abrogation of the physical-presence rule. Second, the brief will highlight the particular concerns raised by the lower court's decision in states with destination-based sourcing schemes. The District and at least 39 states have tax-sourcing statutes that identify the location of the "sale" as the place where the goods are delivered. Allowing courts to override such statutes and conclude that there is no transactional nexus absent physical purchase within the taxing state would undermine states' sovereign taxing authority and contradict the fundamental principle that "the modes adopted [by the States] to enforce the taxes levied should be interfered with as little as possible." Dows v. City of Chicago, 78 U.S. 108, 110 (1871). As we craft and refine the brief, it would be helpful to know the following by January 7 (if you happen to have responsive information): 1. Does your state have a destination-based sourcing scheme? If so, a citation to the specific provision of the state tax code would be ideal. 2. In the wake of Wayfair: 1. Is your state assessing and collecting sales taxes on out-of-state companies that deliver goods to in-state consumers? 2. Has your state faced Dilworth-based challenges such as the one at issue here? Please contact caroline.vanzile@dc.gov and norah.rast@dc.gov with your responses. We will circulate a draft brief on or around January 14, in advance of the January 21 join deadline. Many thanks in advance for your help. With appreciation, Caroline S. N.C.G.S. § 105-164.B(a)(2).

A North Carolina Business Court judge held that the dormant Commerce Clause prohibited states from imposing sales taxes on out-of-state goods delivered by common carrier into the state. Under Dilworth, the court concluded, a state sales (as opposed to use) tax "survives scrutiny under the Commerce Clause only where the purchase of tangible personal property—i.e., the transfer of ownership from the seller to buyer—takes place in the taxing state." Quad Graphics, Inc. v. N.C. Dep't of Revenue, No. 20 CVS 7449, 2021 WL 2584282, at *11 (N.C. Super. June 23, 2021). North Carolina has appealed this decision to the North Carolina Supreme Court. Notably, many other states have similar destination-based sourcing schemes.

North Carolina Dep't of Revenue (N.C.) To: Civil Amicus Contacts From: District of Columbia SG Office The District of Columbia is preparing an amicus brief supporting respondent-appellant North Carolina in Quad Graphics, Inc. v. North Carolina Department of Revenue, No. 407-A-21, in the North Carolina Supreme Court. The relevant question presented is whether the dormant Commerce Clause bars states from asserting and collecting sales taxes on transactions originating from out-of-state and delivered to in-state consumers. We expect the North Carolina AG to argue that Dilworth formalism—which allows use taxes, but not sales taxes on such transactions—is no longer good law. States have a critical interest in protecting their sovereign authority to fairly tax interstate commerce and to preserve the gains they received from the Supreme Court's decision in South Dakota v. Wayfair, 138 S. Ct. 2080 (2018). The District's brief will therefore make two related arguments: First, the brief will argue that reaffirming Dilworth formalism would be inconsistent with the Supreme Court's decision in Wayfair and would reintroduce many of the policy concerns that animated the Court's abrogation of the physical-presence rule. Second, the brief will highlight the particular concerns raised by the lower court's decision in states with destination-based sourcing schemes. The District and at least 39 states have tax-sourcing statutes that identify the location of the "sale" as the place where the goods are delivered. Allowing courts to override such statutes and conclude that there is no transactional nexus absent physical purchase within the taxing state would undermine states' sovereign taxing authority and contradict the fundamental principle that "the modes adopted [by the States] to enforce the taxes levied should be interfered with as little as possible." Dows v. City of Chicago, 78 U.S. 108, 110 (1871). As we craft and refine the brief, it would be helpful to know the following by January 7 (if you happen to have responsive information): 1. Does your state have a destination-based sourcing scheme? If so, a citation to the specific provision of the state tax code would be ideal. 2. In the wake of Wayfair: 1. Is your state assessing and collecting sales taxes on out-of-state companies that deliver goods to in-state consumers? 2. Has your state faced Dilworth-based challenges such as the one at issue here? Please contact caroline.vanzile@dc.gov and norah.rast@dc.gov with your responses. We will circulate a draft brief on or around January 14, in advance of the January 21 join deadline. Many thanks in advance for your help. With appreciation, Caroline S. Moreover, OSHA has previously indicated that the "ETS also acts as a proposal for a permanent standard." Thus, unless the ETS is withdrawn before then, Kentucky plans to proceed with submitting a comment letter in opposition to the ETS (and any similar permanent standard) next Wednesday. We are in the process of revising the draft comment letter to incorporate reference to yesterday's Supreme Court opinion, and will circulate that new draft by Monday to invite any other AG's who would like to join the comment letter to do so Best, Christopher L. Moreover, OSHA has previously indicated that the "ETS also acts as a proposal for a permanent standard." Thus, unless the ETS is withdrawn before then, Kentucky plans to proceed with submitting a comment letter in opposition to the ETS (and any similar permanent standard) next Wednesday. We are in the process of revising the draft comment letter to incorporate reference to yesterday's Supreme Court opinion, and will circulate that new draft by Monday to invite any other AG's who would like to join the comment letter to do so Best, Christopher L. Historically, we have never emailed a recording of an Executive Session. Board members wishing to listen have had to come to the DTL office and listen to them here. I specifically recall an instance when Treasurer Schmidt made this request and she was denied. I have hesitancy changing our position on recordings of Executive Session. Open your thoughts and suggestions. Jodi Smith, MNM, MNT Land Commissioner 701.328.2807 • jodi.smith@nd.gov • land.nd.gov

The amicus argues that (1) the district court's holding that "contract" under Section 1 of the Sherman Act does not include "unilateral contracts" violates rules of statutory interpretation, is inconsistent with Supreme Court precedent, and makes bad public policy; and (2) the district court erred in failing to balance the overall competitive effects as part of its rule-of-reason analysis. During the past few months, I have spoken to General Stenehjem about one of our firm's client, Accreditation Council For Medical Affairs ("ACMA"), which is a medical affairs educational training and certification program. ACMA has also developed opioid education programs for adults and teenagers in order to assist with community education, abatement, and outreach. ACMA can give these programs to any community groups (students, the healthcare industry, private sector businesses, government agencies, etc.) about the harms of opioids and to help curb the opioid crisis through education and prevention. ACMA is interested in scheduling a brief meeting (30-45 minutes) with you (and General Stenehjem if he would like to attend) and the others on your opioid team to meet the ACMA and its CEO and founder, William Soliman, to discuss ways the ACMA may be able to assist the state with community opioid education. Burckhard, Chairman, has been assigned studies of space needs and property leased by the state pursuant to Section 43 of House Bill No. 1015 (2021) and House Concurrent Resolution No. 3043 (2021). These studies include a determination of the individuals who own the property leased by the state, including the members of a corporation, partnership, or any other type of entity that owns property leased by the state. At the October 25, 2021, Government Administration Committee meeting, the Legislative Council was asked to conduct a survey of state entities to collect information on space needs and leased property ownership. The committee members are aware state leases do not always identify the individual owners of property and have requested agencies/entities ask their lessors for the information. Please complete the attached survey regarding state agency space needs and leased property ownership and return the completed survey to me via email (ajcronquist@nd.gov) by Monday, February 28, 2022. Last night we took the main individual, Joel Quinonez, and his girlfriend, Jaimie Garcia into custody. This involved a very in-depth safety plan due to the intelligence we had that Quinonez was armed and violent. When we confronted Quinonez in a hotel parking lot he attempted to reach for his firearm, but due the safety plan put together by Sgt. Orn, Sgt. Morris, and TFO Kyle Hinrichs, he was not able to retrieve it fast enough. It was a tense moment, but eventually he complied and was taken into custody. We were crammed in our takedown van, and also in the hotel room adjacent to Quinonez's, for approximately 7 hours but in the end it paid off. He had 2 stolen firearms in each pocket, and a 3rd firearm in his backpack. He was also in possession of 2.6 pounds of methamphetamine, 1 oz of heroin, and $6,121. After he was in custody he made some comments that were also concerning regarding killing whoever "snitched" on him. I would like to commend TFO Hinrichs, as well as the whole team who contributed, to this investigation (Including our Minnesota partners). Many hours went into this investigation. I believe the community is much safer with this individual in jail. I've attached some photos for you to review. This is an ongoing investigation. Justices to Consider Limiting Clean Water Act

The U.S. Supreme Court, heeding calls from business and property-rights groups, agreed to use a long-running Idaho fight to consider curbing the reach of the Clean Water Act.

The justices said they will hear an appeal from Chantell and Michael Sackett, an Idaho couple waging a 15-year-old battle to build a house on land that federal regulators say is protected wetlands. The Sacketts won a 2012 Supreme Court ruling that let their lawsuit go forward.

The case becomes the second major environmental clash on the court's docket. The justices next month will consider limiting the Environmental Protection Agency's ability to address climate change through sweeping reductions of power-plant emissions.

The Supreme Court is likely to hear the case in the term that starts in October.

The new case could give companies a freer hand to discharge pollutants and let developers construct more new houses without getting a federal permit. The U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Home Builders were among the groups urging the Supreme Court to hear the case.

The Sacketts' appeal asks the court to revisit a 2006 Clean Water Act case, Rapanos v. United States, which failed to produce a majority decision and left uncertainty about the governing standard. Four justices, led by Antonin Scalia, said the law covers wetlands only if they have a continuous surface connection to a river, lake or other major waterway.

A fifth, Justice Anthony Kennedy, created his own test, saying the Clean Water Act covers wetlands with a "significant nexus" to one of those larger bodies of water.

In their appeal, the Sacketts say courts and regulators

Body	alike have struggled to figure out how the two standards intersect. The couple's lawyers say the court should adopt Scalia's test and clear up the confusion. Years of Confusion "Fifteen years of fruitless confusion, conflict, and litigation is enough," the Sacketts argued in their appeal. "This court can and should chart a better course for the Clean Water Act by articulating a clear, easily administered, constitutionally sound rule for wetlands jurisdiction, using the surface-water-connection test set forth in the Rapanos plurality opinion." President Joe Biden's administration urged the court to reject the appeal, arguing that the Sacketts were overstating the confusion and that the Scalia approach would create a regulatory gap. Under the Scalia approach, "the agencies would lack authority to protect wetlands separated from a navigable river by a small dune or other natural barrier, even if overwhelming scientific evidence showed that the wetlands significantly affect the river's chemical, physical, and biological integrity," the administration argued in court papers. The administration also told the justices they shouldn't intervene until the EPA and Army Corps of Engineers finalize a proposed revision to the federal regulations that implement the key provision. The Clean Water Act, which took effect in 1972, gives the federal government control over "waters of the United States." The fight involves a 0.63-acre property near Priest Lake in northern Idaho. The property is about 300 feet (91 meters) from the lake and, on the other side, across a road from a tributary of a creek that feeds into the lake. The EPA says that the land is connected to the lake through a subsurface flow of water. The legal fight began in 2007 when the EPA issued an administrative compliance order requiring the Sacketts to restore land they had already begun preparing for construction. The case has been bouncing up and down the court system since then. A federal appeals court last year said the Clean Water Act covered the property, prompting the Sacketts to turn to the Supreme Court a second time. The case is Sackett v. Environmental Protection Agency, 21-454. --- If you are not an intended recipient of confidential and privileged information in this email, please delete it, notify us immediately at postmaster@gtlaw.com, and do not use or disseminate the information.

It is still taking comments on the ETS as a proposed final rule. I'm tempted to file a short motion asking the Sixth Circuit to vacate its stay-stage decision. So the Bismarck Area Republicans are getting back to doing our Lincoln Day celebration night after taking some time off due to Covid. This years get together is scheduled for February 10th at the Ramada. Since both of you are ending your remarkable careers I was thinking you both could be co-speakers. As you know the speeches are not formal so I was just thinking of having each of you speak for 10 minutes reflecting on your time in office or whatever you would want. Thoughts?? AGB
